Col. Stewart's Oil.
A Brave Man Dead.
Convicts for Experiment.
Ships and Cigarets.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

ACCORDING to reports from La Salle Street, Chicago's Wall Street, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has won his fight against Col. Stewart for control of Standard Oil of Indiana. Wall Street doubts it.

The fight interests 85,000 stockholders in the Indiana company. They, and millions of other oil stock owners, would like answers to these questions:

Is a big fight coming in the oil industry to make uncertainty more uncertain?

If Col. Stewart wins his fight, and breaks off one section from Standard Oil, what will that mean to the other sections?

And what will it mean to Standard Oil of Indiana?

COL. STEWART'S friends declare that he and his company could go it alone depending not at all on Rockefeller good will.

Standard Oil of Indiana, they say, was worth $170,000,000 when Stewart took charge and is now worth more than a thousand million dollars, and the Indiana company alone is bigger than the whole Rockefeller enterprise was when John D. Rockefeller was in active charge. Figures given concerning the Indiana Oil unit are amazing. The company has a production of 135,000 barrels of oil a day in the Venezuela Lago oil field alone.

No dry well has been driven there and the production might be increased to 400,000 barrels daily. In the Salt Creek region, Standard of Indiana has 50,000 barrels a day production. Its half ownership of the Sinclair pipe lines running from the Gulf to Chicago enable it to tap all the mid-continent wells. Other oil holdings in the Salt Creek region, the Dixie Oil Company and in Mexico, amounting to millions of acres, make Col. Stewart's company independent of all alliances. That Indiana property seems to be worth a fight.

THOSE that pity themselves because their health is "not quite what it ought to be" may consider Baron Von Huenefeld, who died on the operating table, undergoing his thirteenth operation for an incurable disease of the stomach that had affected him for years.

SUFFERING hopelessly, knowing that he could not live long and must endure many operations, Von Huenefeld planned and carried out the German-Irish flight across the Atlantic Ocean.

Such courage and will power should make others ashamed to complain.

CUBA discusses legalizing a plan to inoculate, with cancer, criminals condemned to death. Those condemned to die by the garrote and life prisoners will be asked to volunteer. They will be set free if cancer does not kill them.

Scientists will be allowed to make experiments in inoculation and cure.

Cancer if planted near the surface, away from vital organs, might well be observed, for a few months, then removed safely and permanently. Volunteers should be numerous. Moral objections will surely be numerous.

THE new shipbuilding program to cost $274,000,000 spread over three years is called "extravagance that the country can't afford."

A NATION that can afford to spend a billion dollars yearly on cigarets, cigars and smoking tobacco, should be able to spend 25 per cent of that amount, in three years, to be able to smoke cigarets in safety.

MARIA CHRISTINA, mother of the Spanish king, is dead. She ruled as regent during the king's boyhood, while Uncle Sam was carrying on his little Spanish war to prove that he remembered the Maine.

UNDER the late dowager queen's rule, Spain lost nearly all that remained of once great colonial possessions.

An Austrian by birth, daughter of Archduke Charles Ferdinand, Maria Christina lived to see her native country shrink from a great empire to a little plot of land around the great city of Vienna.

TROTZKY, once assistant ruler of Russia, is missing. The ship supposed to carry him has reached port, no Trotzky on board. Rumor has him imprisoned in Moscow, with Russia deciding what to do with him.

Trotzky's most recent remark was to the effect that "Russia's situation will evoke another Napoleon."

You can call spirits from the vasty deep, but they don't always come. Evoking a Napoleon is not easy, and Napoleon himself might have difficulty, if Stalin got him.

SIR JOSEPH DUVEEN didn't believe in an alleged "original of a great painting by Leonardo Da Vinci," and is sued for half a million. Much is made of the fact that he said that the picture was not genuine without having seen it.

If after you had seen the Venus of Milo in the Louvre, somebody said the Louvre statue was not genuine, and he had the genuine statue, what would you say?

MORE interesting than the art circles row is the fact that 12 good men and true, on the jury, didn't know anything about Leonardo Da Vinci. It would be interesting to know how many of the 12 knew about Tex Rickard.

IT is expected that an agreement between Mussolini and the Vatican, partly restoring the Pope's temporal power, paying about $100,000,000 in the way of damages for properties confiscated, will be announced in a few days, unless postponed at the last moment until Easter.

AFTER public announcement of a reconciliation between the Vatican and the Italian government, the Pope is expected to appear on the great balcony in front of St. Peter's Church, bestowing on the assembled multitude the apostolic benediction "urbi et orbi," "to the city and to the world."

FEDERAL BUILDING PLAN HERE GETS RE-SURVEY

DEMENTED, BATTLES FIREMEN

The Craft avenue district was thrown into a turmoil today when two companies of firemen answering an alarm found their services were needed to subdue a crazed man instead of a fire.

Two of the firemen were injured before John Puglieze, a conductor reporting at the Craft avenue barns of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was captured after a chase and a rough and tumble fight.

CALLS FIREMEN

Puglieze, fellow workers say, turned in the fire alarm himself after suddenly becoming uncontrollable just after receiving his pay envelope.

Engine Company No. 58, a Negro company, was first to reach the scene. Puglieze dashed across Forbes street as the firemen appeared and into St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church.

As the firemen were about to capture him he vaulted through a window and ran down Forbes street still pursued by the firemen. When overtaken, the firemen say, he began to kick and fight.

ONE IN HOSPITAL

Felled by a kick, Fireman Albert J. Herbert, of 2338 Webster avenue, was severely injured. He was removed to Mercy Hospital for treatment. Edward Worthy, the other victim, was injured only slightly.

No. 24 Engine Company arrived as Puglieze was being overpowered. Police took charge of him and lodged him in Central Station, turning him over to the Department of Welfare.

Duke of Gloucester Will Sail for Japan

LONDON, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The Duke of Gloucester will leave London at the end of March for Tokio to invest Emperor Hirohito of Japan with the Order of the Garter.

Determination of the date of the Duke's mission was stated to have been made possible in view of the improvement of the King's health. The Duke's party will arrive in Japan early in May.

Once to Marry Kahn, She Weds Bank Clerk

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(INS.)—Virginia Franck, 19-year-old Broadway show girl, who was once reported engaged to wed Roger Wolfe Kahn, today is said to be the bride of Jack Hedden, young athlete and bank clerk, of Lynbrook, L. I. The marriage is said to have been performed three weeks ago, although the news has just leaked out.

A. B. Crichton Named To Engineer Board

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The appointment of Andrew B. Crichton, of Johnstown, as a member of the State Registration Board for professional engineers, was announced today by Gov. Fisher. He succeeds Richard L. Humphries, of Philadelphia.

Cold Wave May Freeze Slush Tonight

With a freeze due tonight, a blanket of slush, from two to four inches deep, may become a serious traffic menace, the weather bureau indicated today.

Snowfall, following the rain late yesterday, was placed officially at two inches, but in outlying districts it was much heavier, impeding automobile and trolley traffic.

A record cold wave holds sway in the Northwest, but it likely will be greatly modified before reaching here, late tomorrow, Assistant Forecaster C. A. Belt said. Cloudy weather, with a temperature of between 25 and 30 degrees tonight is predicted.

ALLEGED BOOZE THIEF FOOLS JAILERS

A broken match box aided Tony Dell, 27, 1705 Boulevard of the Allies, reputed leader of a band of whisky thieves, to escape from the Rankin pail today.

County detectives, city police and the police of nearby boroughs were detailed to search for him.

Dell, with Ray Danner, 38, 521 Bates street, and Herman Molden, 42, 316 Coltart square, were arrested THuesday while it is said they were trying to force their way into the drug store of J. A. Allen, 2019 Noble street, Swissvale. Dell was taken to Rankin for questioning by the Rankin police as to his possible operations there.

This morning when his breakfast was brought to him, police say, he seized the chance to break up a match box and put the pieces into the lock of his cell door. Then when the door was closed it failed to lock. Dell waited his chance and when the cell room and the station was free of occupants, it is alleged, he calmly opened the door and walked out.

Danner and Molden are still being held in the Swissvale Police Station. In addition to operating in Swissvale and Rankin, the band is also believed to have worked in Homewood and Braddock.

U. S. Aide Named to Boulder Dam Board

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—President Coolidge today appointed William J. Donovan assistant to the Attorney General to represent the government on the commission which will carry out negotiations among the states of Arizona, California, Colorado, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming under the Boulder Canyon dam act.

Neville Selected for Lejeune Marine Job

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Maj. Gen. Wendell C. Neville was nominated by President Coolidge today to be commandant of the marine corps. He will succeed Maj. Gen. John A. Lejuene, who announced yesterday his intention to leave the post on March 5.

STOCK LIST RECOVERS IN BREAK

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The Federal Reserve Board's pronouncement that speculative credit must be restrained, and the rise of one per cent in the Bank of England discount rate, kicked the props from under the stock market today and prices tumbled 2 to 20 points in the greatest wave of selling since the December break.

Partial recoveries took place in a midday rally, but new points of weakness cropped out to further disturb confidence.

2,500,000 AT NOON

Trading was unusually heavy. Total sales crossed the 2,500,000 share mark before noon. The ticker, which had fallen 20 minutes behind the market, made up most of the delay by the end of the third hour.

Wall Street has seldom awaited a market opening with more interest, not so much to see what the market would do as it was generally conceded that a reaction was inevitable, but to learn the extent of the decline.

The few first prices which appeared on the tape showed losses of only fractions to 2 points, but then came a block of 20,000 shares of U. S. Steel common at an overnight loss of 6 points and a break of 17 points in General Electric on the first sale.

LEADERS ABANDONED

Other high-priced industrials then were thrown overboard, Wright Aeronautical dropping 16 points, Case Threshing Machine 15, Dupont

PROTESTS RESULT IN ACTION

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Following a conference today with members of the special postoffice committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, Treasury Department officials agreed to make a restudy of the entire plans for the new $6,500,000 Federal Building at Pittsburgh, with a view of effecting changes recommended by local civic leaders.

The Chamber of Commerce and other Pittsburgh interests objected to the treasury department's plans when it was revealed that many of the departments most used by the public would be on the second floor of the building and would have necessitated the climbing of a flight of stairs to buy a postage stamp.

WANT MORE SPACE

At the same time, department officials, including Assistant Secretary Carl Schuneman, a member of the Federal Building Commission, promised to take under consideration the proposal by Congressman Stephen G. Porter, of Pittsburgh, for the acquisition of additional property between the present new postoffice site and Bigelow boulevard. The additional property would

N.Y.C.Head's Nephew Is Married to Widow

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 7.—(INS.)—Thomas J. Crowley, nephew of Patrick E. Crowley, president of the New York Central Railroad, is honeymooning today. He was married here last evening to Mrs. Anne Meyer, widow of George W. Meyer, Jr., millionaire malt manufacturer.

Pennsy Raises Pay Of Telegraphers

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Railroad today confirmed a report that a wage increase of four cents an hour to 4,200 telegraphers employed by the company will go into effect March 1. The total increase will amount to $450,000, it was said. In addition to the pay raise, a six-day week was established for the operators, opening 276 additional positions.

HELENE ZIMMER HELEN GARDNER

Sending their escort, John Ott, 825 Maginn street, to make a 'phone call, Helene Zimmer, 19, 518 Taylor avenue, and Helen Gardner, 25, 907 Irwin avenue drove away in his car according to city detectives. The car was recovered in Johnstown and the girls arrested on a warrant.

AMENDED NAVY BILL GOES TO COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The naval construction program calling for 15 cruisers and one airplane carrier was sent to President Coolidge today with House approval of Senate amendments.

The amendments were accepted after an unsuccessful attempt had been made to revise the measure to give the President authority to suspend building of the cruisers if an agreement should be reached between principal nations to define the rights of belligerents and neutrals at sea.

The measure, last of the major proposals of the Coolidge administration, directs that the 15 cruisers and air craft carrier be laid down before July 1, 1931.

President Coolidge has opposed retention of the time stipulation, but has been represented as friendly to the bill.

Arbuckle Summoned In Non-Support Case

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 7.—(INS.)—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, former film comedian and present host of a local night club, was cited to appear in court next Friday in alimony proceedings brought by his wife, Doris Deane, former stage beauty. Miss Deane charged that Arbuckle had forced her to live on the charity of friends.

CAR AND GIRLS VANISH WHILE HE 'PHONES

Their love for adventure unhampered by masculine company landed Helen Gardner, 25, of 907 Irwin avenue, and Helene Zimmer, 19, of 518 Taylor avenue, in the city detective bureau for questioning today.

They were accused of violating the auto laws. City detectives said the girls went riding with John Ott, of 825 Maginn street, and then, by a ruse, left Ott by the wayside.

The girls rode as far as Johnstown after having rid themselves of the auto's owner in the downtown district, according to detectives. Ott had driven them to Fifth avenue and Grant street, where, police said, they sent him to call a telephone number.

When Ott returned to the car it wasn't there, he told detectives. The auto was found abandoned near Johnstown and Ott swore out a warrant for the girls before Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court.

Irvin Cobb en Route Home at Sao Paulo

HILL BOSS' $200 BANK RECEIPT SEIZED

An alleged clearing house pool, which Police Inspector James N. Hoey said was "backed by one of the biggest political leaders in the city," was raided by Hoey and a squad of plainclothesmen at 33 Chatham street today.

A short time later another establishment was raided in the East Liberty district where 14 persons were arrested.

Hoey said among the records seized was a deposit slip which showed, or purported to show, that $200 had been deposited to the account of John J. Verona, Hill district politician, in a downtown bank.

THREE HELD ON HILL

Three men were arrested. They said they were P. A. Peters, 24, whose home, Hoey said, was headquarters for the pool; Tony Lardo, 28, of, 717 Wylie avenue, and John Spada, 26, of 1311 Epiphany street.

Warrants for three others were issued this afternoon by Magistrate A. D. Brandon, of Morals Court, charging them with conducting a lottery. They are Tony "Bananas" Cambest, Phil Foglia and Carmen Bevilacqua. A bank book bearing Bevilacqua's name was found, police said, showing deposits of $9,000 a week since January 1.

At Verona's office it was explained that Verona, two days ago, had made out a deposit slip for $200 and had dispatched Spada to the bank with the money. The receipted slip was in Spada's possession when the raid occurred.

"I was in Verona's office when he gave Spada the money," said Constable James Lovuola. "It was an everyday transaction and there is nothing to the slip inci-

Foch's Wife Forbids Bulletins on Illness

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(INS.)—Angered at "conflicting newspaper reports regarding Marshal Foch's condition, Mme. Foch today formally forbade the physicians attending him to issue any further bulletins on the progress being made by the aged veteran in his fight against heart trouble, complicated by disordered kidneys and a slight attack of the grippe. The latest bulletin, given out yesterday, said the marshal's heart condition was improving.

Ruth Roland Invites 1,000 to Her Wedding

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 7.—(INS.)—Ruth Roland, stage and screen actress, and Ben Bard, film player, will be married here February 14 in the presence of 1,000 invited guests, it was announced today. The ushers include Jack White, husband of Pauline Starke; Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Frank Vincent, Harry Sugarman, Cornelius Keefe, Hal Roach, Lloyd Hughes and Irvin Willatt.

SAFE CRACKER GETS $500 FROM DOWNTOWN SAFE

A safe cracker early today looted the safe of the Argo-Lite Appliance Company, Smithfield street and Seventh avenue, obtaining, officials of the company estimated, $500 in cash.

The safe was in the office on the third floor of the building. Entrance was believed to have been gained over the roof of an adjoining building and then through a stockroom window on the fourth floor of the Argo-Lite building.

Fred Fuhs, of 98 Boggs avenue, a clerk, discovered the safe had been opened and notified detectives. The sledge hammer and drill were found. But one dime was left of the cash in the safe.

J. M. Gold and H. H. Rosenfield, partners in the business, are checking up the loot.

HORSE-RACING BILL FOR PENNSYLVANIA READY

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—A bill to permit horse racing in Pennsylvania and the operation of betting machines on race tracks will be introduced in the House of Representatives next week, probably Monday night, by Representative Charles C. A. Baldi, Jr., of Philadelphia.

A similar bill introduced by the same member in 1927 was defeated. This time Baldi proposes to make a fight for the measure and attempt to have it go through to the Senate without delay.

Already the Philadelphia member has made overtures to several members from the anthracite coal counties pointing out that the revenue which could be returned through the bill would offset in a short time the money the state would lose if the anthracite coal tax repealers pass.

The Baldi bill will provide for 100 racing days in Pennsylvania and track operators would be required to pay to the state, through a racing commission which would be created, $8,000 for each day.

The bill would permit the operation of pari-mutuel machines, similar to those in use on the Maryland tracks, and 15 per cent of the money bet through these machines would be returned to the state treasury.

The sponsor estimates that during the first year the bill would be effective the state with two tracks in operation would be enriched by between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, which is the estimated revenue the anthracite tax will bring in annually during the coming biennium.

MELLON, GRUNDY TO SEE FISHER AGAIN ON REVENUE BILL

TEMPERANCE PLAN URGED BY FR. COX

"Facts tell us that after 10 years of this chaotic prohibition experiment, conditions have become 238 per cent worse. These facts show us day by day the deaths, the crimes, the corruption of youth and womanhood, and a disrespect of the law by nearly everbody.

"Common sense tells us prohibition will not work because it is prohibition. Forbid something to a child and he will cry for it. Tell a lover he must break relations with his sweetheart and he will stick to her more than ever. Prohibition works the same way."

These declarations are contained in a letter to the Hearst Temperance prize contest offering the $25,000 award of William Randolph Hearst for the best practicable plan to substitute true temperance for prohibition. The letter, from J. Reyes Martin, of 107 West One Hundred and Seventh street, New York City, declares further:

"Prohibition fails because it is an oppression, and 'oppression does not end the thing it seeks to end, but increases it.' It is time this abnormal and alarming condition came to a stop. If one-fourth of the money expended on alleged prohibition enforcement were devoted to lectures and literature on the evils of intemperance, the results would be surprising."

Shoals of such communications, from every section of the United States, comment on the Hearst prize offer and wish success to the search for a genuine temperance formula. Thousands also continue to send in their entries for the prize to the Temperance Contest Committee at 220 South street, New York.

Persons of note everywhere are being interviewed by the Hearst newspapers respecting their views on the contest. Following are late expressions:

Father James R. Cox

The Rev. James R. Cox, rector of Old St. Patrick's, Pittsburgh:

"The Hearst newspapers are engaged in a campaign for temperance which to my way of thinking deserves the support of every right thinking citizen. Prohibition was doomed to failure in the very inception of the idea.

REV. COX

"Within three years after the prohibition law was enacted, drunkenness, that had been a disgrace for a century, acquired a tone of caste. It became honorific, as the sociologists say. For generations, by a campaign of preaching and education and social and industrial pressure, temperance had been established as a badge of respectability.

"God has the right to prohibit and he has used that right very sparingly and confined his prohibitions to Ten Commandments, and the use of liquor was not forbidden among the ten.

"God created all things and gives everything to us for our use and by use He wishes to bring us happiness. Abuse of anything brings unhappiness. God urges the use of every right thing in a temperate, reasonable manner. The Bible urges temperance.

"Permit me to quote a few pertinent passages from the Book of God: 'How sufficient is a little wine for a man well taught, and in sleeping, thou shalt not be uneasy with it, and thou shalt feel no pains.'—Ecles. xxxi:22).

"Wine taken with sobriety is equal life to men: If thou drink it moderately, thou shalt be sober. . . . Wine was created from the beginning to make men joyful, and not to make them drunk. Wine drunken with moderation is the joy of the soul and the heart. Sober drinking is health to soul and body.'—(Eccles. xxxi:32, 35-37.)

"We must find a way out of this prohibition 'mess' foisted upon the American people by a minority of well-meaning people, who did not understand life, history nor human nature.

"The Hearst organization is making a real, earnest and, I hope, successful effort to lead us out of this darkness and obscurity into the light of reasonableness and temperance. God speed the day, or prohibition will completely ruin us."

Peter P. Walsh

Peter P. Walsh, superintendent of police, Department of Public Safety, Pittsburgh:

"It is with much interest that I have read of Mr. Hearst's generous offer of $25,000 to the person submitting the best solution of the prohibition problem as it exists in the United States today. I believe that his offer will stimulate public interest in this serious question and that perhaps a practical temperance plan will be offered.

WALSH

"In my opinion, as a police official, prohibition, as it exists today, is not a success, and I doubt if it could be enforced, under the present laws, except at a prohibitive cost to the government.

"I wish to congratulate Mr. Hearst upon the public spirit shown in offering this prize, as it will bring to the minds of our cictizens what I think is one of the greatest problems in our country, the prohibition question."

R. T. Lemons

R. T. Lemons, owner and publisher, Logan Republican, Logan, Kan.:

"Mr. Hearst's proffered $25,000 prize for a temperance plan as a prohibition substitute is both timely and commendable. It will give many, as it does me, an opportunity to express an inward longing born of the deplorable conditions now obtaining as a result of the illicit liquor business and general disregard for law in this country.

"Apprehension for the future of the nation is widespread, but no one seems to know just what to do. We hope Mr. Hearst's offer will bring to light a remedy that will rescue us from chaos. It seems that something must be done soon. It is an embarrassing and dangerous situation in which we have involved ourselves by this unwise step."

Frank J. Ryan

Frank J. Ryan, Secretary of State, Topeka, Kansas:

"Mr. Hearst's offer of a $25,000 prize for a satisfactory substitute for prohibition prompts me to say that I was born in Kansas in 1870 and that after 20 years' experience in public office, I believe I know Kansas, the cradle of prohibition, and her people, as well as any man living in her borders.

"Prohibition has been the law of my state since 1882 and the law of the nation for approximately 10 years, and the Federal government today is in the same position, with reference to enforcement, that Kansas has been in for nearly 50 years.

"If after all this futile effort at law enforcement, according to what I read in the papers, (I do not drink) they still sell liquor in Kansas, it would naturally follow with the government using the methods of 50 years ago, we will still be selling intoxicants in the United States in 1980.

Based on a more or less active contact of nearly 50 years with the problem of prohibition, I expect to enter a plan in the prize contest which will at least open up some interesting facts for consideration."

BANDIT GIVEN 40 YEARS

Roy Filmore, 20-year-old North Side bandit, pleaded guilty to 24 charges of highway robbery and larceny in Criminal Court to day and was sentenced to serve from 20 to 40 years in Western penitentiary.

Judge James B. Drew in imposing sentence said, "Life isn't safe with such men as you abroad."

Patrolman Peter Connors, former city detective, who worked up the cuse against Filmore, was congratulated by Judge Drew.

Filmore was charged, among other crimes, with shooting Peter Bubanovich, saloonkeeper, of 3524 Sewickley road and holding up taxicab drivers.

Mary Bender, 2642 Norwood street, in whose home Filmore's wound was dressed after the Bubanovich holdup, and George Mayer, 1708 Chateau street, are being held as alleged accomplices of Filmore.

United States Now Has 1,324 Airports

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—There are now 1,324 established airports and landing fields for aircraft in operation in the United States. The figures were announced today by the Commerce Department, which added that on January 1, proposals were pending for the creation of 894 additional airports and landing fields. Of the established airports California was credited with 143; Texas 101; Pennsylvania 83; Ohio 62; Illinois 60; Oklahoma 46; New York 43, and Iowa 38. Municipalities are operating 368 ports, while commercial interests are running 365.

FREIGHT-RATE QUIZ REPORT DUE SOON

Pittsburgh's fight for an equitable adjustment of freight rates between the Pittsburgh district and eastern and southern territory suddenly became active today on receipt of notice from Joseph B. Eastman, commissioner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, that the revenue test is about to be completed, giving the results of railroad earnings in the eastern class-rate investigation.

Pittsburgh is seeking equality in rates which now stand from one to 20 cents a hundredweight higher than from other cities in the same territory.

The revenue test, taken over a long period, will show how profitable the existing rates have been to the carriers and the returns from the investigation will be incorporated in the Interstate Commerce Commission's record.

FIGURES LONG AWAITED

These figures have long been awaited here because of their bearing on Pittsburgh's contention for readjustment of rates between Pittsburgh and Virginia cities, Pittsburgh and New England, Pittsburgh and Illinois territory and in the Pittsburgh-Boston rail and ocean tariffs.

In their case before the Interstate Commerce Commission, Pittsburgh shippers have shown that rates from Cleveland, Buffalo and Rochester are lower to Virginia than those from Pittsburgh, although Pittsburgh is less than half the distance. In some classifications the rate from Pittsburgh to Virginia is 20 cents per hundredweight higher than from northern cities.

PITTSBURGH PAYS MORE

D. O. Moore, traffic manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is handling Pittsburgh's case in the investigation. He pointed out that a carload of apples from Virginia costs the Pittsburgh consignee 40½ cents per hundredweight, while a dealer in Rochester, N. Y., pays only 36½ cents per hundredweight.

Eggs, poultry and vegetables in less than carload lots from Virginia cost Pittsburghers 93 cents per hundredweight, while the Rochester people pay only 73½ cents. A radio outfit or an electrical appliance shipped from here to Richmond, Va., costs $1.06½, while the rate from Rochester is only 86½ cents.

A public hearing in the eastern class-rate investigation will be held in Washington April 10, and will be attended by representatives of Pittsburgh shippers.

U. S. OUTLINES BROWN CASE

As the trial of Guy W. Brown, former state senator charged with embezzlement, resumed today in Federal court, the government still was framing the background for its charges that the Fayette county churchman and banker had illegally converted $147,200 of the funds of two banks and his church.

The government was able today to inject into the records two notes which Brown had discounted through the Fayette City National Bank, notes which defense counsel, in objecting to their presentation, indicated were those of an insolvent person, one D. M. Feichert.

Government counsel brought out that Brown, in making withdrawals totaling $21,000, had drawn against the sums represented by those notes, which were for $17,500, without enough funds in the banks, with the notes excepted, to make such withdrawals.

A truckload of documentary evidence was on exhibit, covering for five years the financial transactions of the man who was treasurer of the Redstone presbytery of the Presbyterian church and a director of the Fayette City National Bank and the First National Bank of Webster until those banks closed their doors in 1927.

In the record was the testimony of T. A. Donaldson, government investigator, who testified his examination of the Fayette City National Bank's records had shown that Brown twice had been permitted to overdraw his account, and then had covered the shortage with checks which the government contends were worthless.

PATRIOTIC FLAG CONTEST WINS U.S. LEADERS

Seldom, if ever, has there been such universal indorsement of a movement as has been given to the first annual flag contest of the United States Flag Association sponsored by the Hearst newspapers.

Not only does the educational value of the major awards—free trips around the world and free trips to Washington and America's patriotic shrines—appeal to America's statesmen and patriotic and educational leaders, but the contest's purpose in instilling into the hearts of the boys and girls of America a new reverence for and understanding of the flag of the United States has brought national commendation. It is small wonder that, although the contest was only announced last Sunday, literally hundreds of schools and patriotic societies throughout the country are applying to flag contest editors of the Hearst newspapers for authority to conduct contests for the boys and girls of their communities.

The plan of having boys and girls answer 75 questions about the flag of their country and write an essay on "Old Glory's Greatest Glory," has

FLAG CONTEST INDORSED

Indorsement of the flag contest conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers, continued today when commendatory letters were received from E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, vice president of the Sarah Sloan Scholarship Club.

Both were unstinted in their praise of the plan as a medium for giving both youth and age a more intimate knowledge of the history and traditions of the flag.

Mr. Whiter said:

"It is with pleasure that I indorse the Flag Contest plan of the United States Flag Association.

"It will result in a more intimate knowledge on the part of boys and girls and also grown-ups of the history and traditions of our flag. It will foster reverence for country, liberty, justice and the high ideals which our flag so beautifully symbolizes."

Mrs. Miller said:

"I am pleased, indeed, to give my indorsement of the first annual Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association.

"This contest will serve to bring vividly before all the people the noble ideals upon which our nation rests and will serve to give even greater strength to our faith in those ideals."

STOCKS RISE IN BREAK

13, Westinghouse Elecric 11 and Allied Chemical, Curtiss, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and National Cash Register falling 8 to 10 points. Rails yielded with the industrials, Canadian Pacific dropping 9 points and Union Pacific 8.

It was evident that much opening selling represented liquidation by frightened small speculators so that when the renewal rate for call money was marked downto 6 per cent, several large traders stepped ito the market and bought stocks "for a quick turn."

DEVELOPMENT NO SURPRISE

With an abundant supply of speculative credit, furnished largely by private corporations, individuals and banks outside the control of the Federal Reserve System, furnishing the background for the recent advance in stock prices, it was natural that the overnight developments which threatened a curtailment of brokers' loans would result in the wholesale liquidation of stocks.

Previous warnings against the excessive use of speculative credit have been generally disregarded, but the possibility of a rise in Federal Reserve rediscount rates, coupled with the higher Bank of England rate which will check the flow of gold from London to New York, proved a bitter pill for "bull" traders.

Favorable trade and business news has been an important factor in the recent rise in stock prices, but the Federal Reserve Board pointed out that business prosperity has been threatened by the recent rise in interest rates resulting from the abnormal absorption of credit by the speculative markets.

PRICES SLUMP AGAIN

Prices hit the toboggan again in the late afternoon, when selling orders once more overran the market. Radio extended its decline to 26 points and Johns Manville to 23. U. S. Steel got down to 174½ and Pere Marquette and Packard suffered losses of 9 points. The closing was weak. Sales approximated 5,300,000.

"CAN'T CURB SPECULATION"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—There is little the Reserve Board can do to curb speculation, in the opinion of Treasury officials, who say the Reserve Banks cannot refuse to make loans so long as the security offered is satisfactory.

CHICAGO LIST DOWN

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Prices on the Chicago Stock Exchange today followed the trend of the New York board and dropped sharply in the fact of the reaction to the change in speculative sentiment. Grigsby-Grunow was the outstanding performer, falling off 24 points at 150 in the early trading. Losses were general.

APPROVE CONTEST

MRS. D. EDWIN MILLER | E. T. WHITER

Mrs. Miller, vice president, Sarah Sloan Scholarship Club of Pittsburgh, and E. T. Whiter, vice president, Pennsylvania Railroad, today add their approval to the national flag contest.

Today's Flagism

William Tecumseh Sherman, one of the greatest military geniuses developed during the Civil War, was born on February 8, 1820. General Sherman was one of the important figures who did more than his bit to prevent a break-up of the union for which the American Flag stood.

2 TAX DODGERS SENTENCED TO JAIL

Two more defendants entered pleas and were given jail sentences in Federal Court today in the government's drive on alleged income tax dodgers, reputed to have derived huge revenue from liquor transactions.

Edward L. Horigan was sentenced to serve three months and E. Joseph D'Angelo two months in jail by Judge Nelson A. McVicar, after the former had entered a plea of guilty and the latter a plea of no defense to tax evasion. Both were named defendants in the original North Side rum conspiracy indictment by the federal grand jury last summer.

Horigan, according to the government, failed to pay $13,649.80 tax due for the years 1924 to 1927, inclusive, representing an income for the four years, placed by federal prosecutors at more than $115,000.

D'Angelo was charged with defrauding the government out of $3,008.50 tax in 1927.

Counsel for both men told the court appeals were pending from the government's figures on the amount of tax alleged to be due.

Joseph Bove, named a defendant in the East End liquor conspiracy indictment by the special federal grand jury, was placed on trial, charged with tax evasions after the Horigan and D'Angelo cases had been disposed of.

Miss Regina Hayes, deputy internal revenue collector, called as a government witness, testified that Bove made a return showing tax liability of small sums in 1924 and 1925 and none for 1926 and 1927. The government claims taxes due amounting to more than $72,000 for the four years.

JOHN D. WILL WIN, CLAIM IN NEW YORK

By W. S. COUSINS.

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—That the Rockefellers have enough proxy votes to defeat the re-election of Col. Robert W. Stewart as a director of the Standard Oil Company. of Indiana, at the annual meeting on March 7, was declared here today by Winthrop W. Aldrich, an attorney and member of the Rockefeller proxy committee.

Proxies representing more than 51 per cent of the stock of the company have been deposited with the committee which is now campaigning for the removal of "Colonel Bob" from his post as head of the Indiana committee, according to announcement made by Mr. Aldrich.

A statement denying that Rockefeller has gained control of the "proxie vote" was issued today by George K. Bowden, New York representative of Col. Stewart.

It is difficult to lay a direct finger upon the attachments and leanings of holders of thousands of shares of stock; but there is no doubt that the colonel has made a master stroke by ordering a $300,000,000 "melon" in the form of stock and cash dividends for the 58,000 investors in Indiana Standard stock, and that the prestige gained by this stroke will bring thousands of supporters to his cause.

STATE ROAD PROBLEM ACUTE

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Another meeting of the "elder statesmen" of the Republican party in Pennsylvania was scheduled here late today to continue discussion of legislative problems confronting the General Assembly and the administration.

W. L. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, former chairman of the Republican State Committee, telephoned Gov. Fisher that he would be here today, and it is understood Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, also will be present. This triumvirate met in the executive mansion 10 days ago.

ROADS CAUSE CONCERN

The redrafted Revenue Department bill, one of the debated topics at the last conference, again will come up, it is believed. Agreement has been reached on the most controversial points of this measure, under which the decisions of the new secretary of revenue on the subject of assessment and collection of the capital stock tax of five mills on non-manufacturing concerns will be subject to the approval of the auditor general. This tax nets the state government more than one-quarter of its annual revenue. As originally drafted, the bill vested sole authority in the revenue secretary, who, in turn, will be responsible only to the Governor.

The "elder statesmen" also will consider the reaction among rural members of the Legislature to the decision to put the question of highway finances squarely up to the General Assembly.

SEE TAX REPEALS

The treasury balance of $23,000,000 which the Governor proposed to expend largely in a great state building program, has been taken up as a war cry by agitators for the repeal not only of the inheritance taxes, but of the anthracite tax, the mercantile tax and others.

VERONA NAMED IN 'POOL' RAID

"BIG SIX" POOL

Hoey said the pool was known as "The Big Six" and that the seized records indicated it did a business of many thousands of dollars monthly.

Two adding machines and a lockbox containing yesterday's receipts of the pool, were taken by the raiders, police records showed. The prisoners were charged with keeping a gambling house.

Seized records show that agents use in selling numbers included young boys, proprietors of fruit and confectionery stores, managers of clubs and poolrooms and the ordinary racketeers, the inspector declared. The return sheets seized contain some 75 names, the identity being hidden under such nicknames of "Blackie," 'Pete" and "Tony."

RECORDS SEIZED

The center for the racket in the downtown district and perhaps the the city, was tapped by the raid, Hoey declared. Hundreds of blank deposit slips, heavy canvas money sacks used in transporting money to banks and thousands of coin wrappers for 50 and 25-cent pieces were confiscated, indicating, police said, the big business that was being done.

In order that the investigation might be extended, Hoey had the hearing of those arrested postponed until tomorrow morning.

FOURTEEN ARRESTED

In East Liberty, Acting Lieut. Martin Connelly lead a squad or police raid on a poolroom at 351 Larimer avenue.

Victor Ferraro, 21, alleged proprietor, and 13 visitors were arrested. The police alleged that the place is a branch of a clearing house pool and said they confiscated a number of records books.

Ferraro was released in $1,000 bond for a hearing tomorrow, and the visitors were required to post $15 each for hearing.

BUILDING PLAN GETS RE-SURVEY

As a member of the delegation from Pittsburgh which conferred with department officials today, Representative Porter told the government architects that he would be able to obtain the necessary funds for purchase of the additional lank at the present session if this program were adopted.

PITTCBURGHERS HERE

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerse was represented at the conference by Arthur E. Broun, vice-chairman of the special postoffice committee and president of the Farmers Depositors National Bank; Thomas A. Dunn, vice president of the Chamber; John D. Myer, United States district attorney; Norman F. Brown, Allegheny county engineer; E. C. Kollenbach, engineer, and Congressman Porter. The conference was held at the Treasury and was participated in by representatives of both the Treasury and postoffice departments.

Acting as spokesman for the Pittsburgh chamber, Mr. Braun presented a formal protest against the new building as presently planned.

DON'T LIKE DESIGN

First he said, Pittsburgh officials and civic leaders are not impressed with the present architectual design of the building. It was made clear to the department heads that the city desired a structure of more monumental appearance.

Second, it was asserted that current plans do not allow sufficient corridor space for the accommodation of persons having business in the building.

And, third, it was declared that the two entrances on Grant street were entirely too small.

The department, in short, was asked to reconsider its initial drawings and provide a structure with more general accommodations than now proposed.

In the end federal officials promised to make a thorough study of the situation and advise the Pittsburgh Chamber before deciding on final plans.

Later, Congressman Porter said he did not think the resurvey and study would delay the ultimate date of completion of the project.

WARD, BAKERY KING, DIES; BEGAN HIS CAREER HERE

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—William B. Ward, president of the Wark Baking Corporation and regarded as the most powerful figure in the baking industry, died of heart disease at his desk yesterday. He was 45.

He was of the third generation of his family to engage in the baking industry. He came into prominent public notice in 1926 when the government intervened to stop a $1,000,000 merger of food industries which he had conceived and was putting into operation.

One feature of the proposed combine, which was organized in Baltimore as the Ward Food Products Corporation, was a plan to give one-tenth of the earnings to charity.

Mr. Ward was born in Pittsburgh, educated at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., and the Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania. He entered the baking business with his father, Robert Boyd Ward, in Pittsburgh in 1906. After various connections, through which he organized several units of the business, he became president of the Ward Baking Corporation upon its organization in 1924.

He was trustee of Syracuse University, and of the Robert Boyd Home for Children at Pittsburgh.

He is survived by Mrs. Ward, five children, three brothers and five sisters. The family home is at New Rochelle, N. Y.

CHURCH, ROMAN PACT READY FOR SIGNING

LONDON, Feb. 7.—(INS.)—Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, today announced the settlement of the Roman question—the church-state conflict—to the diplomatic corps at the Vatican, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome.

Nearly all the diplomatic body accredited to the Holy See had been invited to the Vatican at 10 o'clock this morning to receive the announcement.

The only diplomat absent was Senor Blanca, Argentine ambassador to the Holy See, who was unable to attend because of illness.

The agreement settling the conflict of approximately 59 years' duration will be signed at the Lateran Palace on Sunday, the Exchange Telegraph dispatch added.

TOLD IT FIRST

The first news that the negotiations for settlement of the church-Italian state dispute were nearing a successful conclusion was exclusively published in an International News Service dispatch from Rome on December 18. The negotiations had been in progress for about three years between unofficial delegates representing Pope Pius XI and Premier Mussolini.

Under the terms of the agreement, a papal state will be created including the territory containing the Vatican and adjacent properties.

POPE WILL RULE

The Pope will have temporal power over this new state, but the collection of customs and tariffs will be left to the Italian government.

The embassies and legations of the envoys accredited to the Vatican and a railway station will be included within the new "power."

The papal state will be a political entity and may eventually have membership in the League of Nations.

Butler-Franklin Road Link Planned

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—The State Department of Highways will receive bids on March 1 for the construction of approximately 45 miles of highways. Included in the work will be the construction of nine miles of highway in Centre, Oakland and Concord townships in Butler County providing a better link on the northerly route from Butler to Franklin. This will be the first letting of contracts for the year.

DRYS CLEAN UP M'KEES ROCKS, ARREST 24

Fifteen saloons, three of them said to be operating in defiance of an injunction handed down recently in Federal Court, were raided yesterday by a squad of prohibition agents in a cleanup in McKees Rocks. Twenty-three men and a woman were arrested and large quantities of beer, whisky and wine seized, the report of the raiders says.

Eight slot machines seized in the raids are held at the prohibition headquarters and, according to Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington, will be turned over to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner today. When Gardner learned of the raids and of the seized machines, he said that he would make inquiry today to determine why the county detectives assigned to the district did not know of their existence.

According to the raiders, the places were visited after "buys" had been made. In one of the places where a padlock injunction had been placed on the saloon, the proprietor had moved his liquor into another part of the building and resumed business. The saloonkeepers who have violated the injunctions probably will be cited for contempt of court, it was said at prohibition headquarters last night.

200 "STRIP" BOYS GUESTS AT "DADDY" LONG'S DINNER

More than 200 boys from the "Strip" and Lawrenceville districts crowded into the gymnasium of the Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries, Twenty-eighth street and Liberty avenue, guests at the annual dinner provided for them by "Daddy" Long.

"Daddy" or Thomas E. Long, chairman of the institution's board of managers, was master of ceremonies.

The dinner was followed by a talk by the Rev. Dr. John B. Magee, pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, and an entertainment. Mrs. Frank Clegg sang several solos and Anthony Mascaro displayed some clever sleight-of-hand tricks.

The banquet was prepared under direction of Mrs. W. M. Jones, assisted by Mrs. Edgar Henderson and Adelaide Jones. Goodwill Community House girls acted as helpers.

Steel Pensions Of $3,488,487 Awarded

The United States Steel and Carnegie Pension Fund distributed $3,488,487.90 as pensions among retired employes of the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiary companies during 1928, according to the eighteenth annual report of the fund. There were 1,195 employes added to the pension roll during 1928 and 583 removed from the list. At the close of the year there were 7,000 on the rolls.

The average age of those retired in 1928 was 63 years. The average monthly pension paid was $53.55. The beneficiaries of the fund make no contribution to it, it being derived from a fund created jointly by Andrew Carnegie and the United States Steel Corporation.

CHANGE OF VENUE ASKED FOR CURRY-COUNTY TRIAL

Albert Curry has filed a petition in Common Pleas Court asking for a change of venue for the new trial that is expected to determine the amount the County of Allegheny will have to pay for the Curry office building at Fourth avenue and Ross street, which is being demolished to make way for the new county office building.

Curry declares that the recent $40,000,000 county bond issue campaign for county improvements has led to comment and conversation throughout the county regarding the large amounts expended for public buildings. This, he says, might prejudice a jury.

The county commissioners obtained the court's authority to purchase the Curry Building September 21, 1925, and after filing bond, took possession October 1, 1926. Viewers, appointed October 26, filed their award January 25, 1927, allowing $370,000 for the building. An appeal from the ward was filed by Curry February 18, he contending the building was worth $435,000. The appeal was tried before Judge Elder W. Marshall and the jury returned a verdict on June 6 for $315,000. On June 9 Curry filed a motion for a new trial. This was granted July 6, 1928.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 7.—A large thorn known as Southern patronage appeared to be marring the peace and comfort of President-elect Hoover today. In fact, it seemed to have driven so deep into the pre-inauguration vacation here in Florida that it was generally regarded as being responsible for Mr. Hoover's sudden decision to isolate himself from all visitors for the greater part of next week.

Demnad after demand is pouring into Hoover headquarters here for bigger and better recognition of the South in the matter of doling out federal jobs of all descriptions.

DOROTHY RUTH NOT CHILD OF FELON, SAYS JAIL HEAD

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Warden Edgar S. Jennings, of Auburn prison, today definitely put an end to speculation as to whether the adopted child of "Babe" Ruth was born to Mrs. Pearl Odell, serving a 20-year term for murder, when he announced that prison records show the Odell child was adopted by an elderly couple.

Warden Jenning declined to reveal the identity of the couple out of regard for the child.

His announcement followed an affidavit filed at Rochester by a lawyer who sought to show that 8-year-old Dorothy Helen Ruth was really Mildred Gloria Naomi Odell, whose father was executed at Sing Sing and whose mother now occupies a cell here. Photographs formed the basis of the lawyer's claim.

Pieces of Eight, Doubloons, Yo, Ho!

HAVANA, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Four fishermen, drowsing about the beach near Batabano, Cuba, Tuesday excavated four old cannon, in the muzzles of which they found ancient Spanish doubloons, pieces of gold, and rare old jewelry of an estimated value of $50,000. One of the cannon bore the date of 1687.

Cuban law provides that a large part of such treasure, when found, shall be used to enrich the national coffers. However, Castellanos Mena, congressman from Batabano, who brought the story of the discovery to Havana, is endeavoring to have the fishermen rewarded with a big share of their find.

He believes it to be an old pirate cache.

FISHING CLUB HEADS TO GO ON TRIAL

After being warned by Federal Judge W. H. S. Thomson of the seriousness of entering pleas of guilty and making explanations afterwards to the court, counsel for the Union Fishing Club and its officers and employes under indictment for conspiring to violate the national prohibition law withdrew requests for permission to change pleas of "not guilty" to "guilty."

Attorney W. W. Stoner, acting as spokesman for the attorneys for the defense, asked permission of the court to change the pleas. At the time, many of the defendants were in the courtroom. During a discussion between the government and defense attorneys Judge Thomson told the latter attorneys they would be in a poor position to explain that it was not a conspiracy after "guilty" pleas were entered.

In the courtroom at the time were Dr. F. H. Frederick, chairman of the board of directors of the club; A. F. Gill, secretary; W. L. Trimble, John Soutter, William Bader and A. G. Walters, members of the board; Joseph Hilldorfer, former president, and John H. Coney, assistant steward, all defendants in the suit. Government attorneys had consented to pleas of "no defense" by Dr. Frederick and Trimble, it was said.

After the expression of the court, Attorney Stoner said the defendants would be ready to go on trial Monday as originally listed, Judge Nelson McVicar having denied a petition for a continuance.

The contemplated pleas of "guilty," it was said, did not apply to all the 16 defendants in the indictment.

Gov. Gore Refuses To Halt Execution

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 7.—(AP) — Executive clemency for Henry Grogan, 18-year-old-Negro, sentenced to be hanged tomorrow for attacking Mrs. Earl Akers, Beckley normal school student, was denied today by Gov. Howard M. Gore. Mrs. Akers died some time after the attack from bullet-wounds which authorities said were self-inflicted.

BLUE LAW FOES CLAIM COUNTY DELEGATION

More than half of Allegheny County's 33 representatives in the State Legislature favor the Wettach bill, repealing the "blue laws of 1794," according to a telegram received in Pittsburgh today from Wilmer M. Jacoby, member of the local committee sponsoring the bill, who is now in Philadelphia in its behalf.

The telegram was addressed to Col. A. W. Wyckoff, president of the Association for Modification of the Blue Laws of 1794.

It follows:

"Reports emanating from Harrisburg, that only two members of the Legislature from Allegheny County favor the Wettach bill sponsored by our organization are far from accurate. As a matter of fact, more than a majority of the 33 members constituting the Allegheny County delegation are at this time favorable to the bill and will so vote when it reaches the floor. Others will do likewise just as soon as the bill itself becomes more generally understood by them and the people of Pennsylvania.

"There has been considerable misrepresentation over what we are attempting to do, and our campaign of education, which is now well under way throughout the state, is enlisting the support of sensible, open-minded persons, who declare the time has come for Pennsylvania to shed part, at least, of the hypocrisy surrounding the generally unobserved and unenforced Blue Laws of 1794.

"I am much encouraged by the support tendered to our organization here in Philadelphia, where great commendation is given to you and the other Pittsburgh business men associated with you for their initiative in starting this movement designed to benefit a large majority of the people of the state."

Naming Delinquents On Gas Tax Approved

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The state Department of Justice, in an opinion written by Special Deputy Attorney General William A. Schnader, ruled yesterday that Auditor General Martin may legally furnishe the Legislature the names of delinquent gasoline taxpayers. This information was requested by Representative Grover C. Talbot, of Delaware, in a resolution adopted by the House January 28.

Martin declined to reveal the names until he had consulted with the Justice Department on a law which holds that taxpayers' books and papers are confidential. He did, however, report that the total amount of uncollected gasoline tax is $1,581,536, and gave the collectible sums by counties.

brought forth instant approval from the leaders of American thought. President-elect Hoover was one of the first to indorse this contest when he declared, "This worthy program deserves the support of all loyal citizens."

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, Mr. Hoover's opponent in the last national election, has declared that he is "most thoroughly in sympathy with the flag contest plan of the United States Flag Association, the purpose of which is to foster appreciation of American ideals and reverence for the flag of our country."

Other national leaders who have expressed approval of the contest include Charles E. Hughes, former secretary of state; John W. Davis, once Democratic candidate for president; Thomas A. Edison, America's "grand old man;" Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the House of Representatives; Senator Charles Curtis, vice president-elect of the United States; Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Senator Curtis' Democratic opponent in the last election; Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois; Senator Pat Harrison, Dr. Hubert Work and many others.

LEADERS PLEASED

Heads of virtually all the patriotic organizations of America also have given their approval, and from every indication units of these organizations will conduct contests in every section of the country. Col. Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion; Mrs. Boyce Ficklen, Jr., national president, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, national president, Children of the American Revolution; Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, president, National Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of General Federation of Women's Clubs; Walter W. Head, president, National Boy Scouts of America, and Miss Florence Hughes, president, Camp Fire Girls, are among the patriotic and civic leaders who have endorsed the contest.

Noted educators also see in this contest a far reaching educational youth movement. Dr. Harris Hart, superintendent of public instruction of Virginia, says he believes the contest can "be very readily merged into the school schedule in such a way as not to interfere with the regular work."

EDUCATORS FAVOR PLAN

Dr. Frank P. Graves, commissioner of education, New York state, says the plan will "be of real value where it can be adjusted to the regular work of the schools," while Dr. John A. H. Keith, superintendent of public instruction in Pennsylvania, says he will bring it to the attention of the school people of his state.

"I believe," said Dr. Keith, "the undertaking possesses such merits and so fits into the work of the schools that many of our teachers and school officials will wish to take part."

Religious leaders, too, of every creed, have endorsed the contest. Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, senior Catholic prelate in the United States; Rabbi Abram Simon, president Synagogue Council of America, and Bishop James E. Freeman, president National Cathedral Foundation, Protestant Episcopal Church, all have expressed their approval.

Germs Are Here With Winter Ills

This laxative that tastes like candy, protects health.

DOCTORS tell us that many winter ills, including the "flu", could be avoided if the body were kept free from intestinal poisons that ravage resistance. Mothers know this, too. They keep Ex-Lax on hand.

Children love Ex-Lax. It tastes like candy. It is chocolate treated with a tasteless, non-habit-forming laxative agent that relieves constipation, sweeps poisons from the body, and so protects good health.

And Ex-Lax is as delightfully effective in adult cases. Without griping or upsetting the stomach it brings grateful relief. Ask your druggist for Ex-Lax and keep it always on hand. Three sizes, 10c, 25c and 50c

MELTING SNOW DAMAGES STORE

Damage estimated at $15,000 was caused to the stock of the J. A. Johnston Company, 970 Liberty avenue, by water seeping through from the roof to the fourth, third and second floors during the night.

Members of No. 1 Salvage Squad prevented heavier loss by siphoning the water from the roof.

When the Salvage Squad arrived at the building they found more than a foot of water caused by melting snow had collected on the roof inside the parapet. The water spouts jammed with the slush, would not carry off the water.

Man With Spats Beaten, Accuses Football Stars

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Warrants for the arrest of Generose and Joe Kresky, members of the University of Wisconsin football team, have been issued at the request of Carl Reis, who charged that he was beaten by the two men.

Reis complained that the men spoke disparagingly of his spats when he entered a lunch room and attacked him.

The warrants charge assault and battery.

R. R. POLICEMAN FOUND GUILTY

H. J. Hollock, a Pennsylvania Railroad policeman, was sentenced to 10 months in jail Wednesday by Federal Judge W. H. S. Thomson, when he pleaded guilty to stealing 27 pairs of shoes from an interstate shipment of freight.

"Don't cough Your Energy Away"

How a cough
may jar your whole* nervous *system!

COUGHING wears you down. It disturbs your sleep—takes away your appetite—uses up the strength you need to fight off serious infections.

Each time you cough, it tears at the delicate membranes of your throat, and bronchial tubes. A harsh cough puts a terrific strain upon your chest, stomach and other vital organs.

At the first sign of a cough or throat irritation, take Pertussin. It helps Nature free the air passages of germ-laden mucus, soothes the irritation and quiets the cough. Pertussin has been prescribed more often for coughs than any other advertised remedy.

Pertussin is safe even for small children and convalescents—a good remedy for "coughs that hang on." It is free from dope—does not upset the stomach and can be taken as often as necessary. Ask any Doctor or Druggist.

OBITUARY

Dr. Frederick Gaertner

Dr. Frederick Gaertner, 68, died yesterday in his home, 222 North Negley avenue. Born in Edwardsville, Ill., Dr. Gaertner was educated at the Mound City College and Washington University at St. Louis. He later studied in Berlin and Vienna and in 1884 he graduated from the University of Vienna. A year later he graduated from the University of Strasburg. He also studied at the University of Pennsylvania and the Academie des Science in Paris. He leaves a son.

Mrs. Leonard S. Pschirer

Mrs. Barbara Sterl Pschirer, 65, wife of Leonard Pschirer, died yesterday in her home, 140 Walters avenue, Millvale. Born in Germany, Mrs. Pschirer came to the United States when a girl and had spent virtually all her life in the Pittsburgh district. She was a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, the Christian Mothers' Society and the Schwachian Society. Beside her husband she leaves seven sons, a daughter and 11 grandchildren.

Robert E. Mercer, Jr.

Robert E. Mercer, Jr., 40, prominent railroad man of 5541 Phillips avenue, died yesterday in the Homeopathic Hospital. Born in Pittsburgh, Mr. Mercer was a life-long resident of this city. He was associated with the Chicago and Northwestern and Pennsylvania railroads, and during the war was a member of the war-time shipping board and emergency fleet corporation. He was a member of Lodge No. 45, F. and A. M., Pennsylvania Consistory; Syria Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., and the First Baptist Church.

H. F. E. O'Neill

Funeral services for H. F. E. O'Neill, general secretary of the New Brighton Y. M. C. A., will be held tomorrow afternoon in the New Brighton United Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Allegheny Cemetery. Mr. O'Neill died in the Presbyterian Hospital Tuesday after an operation. Before going to New Brighton he spent 13 years as secretary of the Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A. in Lawrenceville. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Laura Halmer O'Neill; a daughter and two sisters.

John P. Bergquist

Funeral services for John P. Bergquist, 73, who died in his home, 1406 Sumac street, McKeesport, Tuesday, will be held tomorrow in the home at 2 p. m. He is survived by two sons, Charles A. and John R. Bergquist, and a daughter, Mrs. James Forsythe.

Mrs. Annetta Vandervort

Traffic Tied Up As Woman in Car Slips

When Mrs. M. Hibbler, 38, 6992 Lemington avenue, slipped and fell in a Center and Lincoln avenue street car at Sixth street and Liberty avenue today traffic was held up for 20 minutes or more.

She was injured so badly that she had to be removed from the car to the patrol wagon from Central Police Station on a stretcher, while a big crowd looked on. The emergency wagon of the railways company was first called and then the patrol wagon. The women was taken to the Allegheny General Hospital. She suffered a bruised back and shoulders.

What Doctors Say About the Laxative Habit

What do YOU do when the bowels need a little assistance? If you clear up the condition with some laxative made with CASCARA, there is nothing better for the system—for the blood.

But if you don't KNOW the laxative you have learned to depend on is of harmless cascara, here's some truly valuable advice:

The bark of a tree called cascara is the most marvelous conditioner mankind has yet found. It stimulates the bowel's muscular action, but does NOT weaken. A violent laxative forms the laxative HABIT. You always need more on the morrow. With cascara, you don't. Its gentle influence carries on sometimes for days. With less and less need of any aid, as time goes on.

So, the very next time you feel sluggish, take only a candy Cascaret. Delightful to the taste, sweet and acceptable to any stomach, and just as efficient as the powerful purges that fairly paralyze the peristaltic walls of one's intestines. The only habit you'll get from Cascarets is the one of going weeks and months without ANY help of the kind. And when you do invoke their aid again, the same small dose suffices. Any doctor can tell you about cascara; and any druggist has the candy Cascarets.

Girl Given $5,000 For Auto Injuries

Miss Annie Murtagh, 23, 346 Kaercher street, Greenfield, today was awarded $5,000 damages by a jury in Common Pleas Court, Judge T. D. Carnahan, from Julius Silverman, Cincinnati, O.

Miss Murtagh alleged that while waiting for a street car November 7, 1926, at Forbes and Murdock streets, Squirrel Hill, she stepped from the curb and was struck by Silverman's automobile.

She asked $20,000 damages.

Grist Mill Built By Washington May Be Saved

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 7.—Promising support to Representative Joseph B. Henderson, of this city, the Board of Trade at Perryopolis, near here, has indorsed the measure which he plans to introduce before the Legislature, asking the state to take over the old grist mill in Perry Township, which George Washington built and operated.

Pitt Debaters Win In Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The debating team of the University of Pittsburgh, defeated the University of Utah here last night, winning the votes of two of the three judges. Pittsburgh upheld the negative of the question, "Resolved, That the Jury System Should be Abolished."

"I sure was right - I lit a Lucky"

"So many people have made a fuss over me because in rowing back to the 'America,' after we had picked up the 'Florida' survivors, I was smoking a Lucky Strike. I can't see why there should be any excitement about this—it was the natural thing for me to do. Before we started out from the 'America' I made sure that my pack of Luckies was with me—I wanted the comfort and pleasure of Luckies no matter what happened. I sure was right. I'll have to admit that after we picked up the 'Florida' crew and started back, my nerves were completely let down. So I did the thing I always do at such times—I lit a Lucky. As long as I live, I'll never get another kick as I did from the sweet old toasted flavor of that Lucky as we were tossing about on the old Atlantic. I'm a hundred percenter when it comes to 'reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.' I lay off the things that would make me flabby and light up a Lucky instead. There's too much action going on in my life to have me moving around with a lot of excess weight which I don't need. There's another thing about Luckies. The toasting process, in removing the impurities, is a blessing to us who follow the sea. It prevents throat irritation which is a constant nuisance to those who are regularly exposed to salt air."

RESERVE CORPS OFFICERS FACE SHAKE-UP

Pittsburgh citizen soldiers holding commissions in the Organized Reserve Corps who have been attending to duty and have made exceptional progress will find promotions as Valentine remembrances from Uncle Sam. In the quartermaster's corps alone 16 vacancies remain to be filled.

On the other hand, those officers who have not been giving attention to duty will find themselves relegated to the inactive list or outranked by men their juniors in service. The shake-up comes with the action of the officers at the headquarters of the Ninety-ninth Division in the Westinghouse Building to bring the personnel up to proper standard.

Capt. William H. Moore, of the quartermaster's corps, recently assigned here, announced today the existence of vacancies in the division personnel. The desirable posts include those of a lieutenant colonel or major as division inspector general, and a captain in the same section; nine vacancies in the quartermaster section commanded by Lieut. Col. James L. Kelly, and seven officers in the Pittsburgh Quartermaster Depot, commanded by Maj. William A. Credo.

An officer must give 200 hours in each five-year commission period in order to maintain his active duty status, Capt. Moore explained.

Attendance at summer training camps during two years in the commission period, and a lecture or two, lets an officer under the wire for his 200 hours.

Palestine Campaign To Be Opened Sunday

A joint meeting of members of the B'Nai Israel and Adath Jeshuren Congregation will be held tomorrow night in the latter synagogue, Margaretta street, in connection with the United Palestine Appeal, which opens its $125,000 campaign Sunday with a public meeting in the Y. M. & Y. W. H. A., Bellefield avenue. The principal speaker will be Rabbi Nathan Mileaikowsky, of Palestine.

Workers will receive final instructions on Saturday night at a rally in the Y. M. & Y. W. H. A.. Attorney Morris Rothenberg, of New York, chairman of the board of directors of the drive, is to speak.

Black-and-White

The dramatic combination of Black-and-White is always the choice of the smart Parisienne, and it is to be this Spring's alternative when one wishes, from time to time, to vary the picture by forming a sharp contrast to the prevailing vogue of color.

How effective it can be as it is treated in the mode for the new season, is shown by exhibits in our Fashion Sections this week and by window displays.

"Ruffshire" Fabric

In a Special Advance Sale of Women's Spring Coats

"Ruffshire," exclusive with Horne's in Pittsburgh, is one of the outstanding fabrics regularly used in our Wear Weave line of travel and service coats; and to get new coats of "Ruffshire" with fur collars at this price, is very unusual, indeed.

There are four patterns of the fabric in these coats, to be had in light gray, dark gray, tan and brown tones. There are three styles of collars, of furs to harmonize—gray kid, black caracul, gray and dyed squirrel, and gray and brown-toned kit fox.

So special is the price, so varied the collection and so complete the size range, that it will be to women's advantage to choose them now and have them ready for the first mild days.

The Frameless Pouch

A particularly interesting shape for a tailored street bag—flat and slim, but quite roomy. Made of black grained calfskin.

Patent Leather Reappears

There's nothing so trim and tailored and at the same time so dressy as patent leather. It is at its best in a rather severe back-strap bag.

The Back Strap Pouch

Attractive for street and shopping use, since it is so tailored and so roomy. Of navy blue Morocco with simulated lapis clasp.

The Hinged Shell Frame

Dark brown shoe calf with a hinged frame of simulated shell. The top handle is to be noted particularly, and the flat self-trimming.

Modernizing the Living Room

In the February Furniture Sale

The living room gives friends and strangers alike their impression of your home. It is of first importance that its furnishings be attractive, modern and in good taste. You may start with just one or two new pieces—it's surprising how a colorful new chair or a table will change a room—or you may select a davenport and chair suite.

Now, while the February Furniture Sale, with its many special values is in progress, is the logical time to choose these new modernizing pieces of furniture. There is an abundance of beautiful, style-right furniture at most moderate prices here.

Deferred Payments May Be Arranged

Davenport and chair suite in walnut colored mohair, tuxedo style, with hand-carved mahogany feet. Reversible cushions. $295.00

Queen Anne style chair upholstered in damask, $65.00.

An extremely comfortable chair to serve as an occasional fireside chair. Padded back, and down-filled cushion, $95.00.

The small end table is convenient at the end of a davenport or beside an easy chair. It is entirely of mahogany, $10.75.

The spinet desk may be used in a living room or a bedroom. This one is sturdily built of mahogany and gumwood. $34.50

Johnstown Man Sent To Jail in Dry Case

John P. Doran, of Johnstown, Pa., was fined $200 and ordered to serve 30 days in the Somerset County jail by Judge W. H. S. Thomson in Federal Court Wednesday for violating the national prohibition law. Doran pleaded guilty to selling drinks of whisky on September 10 and September 13 and unlawful possession of liquor on October 6. The indictment to which he pleaded also cited a prior conviction in Federal Court on November 25, 1925, and payment of a fine of $25.

Weather Conditions.

The low yesterday over the eastern gulf, moved rapidly northeastward along the Atlantic coast, causing rains or snows over most of the states east of the Mississippi River. It is now central off the North Atlantic coast. The high yesterday over Montana, continued its southeastward movement and is now central over South Dakota, Rapid City, 30.50 inches, and now covers the greater portion of the country. The low in the Southwest remained stationary, but is increasing in energy, Flagstaff, Ariz., 29.40 inches. It is much colder in the Plains states, the Central Rocky Mountains and the Plateau region; elsewhere there was little change in temperature.

River Conditions.

Moderate rains or snows occurred over the river basins during the past 24 hours. The rains over the Monongahela watershed averaged about three-quarters of an inch, while the snows over the Allegheny amounted to somewhat less. The upper rivers continue frozen, but the lower Monongahela is rising slightly. Stage at Pittsburgh is 11.4; Dam No. 2, 1.5, and Dam No. 6, 6.3 feet. Dam No. 6 is up; the others are down. The Monongahela and upper Ohio will rise slightly; the Allegheny will change but little.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

When You Catch Cold Rub On Musterole

Just Rub Away Danger

quick relief

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away. It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster.

Musterole is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away go indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Cod Liver Oil

So Good they smack their Lips

Every youngster begs for his treat of Scott's Emulsion. Here is no fishy tasting cod liver oil, but a real delight which they take as readily as milk!

Being perfectly emulsified, little folks digest it so easily and absorb all its wonderful goodness so quickly. Right under your eyes you see roses come in their cheeks. See them grow bigger, eat more, sleep better. For 60 years physicians have recommended Scott's Emulsion because it helps to ward off colds and the grippe. Lucky the child who has this treat each day. It is a children's favorite cod liver oil made from Norway's choicest cod.

All druggists have Scott's Emulsion in two handy sizes. A few cents' worth a day is a wonderful protection to young and old alike.

PATIENT ENDS LIFE BY LEAP

Believed to have grown despondent because her husband was late in calling for her to take her home, Mrs. Mary Lefjak, 40, of Sygan, near Bridgeville, a patient at the Elizabeth Steel Magee Hospital, ended her life by leaping from a fourth floor window, a report to the coroner says. The husband arrived two hours after the suicide.

Mrs. Lefjak had been a patient at the hospital for several days and was to have been discharged at 5 o'clock last evening. When the husband failed to call at the appointed time, the woman grew despondent and ended her life, hospital attaches report. The case was reported to the coroner as suicide.

Woman Is Indicted On Shooting Charge

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 7.—Mrs. J. Lawrence Farabee, 32, of East Finley township, was indicted by the Washington County grand jury on a charge of felonious shooting in connection with the wounding of Constable William H. Hamilton, of this city, at the Farabee home some weeks ago.

Hamilton was wounded when he went to the Farabee house with Mrs. Elsie Sullivan, of Dormont, who was seeking to claim her son and some clothing she had left there. Mrs. Farabee refused to part with the child.

"IN KONJOLA I FOUND MY FIRST AND ONLY RELIEF"

Pittsburgh Resident, Happy With Renewed Health, Pays Glowing Tribute to Famous Medicine; Says It Ended Two Ailments.

Surprising as it may seem, this new and different medicine, Konjola, that is creating such a furore in Pittsburgh and vicinity, is at the very peak, the apex, of its powers in cases that have defied all other medicines and treatments.

MR. S. J. SHAWICKEY

Konjola contains 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices from Nature's own roots and herbs; Konjola contains 32 pain-banishing, disease-ending, health-giving ingredients. Konjola is a medicine that brings results, not words; accomplishments, not promises. All who suffer and who would be well again are invited to call on the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company, formerly McCulloch's, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, and hear his personal explanation of the merits of this amazing medicine. He will point out case after case wherein Konjola proved the first and only remedy that gave relief from years of suffering. It was the happy experience of the Konjola Man to hear the glad report of Mr. S. J. Shawickey, 5408 Carnegie Avenue, Pittsburgh, who graphically told what Konjola had done in his case. Mr. Shawickey, who is an accountant, made this report to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"In Konjola I found my first and only relief from a complication of three ailments that had refused to yield to any other medicine or treatment. I was the hapless victim of stomach and liver trouble and with a slight case of catarrh. If anyone had told me that Konjola would relieve these ailments I would not have believed them. I actually hated the thought of meal time, because after each one I suffered for an hour or so from indigestion pains. Improper functioning of my liver made me tired and sluggish. I might add that the catarrh gave me no little amount of discomfort.

"This was my exact condition when I started on Konjola. I thought that my case was pretty severe for one medicine to help, but I did not know Konjola. Not for a minute did it hesitate in going to the source of my troubles. Almost immediately I could feel it going to work. My organs started functioning better and the tired, lazy sensation gave way to one of glorious energy and strength. The stomach and liver troubles seemed to melt into the air and once again I am able to eat three healthy meals a day without suffering the slightest bit. I intend to take Konjola a short time longer for the catarrh, although my head is a great deal more clear. I hope that this statement will reach others who may be in poor health and be the means of benefiting them as it has me."

Konjola contains no alcohol, nerve-deadening drugs, nor heart-depressing chemicals. It is all medicine, every drop and every drop works. All that Konjola asks is the chance to make you well. Avail yourself of this opportunity for new, abundant and glorious health.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company, formerly McCulloch's, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Coming Amusement Events Cast Their Shadows in Tales and Pictures

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

THEY are still arguing about what is wrong with the theater. St. John Ervine, who writes dramatic criticism for the New York World, thinks women have ruined the theater. In fact, he insists that women have ruined every institution they have ever had anything to do with.

This sounds more like the first chapters of Genesis than the last chapters of the Revelation of St. John. It impels one to cry "Fudge!" "Bosh!" "Tut!" to raise one's eyebrows, to shrug one's shoulder, and in other ways to register impatience and astonishment. For if any one is the mainstay of the theater at the present time, it is Woman. Mere man thinks he takes her to the theater, but he is really being taken. And the women's judgment is usually good, both as to plays and acting. Sinjon must know this, and is probably only trying to stir up a controversy in order to get himself talked about.

Channing Pollock, a dramatist, before sailing for Egypt, blames the theater's decay on the crass ignorance of audiences. "The dramatist knows," says Mr. Pollock, "that if he uses a word with more than two syllables, he is sunk." And he concludes with an unkind cut for the dramatic critics.

Now it's St. John's turn again before he sails for England.

Here Comes Eva As a Witness

Just as these notes are written comes news that Eva Le Gallienne is to visit Pittsburgh with her Civic Repertory Theater on April 15 to present some of the outstanding successes of her New York venture. She is probably one of the women Mr. Ervine had in mind when he was looking for a scapegoat. Miss Le Gallienne has been assisted by Alla Nazimova in her recent efforts to tear down the theater.

What plays will be brought to Pittsburgh is not yet certain. Barrie's "Peter Pan," Ibsen's "Master Builder" and "Hedda Gabler," Moliere's "Would-Be Gentleman," and Tchekoff's "Cherry Orchard" are among the possibilities.

It is to be hoped that the company booked for Pittsburgh will include Alma Kruger, a Pittsburgh actress who played leads with E. H. Sothern for several seasons. Miss Kruger's father was once one of Pittsburgh's best-known amateur players.

Eva Le Gallienne has met with success in her Civic Theater because she realized what was really one of the main reasons for the bad business managers are complaining about. She did away with high prices. Also with stars. And she heeded Shakespeare's managerial maxim, "The play's the thing."

Other Women On Their Way

Now it looks as if other women were on their way to see what they can do to accomplish the ruin of the theater, according to St. John's doleful prediction. Arvia, daughter of Percy MacKaye and granddaughter of Steele MacKaye, had a poem published in Harper's Magazine when she was only nine years old. In recent years she has done fine work in sculpture, has made illustrations for her father's books, has written prologues for some of his pageants, and now Arvia MacKaye is also beginning to attract notice as an actress.

And six-year-old Antoinette Lupino, daughter of Barry Lupino, the agile and elastic clown in "The Red Robe," has made her debut as the child in a performance of Ibsen's "Doll's House." Antoinette is the twelfth generation in the Lupine family to go on the stage. They have been show people for 250 years. Barry is also a bookworm who knows his first editions. And now his daughter is on her way to kill the drama, as Mrs. Fiske and Maude Adams have not quite succeeded.

St. John Ervine must have been reading George Henry Lewes, who thought the theater was dying 75 years ago. It's still alive, thanks to the women!

PLAYERS TO APPEAR :-: NEXT WEEK :-: STAGE AND SCREEN

Edna Hibbard will be seen in "The Other Man" in the Nixon.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7.

FLOSSIE MURPHY, the village's philosopher, arrived at a party wearing a new mink coat. Someone commented, whereupon Flossie retorted: "Yeah, it's all right. Anyway, it's the best I could manage with my limited opportunities."

Bessie Love

With a fanfare of superlatives preceding its premiere at Grauman's Chinese Theater, the villagers prepared to view "Broadway Melody" with cynical optiks. For once, however, the superlatives were and are merited. "Broadway Melon" is a wow, characterized by Bessie Love's superb performance, Charlie King's excellent singing, a catchy theme song, a revue number in technicolor yclept "The Painted Doll," excellent work by the entire cast, and Harry Beaumont's skillful direction. This talky is a Cosmopolitan-M.-G.-M. special. It has laughs and tears, moments and seconds, harmony and "plot discord," and a corking climax.

Film Celebrities Crowd Theater

ITS premiere brought forth the colony in glad rags galore. This despite the wretched weather, for it rained sobbingly that eve. And while traffic was congested, it progressed slow-motion tempo to the theater entrance. Hundreds lined the two blocks en route to the house. Only cars with police tags were permitted to get through the stern police lines. It was a typical Grauman opening, with the customary searchlights licking skywards and radio ballyhoo. Al Boasberg, M.-G.-M. gag writer, acted as microphone master of ceremonies, announcing the arrival of the stars and bullying them to the "mike" to say a few words of broadcasted how-de-do.

Jack Gilbert arrived with Virginia Charrel, the blond from Virginia, who will be Charlie Chaplin's leading fem in his forthcoming komik. Gloria Swanson came with Edmund Goulding. Charlie King was there with his wife. Others glimpsed in the besplendent audience were: Renee Adoree and Harry Brundage; Bessie Love, with her agent, Ivan Kahn; Lupe Velez and Gary Cooper; Dorothy Sebastian and Clarence Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd; Anita Page and her mother; Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson; Louis B. Mayer and family; Marion Davies; Josephine Dunn and Danny Danker; the Jack Warners; Mr. and Mrs. John Boles; Billie Dove and Irvin Willat; Gwen Lee and Tom Mix; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goldwyn; Vilma Banky and Rod La Rocque; Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Nagel, et al.

Dorothy Sebastian.

Bessie and Anita Get Big Ovation

JACK GILBERT acted as master-of-ceremonies after the picture's conclusion. It was Jack's debut in such a capacity, but he was great—short, snappy, and fini. Bessie Love received a deafening ovation when she took her bow. Anita Page and Charlie King also got a big hand. 'Twas a gratifying night for the M. G. M. executives. When professional Hollywood approves a picture premiered so conspicuously, believe you me that picture is GOOD.

Howard Greer, fashion director, says:

"Vilma Banky deplores the waning winter season in that cut and printed velvets become demode

Since the "Talkies" came, Hollywood is stronger than ever for Old Golds

WALLACE BEERY transport pilot No. 3298, now appearing in "Tong War" tells how the movie stars are guarding their throats with OLD GOLDS.

"A year or so ago, Hollywood didn't think much about its vocal chords or its voices. We were all in the silent drama then.

"But the coming of the 'Talkies' has changed things. Lovely stars, leading men, 'heavies' and ingenues are guarding their throats with zealous care ... and smoking OLD GOLDS.

"It didn't need the 'Talkies' to win me to OLD GOLDS. I've been smoking them ever since they came to Hollywood, two years ago. But it's an added satisfaction to know they are kind to the voice, when the voice has assumed a new importance!"

COLDS
RHEUMATISM

—by conquering the usual cause—too much acid—or as doctors call it—"acidosis."

ACIDINE, the most powerful known enemy to acid, kills toxic acid at its source in the stomach and kidneys and literally strangles it, relieving you from further damage from its relentless ravages.

IF ACIDINE FAILS TO RELIEVE INDIGESTION and its results—gas, sourness, sleeplessness and sick headache in the quietest, most soothing and immediate manner you have ever known, every penny you have paid will be refunded by your druggist.

IF ACIDINE FAILS TO PREVENT COLDS, or fails to relieve them within 24 hours, then back goes every penny you have paid.

IF ACIDINE FAILS TO RELIEVE RHEUMATISM WITHIN THIRTY DAYS when taken after meals as directed, then your druggist will cheerfully refund the cost of the trial.

A cure all you may say? No, indeed, just one of the latest scientific discoveries of a famous research laboratory. ALL THESE TROUBLES RESULT FROM TOO MUCH ACID, AND NATURALLY ACIDINE IS THE MOST EFFECTIVE AGENT FOR FIGHTING THEM.

Remember, we take the risk. A trial costs you nothing if it fails. Buy ACIDINE today, and find out for yourself why in a few short months it has become perhaps the most priceless, the most useful of all home remedies. Your druggist has it and recommends it.

If your druggist does not have ACIDINE, write Health Laboratories, Pittsburgh, Pa., for details.

SORE THROAT

DO YOU realize what protective power lies in the Listerine formula? Are you aware that, full strength, Listerine is entirely safe to use, yet so powerful that it kills even the stubborn B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ in 15 seconds?

Now you can understand Listerine's effectiveness against ordinary colds and sore throat which are caused by germs.

Keep Listerine handy, and use it systematically in nasty weather. It may spare you a dangerous siege of illness. Would you like to receive our elaborate free book, "Personal Hygiene"? Write Dept. S. 88, Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Do this and escape colds

Countless colds start when germs are carried to the mouth on food. By using Listerine on the hands before every meal, you attack such germs and lessen the risk of cold. Remember this, mothers, when handling baby's food.

BALL STARS IN COMING BILLS

Two pitchers in professional baseball are to make their appearance in the two-a-day Keith-Albee-Orpheum bill in the Davis Theater next week. They are Jess Petty, Pirate lefthander, and Al Mamaux, former big leaguer and a Pittsburgh boy, now pitching in the International League. They will present a comedy and song act.

Seats are now available for the return engagement of "Rose Marie," which will be seen in the Alvin for one week, beginning next Monday night. The cast includes Virginia Fox, Paul Donah, Mira Nirska, Charles Meakins, Peggy Pates, Houston Richards, Daisy Gibson, Sano Marco, Ross Gibson and Russell Griswold.

Seats are on sale in the box office of the Nixon for "The Other Man," by Vincent Lawrence, author of "In Love With Love," which will be the attraction in the Nixon next week, opening Monday evening, February 11. William Boyd and Edna Hibbard are the featured players, assisted by Pat O'Brien and others.

DANCERS COME TO PITT

The Isadora Duncan Dancers will be the attraction in the Pitt next week. Thursday and Saturday are the matinee days. Seats are on sale today.

"The Last Warning," from the play of the same name, will be the feature picture at the Stanley next week. Laura La Plante is starred. Paul Leni was the director.

Next week the Penn screen offering is to be Ramon Novarro in "The Flying Fleet." The stage presentation will be "Beauty Shop Blues," with Teddy Joyce.

The talking version of "The Bellamy Trial," adapted from a courtroom mystery story, will be seen and heard in Loew's Aldine next week, with Leatrice Joy heading the cast. This production is not to be confused with the silent version of "The Bellamy Trial."

Harry Evanson, featured with Kitty Madison, in "Jazztime Revue," opening in the Academy with a Sunday midnight show, is a comedian who works without make-up.

BROTHER OF HOUDINI

Featured in the Harris the last half of this week, Hardeen, brother of Houdini, appears in a mystery act. The screen talking feature is Eddie Quillan in "Geraldine," with Marion Nixon.

"The Shopworn Angel," in which Gary Cooper and Nancy Carroll are co-starred, will open in the Enright, East Liberty, Saturday. It is a tale of soldiers, chorus girls and Broadway.

"London" Newman's Travel Talk Title

E. M. Newman, travel talker, will present a word and picture tour of "London" in the Carnegie Music Hall tonight. Mr. Newman points out that though it is said that London never changes, it has so altered in recent years that Dickens or Dr. Johnson would not recognize it.

Ford at Florida Home for Vacation

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Henry Ford arrived here today aboard his private car to spend a month's vacation at his winter home, adjoining the estate of Thomas A. Edison. Mr. Ford refused to talk with newspapermen other than to say he was glad to be here and that he hoped to have a pleasant vacation. Then he drove to his winter estate in an automobile.

Mr. Ford expects to attend the eighty-second birthday party for his neighbor, Mr. Edison, next Monday along with Herbert Hoover, Harvey Firestone and other notables.

HELEN HARGRAVE

Personality!

When Ziegfeld selects them, you can be sure they have personality. This lovely New York girl, now appearing in "Rio Rita," has talent—and beauty, too—enhanced by wonderful skin and the softest waves of dark brown hair.

"When friends ask me what I do to make my hair so soft and gleamy," says Miss Hargrave, "I have to think twice to tell them, because I give so little time to it. The method I use is very popular among New York girls. I just put a little Danderine on my brush each time I use it. I am letting my hair grow; but you'd never know it. Danderine keeps it so soft and easy to arrange and holds it in place so wonderfully. It gives my hair such a silky, soft and lustrous appearance, friends are always commenting on it. There isn't a trace of dandruff left now that I'm using Danderine regularly. And it keeps my hair and scalp so clean and comfortable that I don't shampoo half as often as I used to."

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair, brings out its natural color, gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy to dress, keeps it in place. It usually checks dandruff. It isn't oily; doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles. A delicately fragranced necessity for the well-groomed girl!

'Life-for-a-Pint' Law Draws New Attack

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Feb. 7.—(INS.)—Revision of the criminal code to rescind the so-called "life-for-a-pint" law was indorsed by approximately 200 delegates attending the county Republican convention here today. The law, which provides mandatory life sentence for persons convicted of liquor law violations four times, was attacked as "too intolerant and severe."

Chicago Druggists Ban Booth Phones

CHICAGO, Feb., 7.—(AP.)—Plans have been made for removal of telephone booths from the 1,850 drug stores belonging to the Chicago Retail Druggists' Association. Final arrangements are to be completed Tuesday at a conference of association leaders. The move is the latest action taken against the Illinois Bell Telephone Company, which recently established lower commission rates on booth calls.

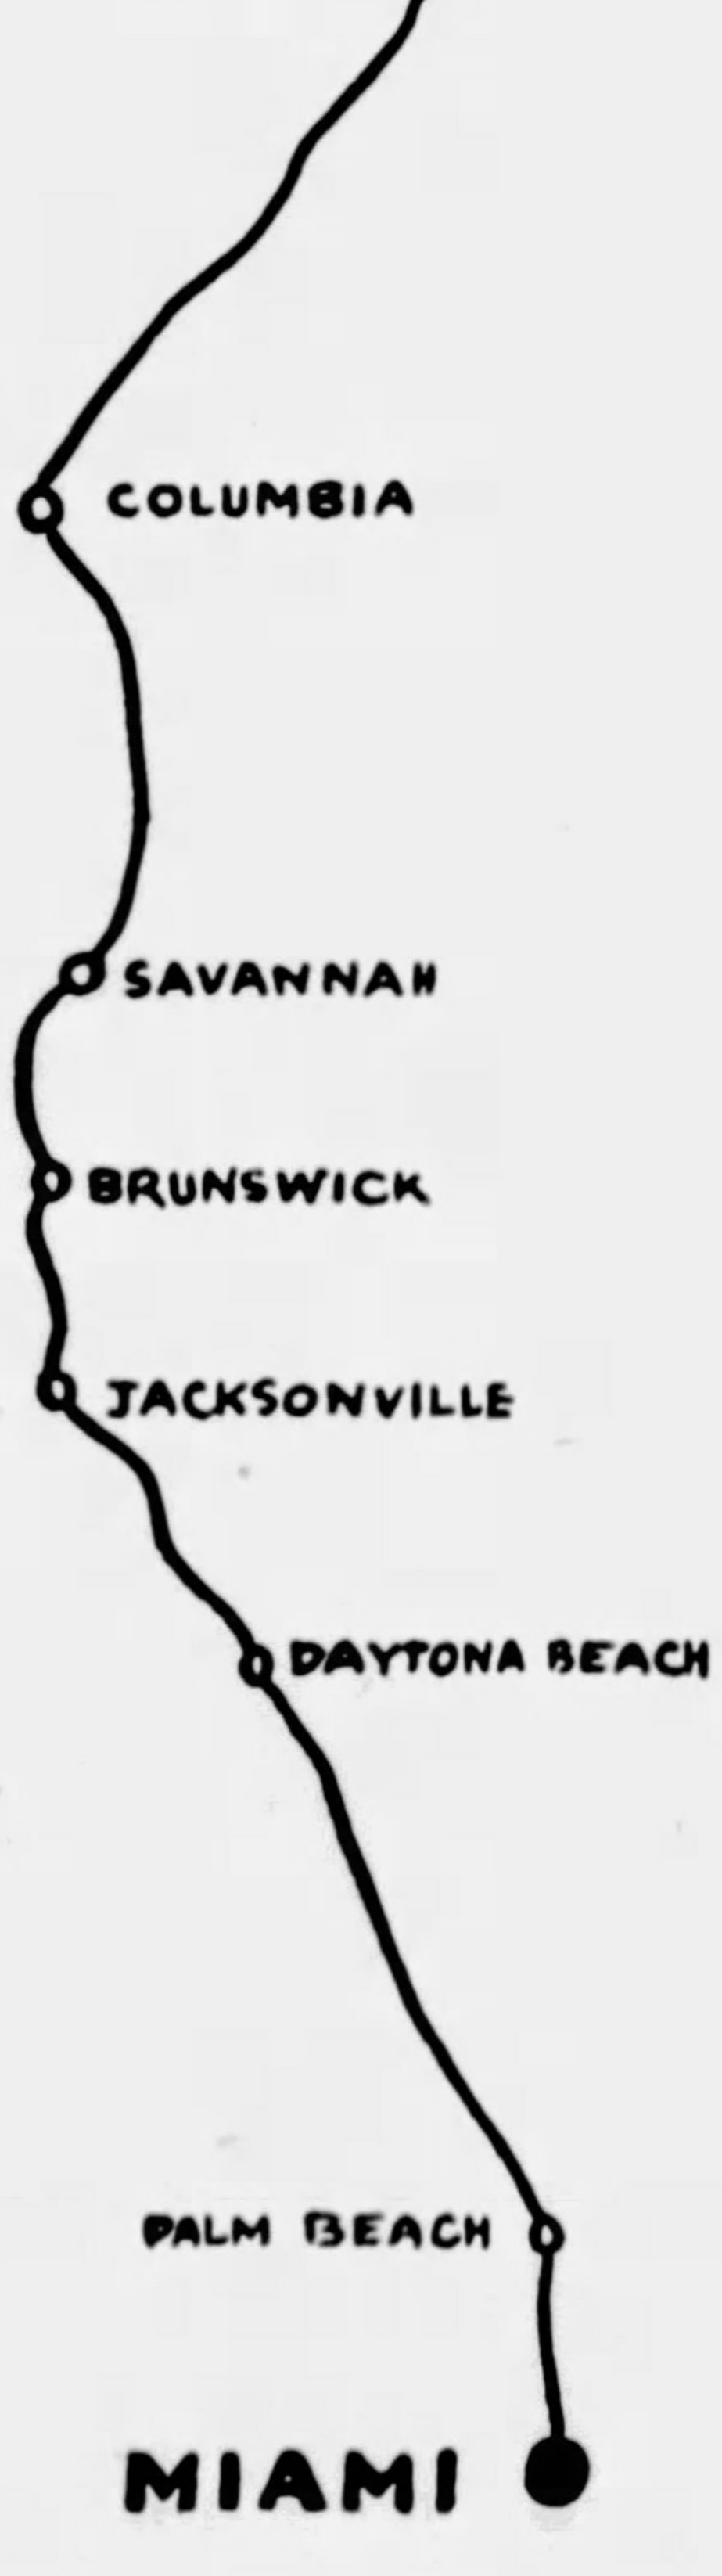
Out of New York at 12.30 A.M. January 15th--into Miami at 7.40 A.M. the next day, January 16th--that was the record run of "Cannon Ball" Baker in a stock model 135 air-cooled Franklin Sedan! Elapsed time, 31 hours and 10 minutes for 1,541 miles--an average of 49.44 miles per hour! And he beat the time of the "Miamian"--the fastest train between New York and Miami by nearly two hours--though travelling through traffic on a route 154 miles longer!



A marvelous demonstration of Franklin speed and endurance--and we're proud of the fact that AMOCO-GAS helped make this record possible. W F. Kneip, President of the Baltimore Franklin Motor Car Co., requested us to stand ready to refuel "Cannon Ball" Baker's car with all possible speed and dispatch--and preparations were made to have a pump ready at a dealer's station on the Philadelphia road. There, in the dim light of dawn, Baker pulled up, filled up with AMOCO-GAS--the regular AMOCO-GAS supplied by the regular roadside pump--and whirled away on his record-breaking dash.

> AMERICAN OIL CO., Baltimore
> My thanks to you for your co-operation and service during my recent record run to Miami from New York. It was good of you to have AMOCO-GAS ready for me at Baltimore and I am glad to advise that it gave me every satisfaction.... allowing me to keep up high averages. Congratulations on a worth-while product.

Nansen Asks U.S. Aid On Far North Flight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, famous Arctic explorer, has requested the assistance of the Navy Department in arranging for the proposed flight of the Graf Zeppelin to the Far North next year.

Among other things, he asked cooperation of the department in the erection of a mooring mast at Nome, Alaska, and for aid in transporting a supply of "blue gas," a special fuel used by the Zeppelin's motors, to its base in the Far North.

More British Troops Ordered to Bombay

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Bombay today experienced the fifth day of disorders growing out of Hindu-Pathan antagonism. It was said in one quarter that additional British troops had been ordered here to meet an insistent demand of nationals for greater protection from rioters.

There was further rioting last night when a party of Hindus attacked Moslems returning from a motion picture show, injuring two. Earlier in the day on two occasions troops fired into mobs, killing three and wounding six.

Leak in Submarine Halts Escape Tests

KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Having successfully completed numerous tests of apparatus expected to make submarine service infinitely less hazardous, the U. S. S. Mallard, tender, was expected to return here today with the S-4, which will be placed in repair. After men escaped from the sunken submarine in 76 feet of water, with the aid of oxygen-inflated headgear, a leak was discovered in the periscope.

Man Seizes Intruder, Holds Him for Police

Aroused by a noise in his bedroom early today, C. H. Cramer, 6226 St. Marie street, switched on the light and discovered Earl Allen, 14, a Negro, of 509 Wall street, in the room. Catching hold of Allen, Cramer called his wife to notify police. Police arrived and the youth was taken to the Frankstown Avenue Police Station. The youth is said to have admitted stealing $10 from the Cramer home recently.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Unsentimental Calories

WHY is it that a man is never quite sure of his love for a woman, until he ceases to be sure of the woman?

* * *

To lose a true friend is a greater tragedy than to lose a front tooth. Neither can ever be replaced by anything half so substantial and dependable.

Half the world is struggling to find work, these days—and the other half is struggling to dodge it.

HELEN ROWLAND

Even the most happily married woman seldom gets an overweening superiority complex from hearing her husband's wild applause for the way she runs the house.

Small people are governed by their prejudices, Great people are led by their enthusiasms. Small people are eternally defending their "dignity." Great people wear their dignity as unconsciously as they wear their hats and their shoes.

One of the things that no man will ever understand this side of Paradise, is the way in which a woman's mind works. Because a man's thoughts flow according to a chart, but a woman's imagination works on a hair-trigger and responds to the touch like a polo pony.

* * *

Marriage will always be a matter of sheer luck, as long as one girl has the good fortune to meet all the clean, solid eligible men—the kind you can safely take home and introduce to your mother—and another girl meets only the kind of gentlemen who prefer blondes.

Science Gains in War on Tuberculosis

IN my mail I find a letter from Charlotte, N. C., requesting an article on tuberculosis.

DR. COPELAND

Every request of this sort gives me a thrill of unhappiness. I am not unhappy because someone has asked for an article, but because such a request is founded on the experience of some unfortunate. This letter leads me to suspect that the writer may have tuberculosis, or fears she may have it.

Or it may be that this letter comes from an anxious mother who fears one of her dear ones is threatened with this disease. There may be a case of tuberculosis in the neighborhood and she wonders what effect it may have on her own family.

It is a disease far less prevalent than it was even a generation ago. Public health education has borne fruit in the prevention and control of tuberculosis. It was not long ago that one funeral out of seven was held for somebody who had died of this disease. This is not the case today, I am delighted to say. Tuberculosis is rapidly declining as a cause of death. We may hope for a day not far off when tuberculosis will be as rare as smallpox.

Unfortunately, we cannot guard against tuberculosis as we do against smallpox. While much work has been done by the laboratories to find a method of inoculating against tuberculosis, the results have not been wholly encouraging. The efforts of the research worker continue, however, and it is probable will be crowned with success.

In talking with a physician the other day, he spoke of a certain remedy, not for tuberculosis, but for some other ailment. The doctor said this is the most expensive medicine used by the profession. It is so expensive, indeed, that poor people can ill afford to pay for it.

I am glad to tell you, however, that when it comes to the prevention and cure of tuberculosis, no serious outlay of money is involved. Nature has provided the remedy. The secret lies in the right living. The things that will prevent and cure tuberculosis are the things that will prevent almost every disease. Sunlight is the great panacea. The germs of tuberculosis exposed to the direct rays of the sun will die in a few hours.

Fresh air, wholesome, nourishing food, including milk and eggs, and lots of rest—in these are the means of protection against tuberculosis. When given to the victim of the disease, they go far toward the recovery.

Answers to Health Queries

P. R. Q—What would be best for bathing the eyes—warm or cold water?

2.—Would Epsom salts be helpful for bathing the feet?

3.—Is toast constipating?

A.—A warm solution of boracic acid used several times daily should be helpful. Any further advice should be given after examination of the eyes.

3.—Yes, as a rule.

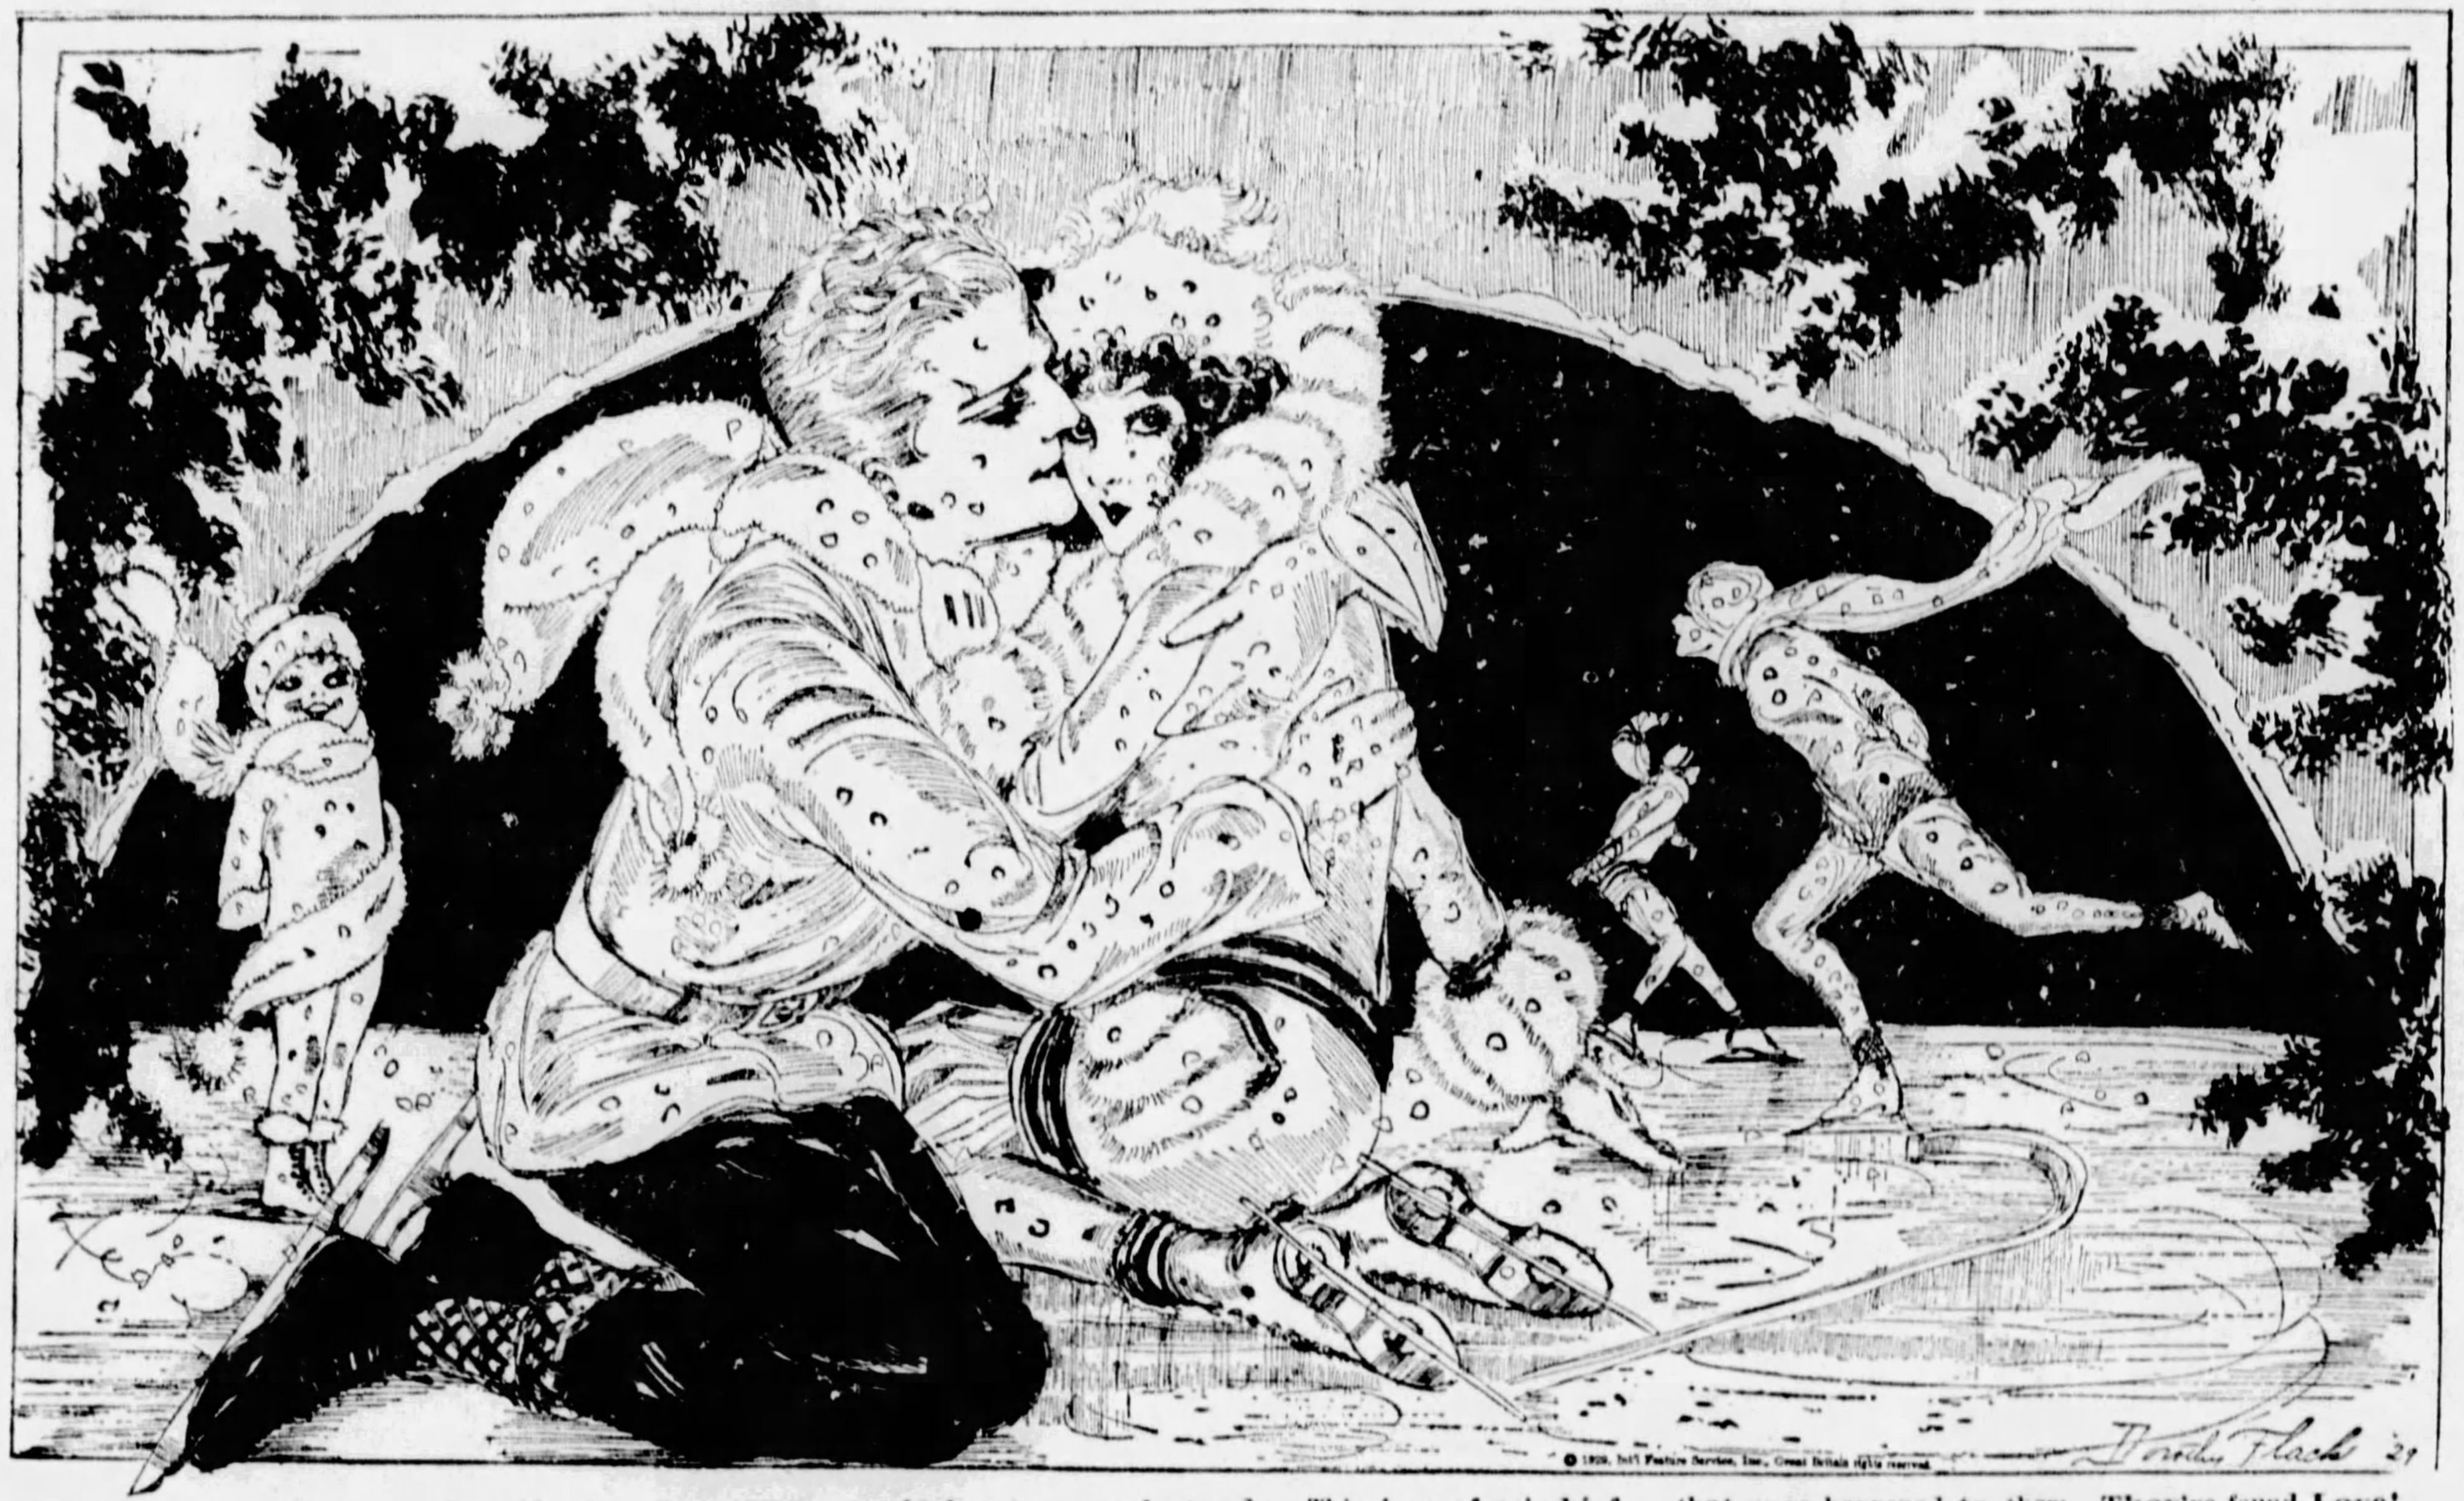
A HAPPY ACCIDENT

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



Dorothy Flack '29
© 1929, Int'l Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

THERE are accidents and accidents. Some are serious and some are—well, such an accident as the one pictured here is the happiest sort of an accident, for it brings two hearts to a realization of their love.

You see, skating is a treacherous sport, especially if Dan, all capped and mittened, is standing somewhere near. For he makes feet falter that otherwise would be strong and sturdy. This imp of mischief takes every opportunity he possibly can make to bring together those whom he has selected. And now—well, she slipped and so did he, and there they are on the ice. Perfectly oblivious to everything in the world excepting their own two selves. And all of a sudden the accident, which really might have been serious, turns into the most wonderful thing that ever happened to them. They've found Love!

And I'm not so sure it was a really, truly accident. For what's planned is never an accident, and Daniel had all this planned out long beforehand.

Anyway you look at it, though, it's wonderful. For they've found each other; they've found Love; they've found Happiness for the rest of their lives! So what's a mere accident compared to all this glory?

THE planetary mutations for this day hold a contradictory force. While there are certain configurations assisting to interesting and pleasant situations, yet others hold a menace to fortune and frame of mind. Conservatism with funds and well-tempered conduct may allow the presaged benefits to operate and bring pleasant change and agreeable contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of profit and pleasure if they will refrain from ill-temper, rash actions and an extravagant and injudicious outlay of funds. An advantageous change or journey is forecast.

Katie Breaks an Awkward Situation

IF I had not been so tensely nervous myself I could have laughed outright at the panic-stricken look which flashed into Dicky's eyes when Mary put her question concerning Katie's search for the missing case. Luckily Mary's eyes were fixed upon Katie and I was able to flash him one of our private little signals meaning "everything safe." The panic left his eyes, but the bewilderment remained and I got what Mary would describe as a "distinct kick" out of watching him as Katie glibly replied to Mary's question.

"Yah! Me, I look in efery corner," Katie began, "but you know vot I tink—I been tinking efery minnit since you peoples coom home—" she interposed, evidently enjoying to the utmost this rare opportunity to exhibit what she fondly believes to be her histrionic powers. "I tink I like go ofer dose stairs vunce again already. Dot place vere Junior used steeck toys ees black like ink und I no haf flashlight und my eyes not so goot any more"—she sighed tremendously—"I'm getting old, I guess."

I was glad when Harry Underwood interrupted her with one of his giant laughs—she was losing herself in her role altogether too well.

"Yes, Katie, I can see you going around the streets with a tin cup for pennies," he said, and she tossed her head with an instant's resentment of the jest, then broke into a giggle.

"Und a lettle poodle pup to lead me vunce," she amended, and Mary struck in eagerly.

"Oh! maybe there's a chance, then, of its having slipped down there," she said. "But you don't need to bother, Katie. You have a flashlight, haven't you, Uncle Dicky?"

"Sure thing," Dicky responded, with alacrity. "Just wait till we have our coffee and you can hold the flash while I rummage."

It was an hour at least after Mary had found the case with Dicky holding the flashlight that he had a chance to speak to me concerning it. But when the girls finally had gone upstairs to chatter over and try on their purchases of the day, and Harry Underwood, a "glutton for punishment," as Dicky pronounced him, had taken his wife in the new car to look at the ocean by moonlight—a favorite recreation of those living near the wonderful stretches of sandy shore at the east end of the island—Dicky came out on the veranda.

"What's the lowdown, Madge?" he asked. "No, don't go, Katrina," he said hastily, as Katherine arose. "We have no secrets from you, especially in this direction. You shared in the other hectic experience we had with the young woman—I suppose Madge has told you about the latest development?"

"Not yet," I said in a low tone, "and may I suggest that you modulate your voice?"

"What's that?" Dicky said testily, then looked around cautiously.

"Sorry!" he muttered. "Of course you're right. But tell me," he dropped into the chair next me and spoke in an undertone: "Whatever struck Katie? Was it a case of the direct intervention of Providence or did you have to stir the stew with your fine Italian hand?"

"I went straight to the kitchen," I answered, "took her to her room and told her as much—or, rather, as little of the truth as I could manage, and asked her aid. She told me that she would 'feex'—and you see that she kept her word."

"Bully old Katie!" he said fervently. "She sure saved my life that time—or, rather, you did. I never should have dared to ask her to help. But you seem to have the knack of handling her. Do you think you've got her sewed up so she won't talk?"

"I'm sure she won't," I said, with finality, and then the new car purred into the yard and Harry and Lillian came up the steps.

CORRECT MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Velvet for Winter

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you be kind enough to tell me whether a black chiffon velvet evening gown is appropriate for formal wear in the summer as well as winter?

M. B.

A GOWN of chiffon velvet, especially a black gown, never seems very appropriate for summer wear. For summer evening wear we expect chiffony things, or georgette, or something of equally light-hearted texture. And this is true, even if velvets have become so soft and supple and comparatively thin.

Pronunciation

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My sister's name is Adrienne. Some people pronounce it, using a long A and some use a short A. Which is correct?

WONDERING.

THE pronunciation of one's name is as one chooses to have it, and your sister should decide which pronunciation she prefers. Then as she pronounces it her friends will—or should—follow suit. Usually, as this name is pronounced, the A is given the long value, but the short A is charming, too.

Casual Meetings

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When riding in a street car with a girl friend and you meet another girl friend, is an introduction necessary?

2. Is it necessary to say, "I am very glad to have met you," when you didn't talk to the girl after the introduction?

JOHN STEINLE

Penn. Mother Has Right Idea

For over fifty years, physicians have recommended it and mothers all over the world have recognized this fine old medicine as the standard remedy for those ills of childhood such as biliousness, sallow, "broken-out" skin, constipation, nervousness, indigestion, feverishness, no appetite or energy, etc. Children love the rich, fruity taste of California Fig Syrup and their whole system benefits from its gentle influence. It quickly purges the child's system of all waste; it regulates the bowels and stomach, and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act normally, of their own accord.

A Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Steinle, 231 South Ithan St., Philadelphia, says: "I never saw anything better than California Fig Syrup for regulating the stomach and bowels of children. I have used it myself and for my children over 20 years. It stopped my little son John's constipation quickly, strengthened him, gave him a good appetite. I use it with all my children for colds, feverishness, etc., so I am never without it."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name to protect yourself from imitations. All drug stores have it. Four million bottles used a year show its popularity.

Popular Powder of Beautiful Women

Beauties who guard their complexions use MELLO-GLO Face Powder only. Famous for purity—its coloring matter is approved by the Government. The skin never looks pasty or flaky. It spreads more smoothly and produces a youthful bloom. Made by a new French process, MELLO-GLO Face Powder stays on longer.

"I Used to Hide My Teeth—

They Were So Dark and Yellow!"

"My teeth were so dark and yellow I used to hate to smile. Often when conversing with a person I caught myself raising my hand or handkerchief to my mouth to hide my teeth.

"Finally the last dentist I went to told me to try Kolynos on a dry brush. It wasn't a week, I can truthfully say, before my teeth became perceptibly whiter. And I know that they were a good deal cleaner, for I could feel how smooth and glossy they were as I passed my tongue over them. Today I can wear pearls around my neck and know that my teeth do not suffer by contrast."

A girl may be ever so pretty, but if she has yellow teeth, she is "out". Yellow teeth spoil all charm. They are forbidding in themselves and suggest unclean personal habits and bad breath.

Yet no one need pay the penalty of yellow teeth! Sparkling white teeth are as easy to have as clean finger nails.

It's all a matter of dealing with the plaque or mucin coating that forms on the teeth. It's this coating that turns yellow and dingy, not the teeth!

Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique

A half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush—the Kolynos Technique—fills the mouth with a foam that is antiseptic, germicidal and plaque disintegrating. Using Kolynos on a dry brush you use it full strength! Also the brush bristles retain enough of their stiffness to properly scrub the tooth surfaces and penetrate the crevices between the teeth.

Removes "The Yellow"

This tingling, full strength Kolynos foam spreads itself all over the surfaces of the teeth. "Live" and active, as you can feel in your mouth, it "works on" the yellow plaque like millions of tiny fingers. It breaks it up and washes it off the teeth. The teeth are cleaned down to the naked enamel. They gleam clean and WHITE!

The foam pushes its way into all the spaces between the teeth, into all the grooves and depressions in the teeth. It cleans out and disinfects those places where food particles lodge and decay. It combats tartar, destroys germs, bacteria and mouth acids, sweetens the breath and makes the entire mouth antiseptically clean.

Try This Method!

A half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush—try it for 3 days and see your teeth 3 shades whiter. A two-weeks' tube of Kolynos is free for the asking. Mail the coupon or a postcard today. The Kolynos Co., New Haven, Conn., Dept. 27D54.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE BLANK CHECK

By RUBY RANDOLPH

PETER was 22, and the proud possessor of a degree in law and a fiancee, Doris Fisher, who was the prettiest of the co-eds.

Notwithstanding all this he was in a state of mental turmoil, varying from peaks of high elation to depths of depression. Peter was usually a bright and carefree lad, and the source of all this disturbance was a blank check which his great uncle Peter had given him for a graduation present.

The check had carried the attached stipulation: "Fill this in for the amount which you deem necessary to give you a good start in life. I have placed a certain sum in this bank. They have instructions to cash the check for any amount within this sum; if the check exceeds the deposit by even a penny, it will not be cashed."

When Peter had shown Doris the check upon the night of its receipt, she had been as thrilled as he.

"Now we can get married right away," she exclaimed delightedly, springing up and down on the divan.

"Yes, darling," Peter agreed abstractedly. "Maybe I'll open a broker's office. A fellow was telling me today there's a mint of money in stocks and bonds if you know how to play them."

"But you're a lawyer," Doris gasped.

Peter waved her remark aside airily. "With my financial backing there'll be more money in stocks and bonds — and, besides, I'll get you a house and car, Doris, the first thing."

"But-t—how-w much are you going to make the check for?" Dorris, the practical, queried in amazement.

"Well, I haven't exactly decided," Peter admitted. "No telling just how much the old guy is worth — he's kept things pretty close."

"Maybe he didn't figure its taking as much to give you a good start as you're figuring—suppose—suppose you missed it by one penny and lost it all." Doris' brown eyes opened wide in consternation.

"Pshaw!" Peter disclaimed, a faint shadow of doubt clouding the blueness of his gaze. "'Spose I failed to take advantage of the opportunity by $10,000 or so."

"Oh!" Doris sighed. "Isn't it complicated?"

"A friend of mine, a fine fellow, wants me to go into the automobile business with him. I can put up the capital and we'll make a killing."

"But your law," Doris demurred again.

"Oh! there's more and quicker money in other things besides law, especially when you have financial backing." His tone implied the resources of the Rockefellers.

"How much money will you need?" Doris questioned definitely.

"I haven't quite decided," Peter replied. "The more money I invest, the bigger killing I'll make. I surely would like to know how much the old codger has in that account. He's been rather a miser, so he ought to have a nice little fortune; but, on the other hand, a small sum would probably look big to him."

A month elapsed and Peter was as much at sea as ever. In the meantime his enthusiasm had waxed and waned over half a dozen get-rich-quick schemes. His laughing eyes had grown somber and there were worried lines around them, while his lips were a trifle querulous.

"Why don't you look for a job in a lawyer's office and settle down, Pete, dear?" Doris inquired. "Maybe you could better determine then how much money you will require."

"I—I don't need to look for a job with my—my financial backing," Peter blustered, but his voice trailed away rather dejectedly.

One evening Peter came around in his father's car to take Doris riding. His young face was drawn and tense.

"I'm going to settle this question once and for all. I'm going to fill in that check tonight."

Doris sat beside Peter, a very quiet, still little figure, as he switched in and out of the city traffic.

Even Peter's driving was different now. He drove with the desperate skill and ingenuity of a mighty financier, alert to save every precious moment, rather than with his former ease.

He took the road to the falls, and stopped the car with a sudden jerk a few feet from their brink. The wind was blowing toward the falls, and the waters sparkled with a gleaming, vindictive beauty in the pale light of the moon.

Peter felt in his pocketbook for the check, took it out and balanced it airily between his thumb and forefinger.

"How much shall it be, Doris?" His young voice was very tired. It held the weariness of those who play the game for big stakes, who win to the last notch or lose all.

Doris did not reply immediately. She was fumbling with the knob which lowered the window on her side.

A sudden gale whirled through the car, caught the check from Peter's fingers in an eddying spiral, sent it in a perfect toss to the eagerly grasping falls.

Peter sprang out of the car and hurried to the edge of the falls. The dark, gleaming water whirled triumphantly on.

He returned silently to the car, shot the motor on, and drove furiously ahead for the distance of several miles. Doris trembled beside him, her cheeks hot, her hands cold. After all, she hadn't had to open the window for air right at that moment, but Peter was changing so terribly, and he hadn't mentioned marriage in three weeks.

"Well, kid, the check's gone, but I've got my two hands and my law degree—and, and, we've still got each other, haven't we? Let's get married."

KEEP STOMACH YOUNG!

Eat What You Want

When the food you eat goes into your acid-soaked stomach, it sours and can't digest, makes foul gas and sour bile. The blood takes these poisonous acids and carries them through the body. Naturally it makes you miserable and despondent, because your system is not nourished—you lose weight.

Pape's Diapepsin dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach. It digests the food; no more sour bile is taken up by the blood. Your appetite is like a youngster's again, and gradually you get back your health, flesh and energy.

Chew a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin after meals. It tastes good, and relieves the misery of indigestion in five minutes. It will keep your stomach young and vigorous so you can eat anything you want without being afraid of the consequences.

HE COUGHED SO BAD PEOPLE STARED-HAD TO LEAVE "MOVIE"

His Cough Worried Family, Ordinary Remedies Did Him No Good.

COUGHED WORSE NIGHTS OR WHEN INDOORS

"My husband months ago saw a doctor and was told there was nothing wrong with him, but that cough clung to him night and day. He would come from outdoors into a theatre or the house and soon he'd be hacking and barking terrible. Right in the midst of a movie he'd have to leave his seat. Neighbors commented on it.

He even took Cod Liver Oil, although he hated it, and quit before it did him any good. I finally told our doctor and he said: "Men are all alike and you can't blame them much, so go get him a big bottle of Linonine, it is a nice tasting Flaxseed, Eucalyptus, etc., mixture, far better than Cod Liver Oil and works quick.

RESULTS WONDERFUL

"He liked 'Linonine' so well he took it before meals until the whole bottle was gone. It not only stopped his cough—it built him up fine. I never saw medicine work such wonders before. Anybody with a cold or cough should use Linonine—and children love it."

A cough is dangerous this time of year. Well stocked druggists have Linonine, 60c or $1.00 sizes—or send dollar bill for large bottle parcels post. Kerr Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md.

CITY ORDERS FLU CASES REPORTED AFTER FEB. 15

Effective February 15, all Pittsburgh influenza cases must be reported to the Bureau of Infectious Diseases, Department of Health, according to an edict today from Dr. Charles B. Maits, director of health. Houses will not be placarded.

Responsibility for reporting the disease rests upon the attending doctor or if none is in attendance, the head of the house containing the patient must report to city authorities.

Symptoms outlined by health authorities include fever, aching of the body and limbs, catarrhal inflammation of the upper respiratory passages and marked prostration.

Colds, grippe and influenza are spread by the transference of discharges of the nose and throat of an infected person. Sneezing, coughing, spitting and loud talking close to another person are the means of transference.

Dr. Maits recommended the following requirements of an influenza case treated in the home:

The patient and sick room must be considered a definite focus of infection and visitation to such person or premises shall be avoided by all except medical and other attendants.

The demands of the patient are space, ventilation, sunlight and cleanliness.

The patient must have his own dishes, cups, spoons, glasses, etc., which should be boiled after using. Left-overs from each meal must be boiled and discarded.

Dishes, knives, forks and spoons etc., used by the patient, should be boiled for 10 minutes.

Influenza was made a reportable disease at a conference of health authorities of all the larger cities, called by the surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service in Washington, January 10.

EVERY INDIAN GRAVE IN COUNTY TO BE OPENED

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

BILL ROBSON, back in the newspaper business, after an experience as promotion man for various movie enterprises, and after a lecture tour, reports that the movies are getting away from the "promotion man" idea.

A promotion man in the film industry, you must know, was the man who took a picture and dramatized it in a way to catch the attention of the public. Supplementing the newspaper advertising, the promotion man visited the various mayors and got them to give the key to the city to the movie star who played the lead in the picture being exploited. Ice cream parlors were besieged and heckled into naming sundaes after the picture.

Clergymen were asked to indorse the picture, or better still, issue a hot interview intimating that anyone degraded enough to visit the picture would be taking his first big stride toward the lower regions.

I COULDN'T THINK OF INDORSING SUCH A PICTURE!
GREAT!

The promotion man worked by day, by night, and he was always a good-time Charley to all and sundry. Reporters were his special pets and many were the parties that were thrown on behalf of the leading lady or leading man in "Ashes of Vengeance," or "The Devil's Colleague."

Mr. Robson is but one of many who move away from the newspaper business to come back to do another hitch.

Quite a few of us will miss Andy Cronin, city hall reporter of the Pittsburgh Press, who died Tuesday. Officials and the rank and file around city hall will miss his humor and wit. A lifelong Pittsburgher,, in the newspaper business since boyhood—he had an army of friends.

* * *

WHAT street car conductor in Pittsburgh owns a gas well, a double apartment, raises Hartz Mountain canaries on the side and still finds time to run a one-man car?

A group of well-to-do Pittsburgh men were playing bridge—for no stakes. They could afford to play for 10 cents a point if they cared to. In the game was a newcomer who continually overbid his hand and was continually "set"—a thing that made the game uninteresting. He was asked if he would bid in that way if the game were for stakes and he said: "Of course not." He was then politely told that unless he played as if he were playing for 10 cents a point he wasn't wanted in the game. Wound up one of the well-to-do men: "We could play for money, but you see we work all day for money and at night we play bridge to forget for a time anything about making money."

WHICH leads to an observation about gambling in general. It has been the experience here to note that men making large salaries play for low stakes and that men making moderate salaries play a game that rich men would steer clear of. And I suppose that is one reason why there are rich men and poor men.

* * *

Bridge players, by the way, may be interested in a pending bill before the present session of the Legislature. It makes a misdemeanor of what is known as the "informatory frown." You know—when you lead a heart instead of a spade and your partner puts on a look that causes you to fear someone has approached him from the rear and planted a stilleto between his shoulder blades.

BUT-OFFICER HE PLAYED A HEART!
COME ON-TELL IT TO THE JUDGE!!

POST ARRANGES "JAMBOREE"

Members of North Boroughs Post 116, American Legion, are planning a "Valentine Jamboree" to be held next Tuesday night in Avalon Borough Hall. The entertainment program will include seven three-round boxing bouts, singing by the Negro Jubilee Singers of the Philadelphia Company and sketches by a cartoonist. Burgess Grant Ritchie of Avalon, will be master of ceremonies. The committee on arrangements includes C. L. Yost, A. A. Bowdle, Ray Halpin and H. B. Yost. H. S. Johnson is post commander.

3 Men Get 45 Cents In N. S. Holdup

Three men who broke into the confectionery store of August Tusachic, at 1718 Beaver avenue, obtained but 45 cents, a checkup of the store later revealed. Neighbors told police they saw the three men leave the establishment. A rear door had been broken open.

BOOSTERS SET PICNIC DATE

Brookline Boosters' Association at its regular monthly meeting held in the G. B. U. Hall, Brookline boulevard, made arrangements for its picnic to be held in West View Park, Thursday, June 13. Charles T. Cahill was elected general chairman of the picnic committee. The following were appointed to serve on the picnic finance committee: John Traegner, chairman; Simon Merkle and William Grimm.

The association decided to request the improvement of Starkamp and Sussex streets, which are reported in a very bad condition. A committee will appear before City Council at a later date.

The work on the installation of the new lighting system on Brookline Boulevard was started this week. Nine additional lights will be included in the change. Thomas Hester, president, presided.

SUN-TELEGRAPH CARRIERS IN HAZELWOOD LIKE JOBS

In the Hazelwood end of the Squirrel Hill district, as elsewhere, boys esteem it a privilege to be chosen to deliver the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. They prize the jobs so highly that when they lay it down they usually have chums or younger brothers to assume them.

John R. Bergquist, proprietor of the Hazel News Company, 4200 Murray avenue, called attention today to this fact as refuting the statement that news dealers are not considerate of their boys.

"Almost invariably," said Mr. Bergquist, "when one of my boys grows up or quits school and gets a full-time position, he turns over his route to a 'kid' brother or a pal.

"Far from feeling ill-treated, they are proud and happy in their work as carriers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. All have remained loyal."

The Sun-Telegraph is the only Pittsburgh evening or Sunday paper handled by the Hazel News Company's boys.

Trackwalker Killed By Pennsy Express

Struck by a fast passenger train, Ferdiando Bentoula, 50, of 7407 Tioga street, a Pennsylvania Railroad trackwalker, was killed last night a short distance west of the East Liberty station.

Cab Driver Turns Tables, Sues Motorist

Reversing the general order of damage suits in Common Pleas Court, a taxi driver has sued an automobilist for damages. He is Harold E. Pollard and he asks $15,000 damages from Victory Yoos, of Ambridge, saying that on December 18, 1928, Yoos so recklessly operated his car at Galveston and Western avenues as to wreck the taxi. Pollard says he suffered concussion of the brain and that his eyesight has been permanently impaired.

Disliked Yams, Leaves Home

CREIGHTON LOOS

Dislike of sweet potatoes is believed one of the reasons which led Creighton, 13, 17 Mildred street, Crafton, to run away from home. Last Monday, according to his father, the boy had words with his mother and was away from home until last night.

Wife Killed by Auto, Husband Asks $25,000

For the death of his wife, Alice Dalton, of Braddock, killed by an automobile December 9, 1928, Mason Dalton has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for $25,000 damages against Roy C. Cashdollar, of Pitcairn. He charges that Cashdollar allowed his automobile to crash against another machine and then careen onto the pavement at Sixth and Margaretta streets, Braddock, where, after knocking down a telephone pole, it crushed out the life of Mrs. Dalton, a pedestrian.

South Side Man Hit By Auto, in Hospital

Morris Hary, 50, 3409 Carson street, is in the St. Joseph's Hospital suffering bruises on his spine and shoulder, received when he was struck near his home by an automobile driven by James Lloyd More, 26 Marylea street, Mt. Oliver, yesterday. The driver was not arrested, according to the South Side police, who say Hary ran from the sidewalk directly in front of the automobile.

Small Fire in Plant Of Screw and Bolt Co.

North Side firemen were called out this morning to extinguish a small fire in the plant of the Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt Company, Preble avenue. Fire of undetermined origin caused $25 damage to a crane in the plant, the report to the Woods Run police station states.

Widening of 5th Ave. In 12th Ward Voted

BELLEVUE O.K.'S BIG BOND ISSUE

Bellevue Council at its monthly meeting Tuesday night authorized sale of $100,000 street improvement bonds voted by the people at the November election, 1927.

The Public Works Committee, consisting of H. B. Parker, Charles A. Saints and J. H. Caughey, is drawing up a schedule of improvements which will be submitted to Council for approval. It is considered likely that repaving a portion of Lincoln avenue will be included. This thoroughfare was repaved between car tracks by the Pittsburgh Railways Company two years ago. Last year the borough repaved its portion from the High Bridge to Straw avenue.

STREET ON N. S. TO BE CLOSED

Council has affirmed an ordinance authorizing the vacation of Walker street from Shore avenue to Strong street.

Manufacturing plants of the Miller Printing Machinery Company and the Grey Iron Foundry Company abut the section of street to be vacated, and the ordinance was sponsored by officials of those concerns, who seek additional area for expanding their industries.

Walker street, within the terminals mentioned in the ordinance, contains 6,179 square feet, for which the city will receive $1 a square foot before the measure becomes effective.

Carnegie Policemen May Get Wage Raise

Carnegie council tonight will discuss salary increases for members of the borough police force. Chief Christ Keisling will attend the meeting as will a number of local business men who have come out in favor of an increase for the policemen. The meeting will not be held in the usual hall but in the Carnegie Library. Chief Keisling plans to include an increased scale in his department budget which he will submit soon, he said last night.

Girl Monoxide Victim Revived at Hospital

Overcome by carbon monoxide poisoning, Helen Stark, 21, of 654 Eighth avenue, West Homestead, is in a serious condition in the Homestead Hospital today. The girl was found unconscious in her room last night and was taken to the hospital and revived. Miss Stark had come home from work, chilled, and had gone to the room to dry her clothes and to warm herself. It was more than two hours later when other occupants of the house found her.

Girl Slightly Hurt In Motor Collision

Elizabeth Hentig, of 38 Center avenue, Emsworth, was treated at the Presbyterian Hospital for cuts on the face early today, after her father's automobile had collided with another machine in Galveston avenue, North Side. Hentig was driving home with his daughter when his machine collided with the car of A. K. Evans, of 7179 Upland street.

Woman Collapses In Store and Dies

Collapsing in a Hazelwood store yesterday, Mrs. Leona Zruinski, 45, of 5152 Gloster street, was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital where she died last night from apoplexy, according to a report to the coroner. The woman was shopping in a meat market at 4850 Second avenue when she collapsed.

TRACING TIME'S "FINGERPRINTS"

DR. REINHART THIESSEN

Dr. Thiessen, U. S. Bureau of Mines, "looks through" coal, and sees in it indelible traces of life that flourished before history dawned. Each geological age has left a different formation in the coal beds, so he is able to identify each seam as readily as a Bertillon operator identifies human beings by their fingerprints. This has proved useful in settling legal disputes over ownership of coal beds.

Indestructible spores of plants that lived a million years ago. At the top is coal from the Pittsburgh seam, as it looks through the microscope. The white, flowerlike markings are spores. The lower photo is of Ruhr Valley coal.

PASSED LIGHT, TWO ARRESTED

William Scholl, 20, 820 Parkside avenue, and Joseph Kowal, 18, 984 Winnebago street, arrested yesterday by Patrolman Frank Kiedrowski on charges of violating the automobile laws, will get a hearing in Traffic Court tomorrow.

According to the police, Scholl was instructing Kowal how to drive a truck, when at South Tenth and Carson streets, according to the police, he told Kowal to pass the traffic beacon, with the stop light against them. Scholl is the regular driver of the truck and Kowal is the possessor of a learner's permit.

Auto Crashes Pole, Driver Fined $10

A. F. Doran, 31, Coraopolis, was fined $10 in Traffic Court yesterday, after it was testified that he struck an iron pole owned by the Pittsburgh Railways Company at Mary and South Eighteenth streets, Tuesday. Slight damage was done to the automobile. He was arrested by Patrolman Joseph Erford on a charge of reckless driving.

Honeymoon Brief, Weds and Sues Same Month

Brief was the honeymoon of Hobart M. Ferree, of West Elizabeth, according to the suit for divorce he has filed in Common Pleas Court against Mrs. Clara Ferree, McKeesport. He charges her with cruel and barbarous treatment, and says that they were married in January of this year and separated January 27.

WILKINSBURG G. O. P. WOMEN PRESENTED SILVER CUP

Presentation of a silver cup for securing the largest number of new members and the election of officers for the ensuing year marked the February meeting of the Wilkinsburg Council of Republican Women, held in the Windsor room of the Penn-Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg.

Mrs. C. A. Verner, president of the Allegheny County Council and a member of Gov. John Fisher's State Welfare Commission, made the presentation. Mrs. J. E. Holmes accepted the cup for the council.

New officers include:

Mrs. F. A. Myer, president; Mrs. J. E. Holmes, vice president; Mrs. H. B. Furlong, secretary; Mrs. T. W. Irwin, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Thompson, general membership chairman; Mrs. George Carr, chairman of the child welfare committee; Mrs. George R. Shaw, publicity chairman, and Miss Ann Whitter, chairman of the "first voter" committee.

Sub-chairmen on membership are: First Ward, Mrs. David Rankin, and Third Ward, Mrs. John Dean. No selection was made for the Second Ward. Mrs. Anna Hite is chairman of the campaign committee and Mrs. J. E. Holmes of the program committee.

East Boroughs to Hold Day of Prayer

The annual world day of prayer, sponsored by the council of women of the Home Missionary Society and Women's Board of Foreign Missions, will be observed in the Braddock, North Braddock, Rankin district February 15 in the First M. E. Church, Braddock.

Wyckoff St. Paving Voted by Council

Council has affirmed an ordinance authorizing the grading, paving and curbing of Wykoff street, Twentieth Ward, from Staffold street to Glasgow street.

Stray Dog Bites S. S. School Boy

William Irwin, 11, 703 Cabot way, reported to the South Side police that while playing in the hall of the Bedford Public School, South Tenth and Bingham streets, Tuesday afternoon, he was bitten on the left knee by a stray dog. His wound was cauterized at the South Side Hospital.

WIDE SEARCH FOR RELICS PLANNED

Every known Indian mound in Allegheny County is to be excavated. Every known Indian grave will be unearthed and search will be made on the sites of all defined trails and settlements of the red men.

The work is to be started in the spring and will be carried out under the direction of anthropologists engaged for the Pennsylvania Indian Survey. The undertaking will be state-wide. Its purpose is to preserve relics of the Indians who inhabited this section of the country.

DR. HOLLAND PIONEER

Preliminary investigations already made have revealed a score of sites for activities in the survey within this county. As early as 1898, Dr. William J. Holland, of the Carnegie Institute, excavated the famous hillock at McKees Rocks. He made rich finds in skeletons and skulls of Indians, ceremonial stones, snail shells, bone implements, fragments of pottery vessels, animal bones, arrow and spear points, flint chips and a complete stone cistern.

About 10 years ago Carnegie Institute scientists made excavations on the Darlington farm near Aspinwall, where tradition holds that Chief Guyasuta is buried. A complete skeleton of an Indian was found in a thick layer of yellow sand. Both McKees Rocks and Darlington farm finds are on view at the Institute.

MOUNDS TO BE REOPENED

Both of these mounds will be reopened by the scientists of the Pennsylvania Indian Survey, as well as the mound on the old Burgwin estate in Hazelwood. The site of Queen Aliquippa's tepee at McKeesport will be located and Shannopin's Town in the "strip" district, near Twenty-eighth street, will win new fame.

Ancient Logstown on the Ohio River near Legionville station, scene of George Washington's councils with august chiefs of the Western tribes, will get special attention from the state's archeologists.

The purpose of the survey is to make a scientific collection of the archeological remains of the earliest inhabitants of Pennsylvania in such a way that they can be systematically studied and understood. The remains will be classified according to several tribes and culture types existing within the state boundaries and placed in museums throughout the commonwealth. The survey is under the administration of the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies, the Pennsylvania Historical Commission and a committee of leading archeologists.

St. Canice Arranges Valentine Reception

A Valentine party and reception will be held next Monday evening by St. Canice Lyceum in the school hall, Orchard street, Knoxville. Music and other entertainment will be presented. The general committee consists of Jack Leahy, Enos Kirkpatrick, James Ferry, Joseph Brouker, Fred Burger, Paul Coudriet, Robert O'Brein, Patrick McCoy, Hubert Walsh, Gerard Sterheim, Gilbert Carney, John Stafford, Miss Helen Trinkley, Miss Mae Lyons, Miss Beatrice Keherer, Miss Kitty O'Brein, Miss Betty Byrne, Miss Grace O'Brein, Miss Margaret McGee, Miss Margaret Walsh, Miss Mary Coulehan, Miss Gertrude McLaughlin, Miss Margaret Bright, Miss Ida Malone, Miss Catherine Smythe, Miss Margaret McGraw and Miss Helen Bolger.

West View Names Medical Inspector

Dr. Clarence W. Cummings, of Chalfonte avenue, West View, has been named school medical inspector by the borough school board. Heretofore medical inspection has been done through the State Health Department. The growing number of children was held to [illegible] services of a resident physician.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Bisurated Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Acid Indigestion.

Gas in the stomach accompanied by a full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous, because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful or four tablets in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never in liquid or milk), is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

666 vs. INFLUENZA

To combat the flu, take 666 every three hours till it acts well on the bowels, then three times a day. As a preventive, take it two or three times a day. 666 was found to be one of the most effective remedies during the last flu epidemic.

Leisenring Minister Denies He Resigned

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 7.—Members of the Redstone Presbytery, called into session April 8, in Masontown, will be called upon to settle the factional fight which has developed in the Presbyterian churches at Leisenring No. 1 and 2, where the Rev. W. W. Dinsmore is the pastor. Mr. Dinsmore denies that he has resigned and R. K. Warnock, a member of the board of deacons, says that the clergyman appeared before a congregational meeting and voluntarily presented his resignation.

Difference of opinion as to the conduct of the services is said to have caused the break between the pastor and the congregation.

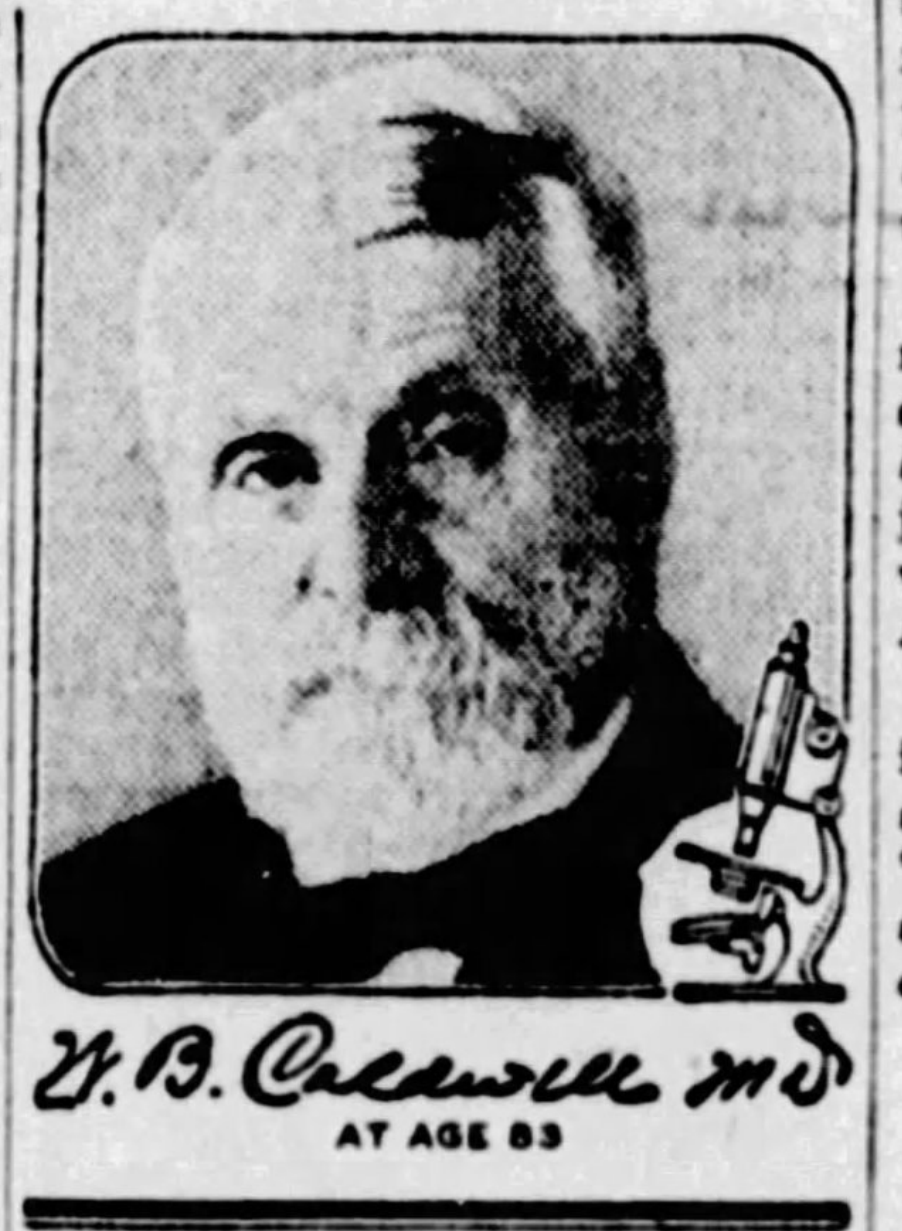
Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription



W. B. Caldwell, M.D.
AT AGE 83

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health: keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

Why not try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today?

Science proves that California Oranges have

Richest Juice Finest Flavor

EVERY way you weigh equality in Oranges adds your appreciation to the superiority of luscious, juicy California Sunkist Seedless Navels of this winter season. No other Oranges the world-over match them either in richness or in flavor.

And, through analysis, Science now proves what your taste has always told you—California Sunkist Oranges have the Richest Juice and Finest Flavor! They give you an extra-wealth of the soluble solids—fruit sugars and healthful fruit acids (alkaline in reaction). Their full-bodied, deep-color juice indicates their content of vitamins and mineral salts. Compare it with paler types of Orange Juice.

Salads and desserts made with California Sunkist Seedless Navels are wonderfully satisfactory in preparation because the Seedless meat is firm, yet lusciously tender and juicy. These Seedless Oranges may be sliced very thin, or segmented without mussiness. And, they're so much easier to peel!

"Sunkist" Oranges are chosen from California's finest crops according to rigid standards. Your buying guide is the name "Sunkist" stamped on the tissue wrapper and on the skin—assurance of uniform quality.

Sunkist Serenaders

"Sunkist Serenaders," famous as Pacific Coast Radio Entertainers, are on the air over the Red Network of the National Broadcasting Company every Wednesday evening at the hour specified below. How an Expectant Mother Prepared for Baby's Coming

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering experienced during expectancy, as well as at childbirth, is entirely unnecessary.

Tight tissues, binding muscles, sensitive nerves—all tend to set up an aggravated condition—sapping strength and leaving the expectant mother unprepared to meet the crisis.

Mother's Friend is a comfort to expectant mothers. Externally applied, it relieves prenatal distress by relaxing tight tissues and muscles. And it is so soothing. Its daily use makes the skin soft and pliable.

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Mother's Friend is the discovery of an eminent physician. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. For over three generations Mother's Friend has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Begin using Mother's Friend today. The sooner the better. Sold by drug stores—everywhere.

ENDS 10 YEARS OF ILL HEALTH

Local Man's Stomach and Bowel Trouble Yields to New Medicine, Ten Herbs.

"I can truthfully say that my health is 100% better since taking Ten Herbs," said Mr. John S. Bright, 86 Pius Street, South Side, Pittsburgh. "I had been troubled with indigestion for the past 10 years," continued Mr. Bright, who is employed by the Ford Motor Co., in this city. "My stomach would fill with gas, which would crowd up around my heart and cause severe palpitation and shortness of breath. I lost all desire for any kind of food. I was always constipated and continually used laxatives. I often had headaches, and my vision would become blurred. Nervousness began to trouble me, and I could not sleep well at night. I always felt tired and wornout. My health finally became so poor that at times I was compelled to remain away from my work. I was told that I had appendicitis, and had almost made up my mind that such might be the case.

"When I heard of Ten Herbs I began using this medicine and before long it ended my health troubles. Indigestion and gas pains have disappeared. I am free of shortness of breath and heart palpitation. My appetite has never been better than it is now. I have no more headaches or blurring of vision. Constipation has been entirely relieved, and I no longer have to use laxatives. I get a good night's sleep and do not feel tired out like I used to. I never lose a day's work now. I gladly recommend Ten Herbs to others."

Thousands of other persons throughout this section have been helped back to glorious health by Ten Herbs—many after numerous other medicines had failed. This amazing new medicine offers hope to every sufferer from stomach, liver, kidney or bowel trouble. It goes to the very source of such disorders, removes the cause, and thoroughly cleanses and tones up the whole system.

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Drug Store, Fifth and Liberty Avenues, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May Stores.

For Cold Drink Hot Tea!

Don't let a cold develop into flu! At the first chill or feverish feeling, go right to your druggist and get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea. Put a tablespoonful of this Hamburg Tea into a strainer, pour a cup of boiling water over it, and drink it at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and relieve grippe, as it heats the body and opens the bowels. This breaks up congestion and frees the body of poisons. Hamburg Breast Tea is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

'29 "Bouquet of Rosebuds" Likely to Be Rather Unwieldly Corsage

PITTSBURGH'S "bouquet of rosebuds," if I may be permitted to lift a phrase bodily from an out-of-town paper, seems bent on growing as large as possible; in fact, to continue the simile, I am afraid it is going to be a rather unwieldy corsage for "society" to wear next season. It will be interesting, though, to watch so many girls take the plunge into the grown-up world at the same time, and there is just a chance that this greatly increased list of debutantes may have the gratifying effect of forcing the season well into the new year.

Just now, however, it is equally interesting to see this band of debutantes-to-be slowly gather together. One by one, this girl or that joins the group, and while the official number seems to be 45, it is likely that there will be additions as late as next fall to bring it still higher.

I had been wondering if Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw III, who live in Fifth avenue, New York, would be bringing their daughter, Virginia, to make her debut in Pittsburgh, where they have so many friends and relatives. So far as I have been able to find out, though, Virginia is going to come out in New York next fall, and it is unlikely that she will put in an appearance here at all next winter.

One definite addition to our own group is Marie Louise Bickford, daughter of the Warren I. Bickfords, of Devon road. Louise is a pupil at Miss Porter's School at Farmington, you know, and she will be graduated in June, in time to make her debut with this unusually large group of girls. Mrs. Bickford hasn't set a definite date for her tea, but it will be held some time next fall.

TO get down to dates a little closer to us on the calendar, I want to tell you a little about the Stage and Play Society performance last night. The weather,—and it scarcely could have been worse, could it?—didn't prevent quite a large crowd from going to Carnegie Music Hall to see these amateur actors put on three short plays, and put them on well.

The casts were just as I told you before. In Carroll Fitzhugh's "The Snake," the roles were taken by Madeleine McClintock, Mrs. J. L. Dawson Painter, James Macfarlane and Fielder Clarke, while taking part in "The Farewell Supper," written by Arthur Schnitzler, were Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin Browne, Harold Geohegan and John Rothenstein. The third play was "Mis' Mercy," and taking part in it were Mrs. John H. K. Burgwin, Helen West, who was a debutante this season, you know; Ray E. Hurd, C. F. C. Arensberg, Jr., and Oliver Evans. This play is a Harvard Workshop product, written by Louise Whitfield Bray. And I don't believe I told you before that Mrs. H. Allen Machesney was general stage manager for the performance.

After the play, Carroll Fitzhugh, who is president of the society, and Mrs. Fitzhugh gave a supper in the Pittsburgh Golf Club with the members of the various casts as their guests.

AMONG the few parties being given just at present was the buffet supper which Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Ruff, of Sewickley, gave last night in their home. Their guests of honor were their daughter, Dorothy, and also Gwendolin Morgan, daughter of the Howard Morgans, who left today for Tarrytown, N. Y., where they will make their home in the future.

Among others who have changed their place of residence are the Charles Lyttleton Lyons, who have been living at the Kenmawr. Mr. and Mrs. Lyon are occupying Mrs. J. Howard McFeely's house in Devon road for the next three months, I've been told.

THE senior and junior classes of the Sacred Heart High School will present three one-act plays tonight in the Guild Hall, Center avenue, under the direction of Miss Bertha Fuhrer. The cast of "The Ghost Story" includes Mary Koontz, Graham Hall, Valette Epping, Lawrence Smith, Robert Johnston, Marjorie Campbell, Mary Holler, Eveline Sanker and Joseph Connelly; for "The Broken Commandment," Harry Donabedian, Clarissa Galliot, James McQuillan, Genevieve Ryan, Inez Galbraith, J. Vincent Burke and Richard Nugent, and for "Eether or Eyther," Mary Dennis, William McKenna, John Cannon, Margaret Dugan, Ann Louise Diebold, Edward McBride, Loretta and James Reilly.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Williams, of Laketon Heights, Wilkinsburg, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ethelyn Gleiss Williams, and Charles Ellsworth Ashton, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Ashton, of Brushton avenue, which was solemnized last Saturday at noon in the home of the Rev. William R. Wigton, pastor of the Laketon Heights Methodist Episcopal Church. Miss Anne Marguerite Meister, of Hazelwood, and Albert Leo Edwards, of Wilkinsburg, were the attendants.

Mrs. Finley Weisenberger, president of the Junior Section of the Women's Club of Crafton, will provide the aides to assist the tea committee composed of Mrs. William E. Morgan, Mrs. C. C. Marshall, Mrs. R. A. McKinney, Mrs. J. W. Miller, Mrs. Harlow S. Lewis and Mrs. Harvey Scheetz. Tea will be served in the lounge from 3 to 4:30, as is the daily custom of the club.

MEMBERS of the Pittsburgh Drama League will be guests of the officers and the supporting members at a tea in Kaufmann's tomorrow. This, the first social meeting of the League for the current season, has been arranged as part of the observance of National Drama Week. Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin Browne, of the drama department, Carnegie Institute of Technology, will present "Hamlet, a Shortened Version," during the afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Jones Sherrill and Mrs. H. Allen Machesney will pour. In the receiving line will be Elmer Kenyon, Miss Elizabeth Howe, Mrs. Philip N. Rinehart, Chester B. Story, Miss [illegible] Dean, Mrs. Albert Pettit, Mrs. Lane Thompson, J. Benedict, Miss Eliza T. Edwards, F. M. Wilmot, Wayne Paulin, Mrs. Thomas C. Clifford, Marvin T. Herrick, and Mrs. David P. Bennett, and the supporting members of the League. Miss Vanda E. Kerst is general chairman.

CITIZENSHIP BEST DEFENSE, RUTH BRYAN OWEN SAYS

Citizenship and statesmanship are the best weapons for defense of the United States, Ruth Bryan Owen, congresswoman-elect from Florida, declared last night in an address in Carnegie Lecture Hall. Mrs. Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, emphasized the necessity of each individual interesting himself in governmental affairs for the good of the republic.

Mrs. Owen spoke last night under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Branch of the Women's International League for Peace. Her subject was "Open Doors." She pointed out the accomplishments of women in the last decade in civic matters and pictured the effect on international affairs that united women might bring about.

The speaker defended the modern young men and women. She said they were no worse than their forebears and if they were taught their civic responsibilities, this nation in the future would profit greatly.

Although Mrs. Owen believes that the woman's place is in the home, she defended their taking interest in civic matters because of the ultimate reaction on their household. Such activity, she said, although it may not have been regarded as proper some 35 years ago, is a worthy work.

Cora Helen Coolidge, president of the Pennsylvania College for Women, introduced Mrs. Owen. Mrs. Harry G. Samson was chairman of the patronesses. Miss Coolidge explained the purposes of the peace league, prior to the address of Mrs. Owen.

HE WAS LIFELESS AND DESPONDENT

But ALL-BRAN Made Him Wide-Awake and Well—Doctor Prescribed It.

CONSTIPATION ruins hopes, saps strength. Yet thousands of sufferers have found the way to relieve and prevent this disease. Read how this man rid his system of constipation:

"During the three years before ALL-BRAN cured me, I experienced more embarrassing moments than I care to tell of. Being lifeless, dull, loggy and despondent, I could not keep my job. My friends didn't want my company and I was tired of being asked 'What in the world is the matter with you?'

"After spending much money for treatment, I finally found a doctor who advised me to eat ALL-BRAN three times a day. I did this for three months and I didn't need to be told that I looked better . . . I felt better and acted better . . . I am still using ALL-BRAN every morning and have no trouble now whatsoever." (Name and address upon request.)

Guard against constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent it—to relieve it. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Far better than habit-forming drugs and pills.

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it because it promotes natural elimination. Serve it with milk or cream. Use it in cooking—muffins, bread, etc. Delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining cars service it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

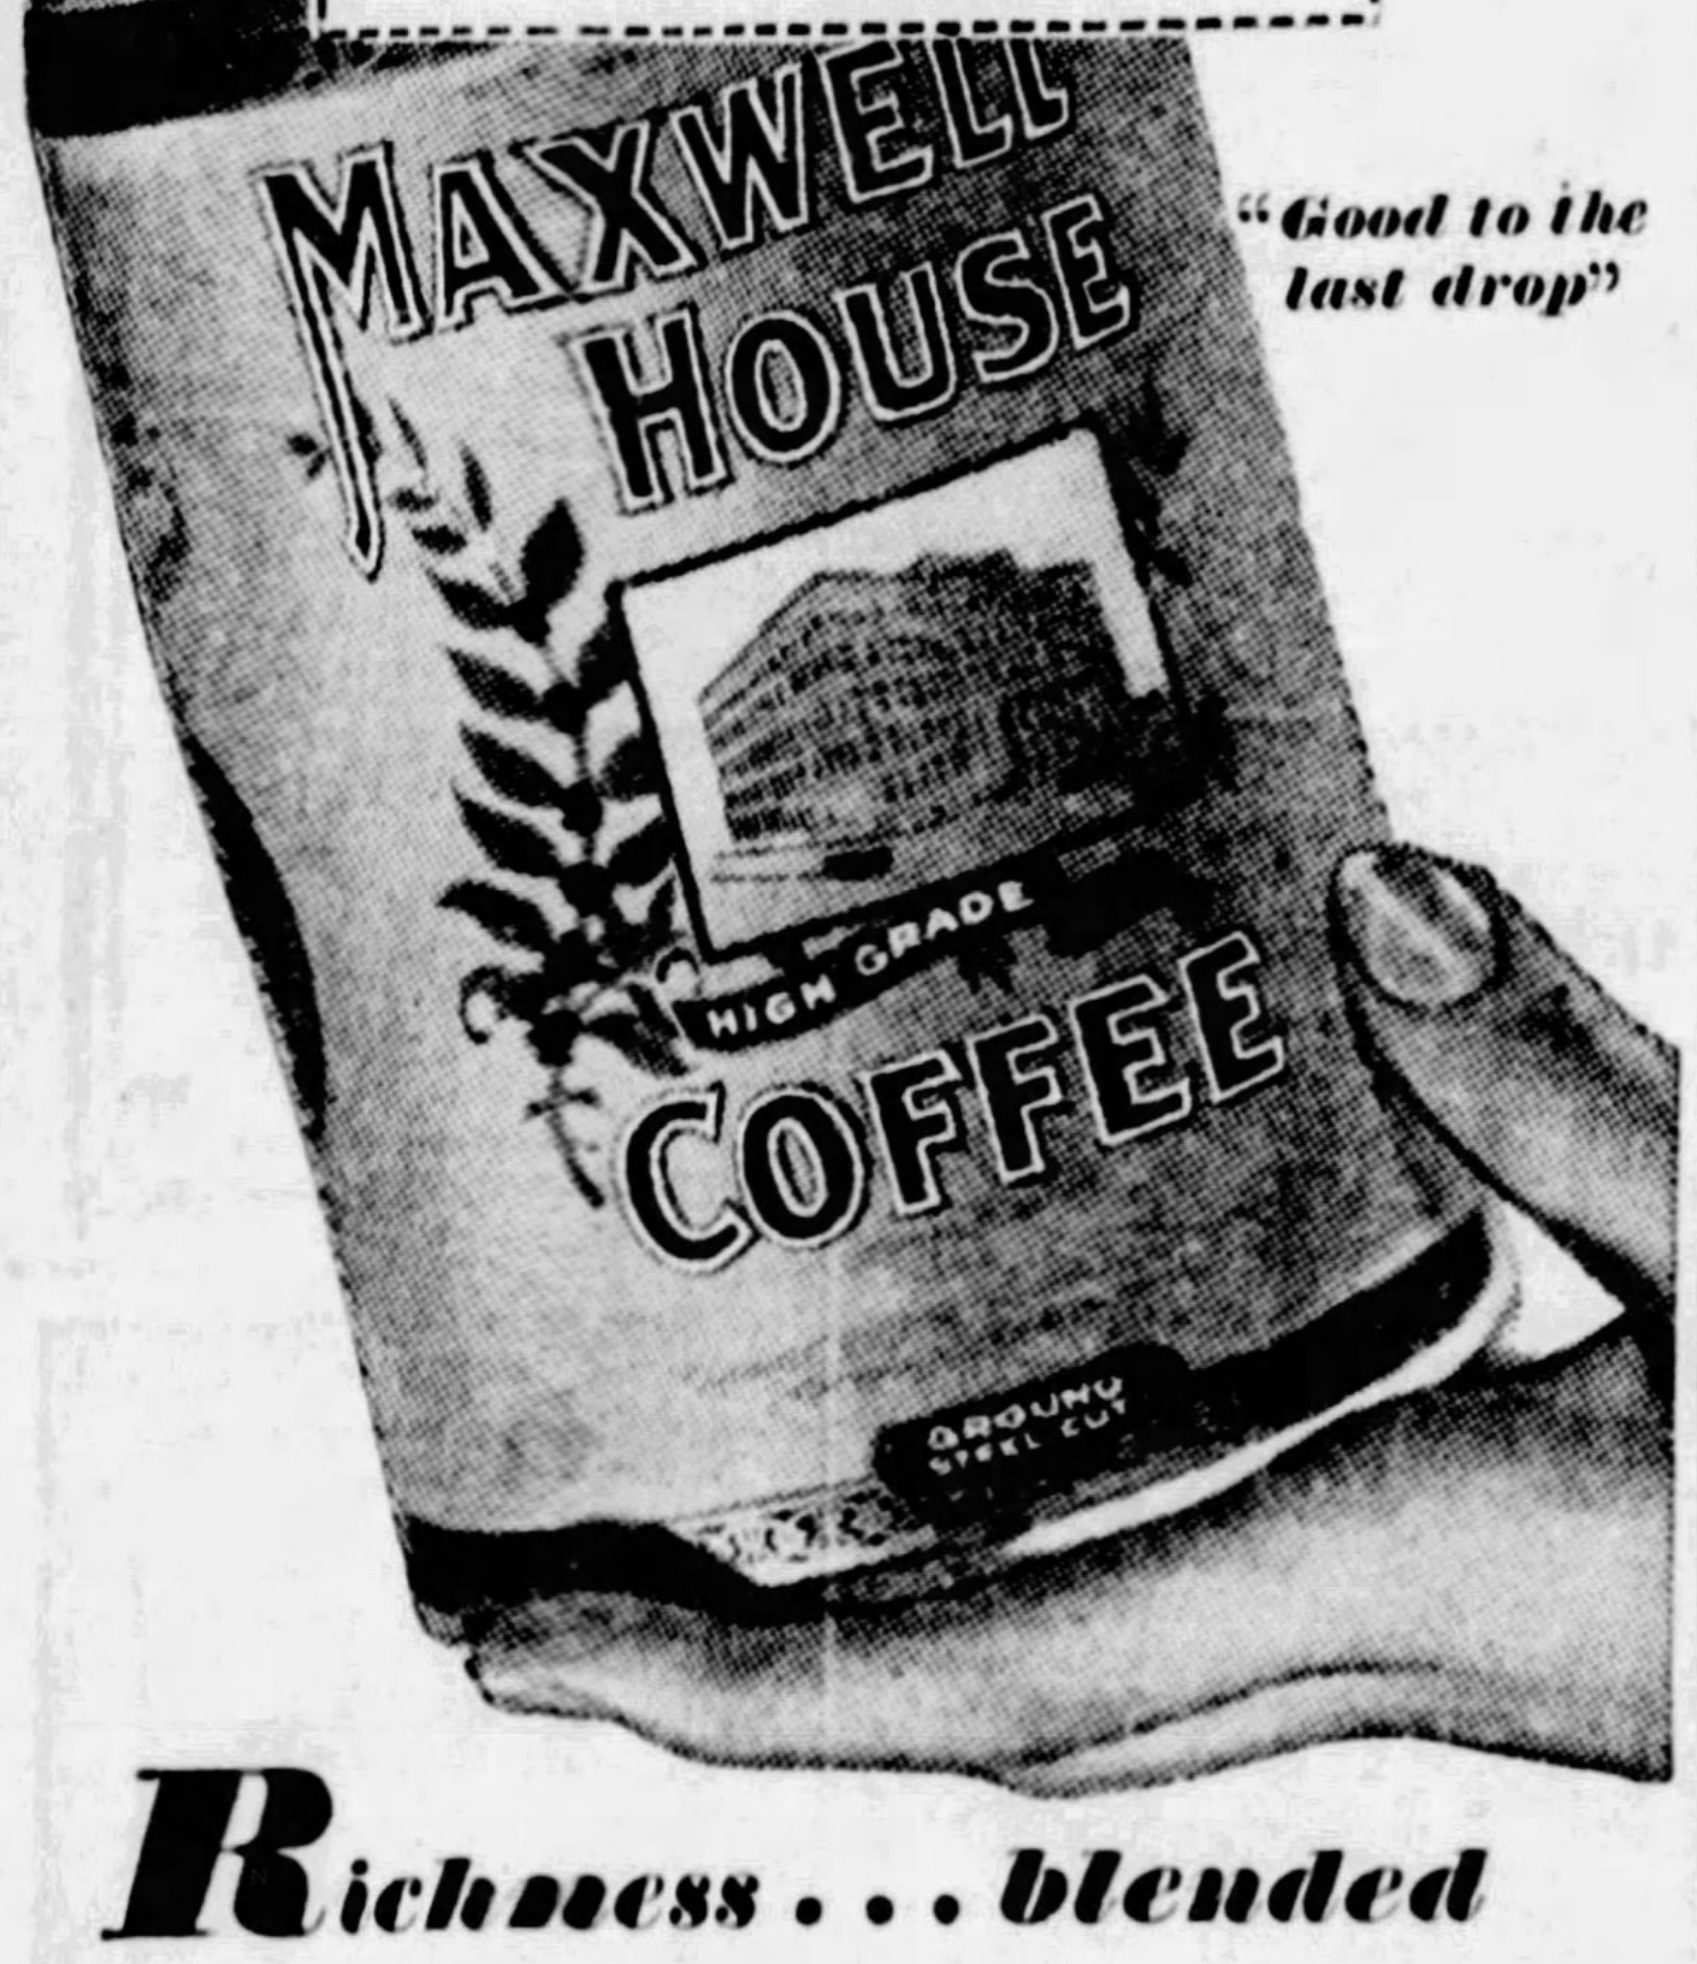
NORWEGIAN "TREK KAFFE"—Use a heaping tablespoon of Maxwell House Coffee for each cup and one extra "for the pot." Place in a cheese-cloth bag, drop in the pot and pour over it as many cups of freshly boiling water as there are people to be served. Pour out a cup and pour back over the coffee three or four times; then serve.



"Good to the last drop"

Richness . . . blended from many choice coffees

A GENTLEMAN of the Old South spent months of patient, skillful labor combining, testing, rejecting, re-combining the "winy" coffees of Arabia, the "mild" of Java, the "syrupy" pungent coffees of Brazil.

At last his persistence was rewarded with an entirely new coffee flavor—a blend, smooth, rich, mellow, full-bodied, yet full of life and sparkle.

This delicious blend got its first fame—and its name—from the celebrated old Maxwell House in Nashville, Tennessee, whose guests pronounced the coffee "good to the last drop."

Today Maxwell House Coffee is pleasing more people than any other coffee ever offered for sale. It will please you. Your grocer has it, sealed in tin to protect all its fine flavor.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

GUNMEN ROB OIL MAN OF $900

Two young men robbed Gustav Bedorf, collector for the American Oil Company, of $900 this morning.

Bedorf stopped his car in front of the company's station, 1200 Washington boulevard, to get yesterday's receipts. As W. A. Richardson, attendant, passed overe the money, another car pulled up and two men alighted.

The license number obtained by the station attendant revealed that the plates had been stolen from the car of Dr. John J. Wertz, Wilkinsburg, as it stood at the Schenley apartments this morning. The discarded plates found beside the Wertz car were turned over to police, who believe the holdup men were using a car previously stolen.

WHO'S GUILTY????

CAN YOU SOLVE THIS DETECTIVE STORY?

Finger Prints Can't Lie

By Evelyn Johnson and Gretta Palmer

THE morning of the day we declared war on Germany, I was aroused at 1 o'clock by a phone call.

"This is Mrs. Booth," said a voice. "I've heard of you and you're badly needed. Will you come over?"

I went to the address she had given, and found a nice little semi-detached villa.

"Mrs. Booth?" I asked.

"Yes," said the pleasant-faced middle-aged woman who answered the door. "But the trouble is next door. I was awakened by screams about half an hour ago coming from the Marcus'. I knew that the doctor had gone to Germany on his lecture trip this afternoon, so I thought I had better go over. Mrs. Marcus has been quite sick; that is why the doctor couldn't take her with him, although he is so devoted to her, and they had been planning to make this trip together for months. I got my clothes on and ran over, and found the door closed but not locked. I went in and called the maid, Mary, and no one answered, although it was not her regular night out, and Mrs. Marcus was still in bed. I ran upstairs and found Mrs. Marcus writhing on the bed in horrible agony. She was dead a minute after I got there, and never said a word. The maid came in as she died. I called Dr. Mills and he said it looked like strychnine poisoning, so I phoned you. He is over there now."

WE went over to the other house. The woman was lying in a bed in a nicely furnished room on the second floor. Dr. Mills was bending over her, but as I came in he observed that there was no use. He pointed to a bottle of capsules on the bedside table.

"I thought I had better not touch that bottle," he said. "There are finger marks on it, and I'll guarantee it contains strychnine."

The autopsy confirmed the doctor's diagnosis. A fatal amount of strychnine was found in her stomach. Dr. Marcus' closet of poisons had been broken open and the strychnine tampered with. There were good finger prints there, too. I got some excellent photographic enlargements. Nothing else in the laboratory had apparently been touched. The doctor had had very varied tastes, evidently, as I found photographic and engraving materials as well as the most elaborate chemical and medical equipment. There were finger prints all over. I got some good ones of the doctor's, but to make certain, I developed prints from instruments no one but he had had access to. Besides, there were no other finger prints in the laboratory except the one's I took to be his and a few I afterwards found to be Mary's. I then questioned Mary, the maid. Her story was that the doctor had told her that she could go out that evening, as Mrs. Marcus was much better, and had given her tickets to a play. The only train she could get from London to the suburb they lived in was one that got there at 12:02. It was a short walk from the station, and when she got to the house she heard horrible screams. She had gone up and found her mistress dying, with both Mrs. Booth and Dr. Mills there. They often left the door unlocked.

I TOOK her finger prints, and went home. I developed all my finger prints and looked at the bottle of capsules curiously. In what I ascertained to be Dr. Marcus' handwriting, it said, "One at bed time." Each of the 10 or 15 capsules contained enough strychnine to kill a horse.

My finger prints were ready, so I compared them. The prints on the capsule bottle and on the poison closet were identical, and both tallied with Mary's. The doctor's were utterly different.

I went back to the house where the tragedy had taken place, but the only important thing I found was an envelope in the wastebasket in Mrs. Marcus' room containing capsules of a harmless sedative. Mary was finally acquitted, however, as no motive was ever adduced and an English jury does not like to convict a woman on circumstantial evidence.

Several other interesting facts had come out. Dr. Marcus had been a German spy of no small importance, so it is not odd that his "lecture tour" took place just when it did, as he had in all likelihood known that war would be declared.

One day after the trial, I paid a visit to Mary. I felt somehow that there had been a mistake, and I wanted to make further investigations. My efforts at the time of the trial had been greatly hampered by the fact that her lawyer was convinced that she was guilty, and had resented what he called my misplaced zeal in trying to vindicate her. He had refused to let me see her and had convinced her that I was working against her.

WITH a great deal of difficulty, I managed to persuade her that I was really friendly, and begged her to allow me to question her. She finally agreed. I asked her to tell me everything she had observed in the house the day of the murder. She told me that the doctor had wakened up at 7:30, as he always did, and she had given him breakfast downstairs and taken a tray up to Mrs. Marcus. The doctor had shut himself up in his laboratory from 9 to 12, and Mrs. Marcus had worked at a tapestry. The doctor's mother had come for lunch. It seems that she detested her daughter-in-law, feeling that her constant illness was mere malingering. They had had a stormy interview until the doctor had intervened. The old lady had spent the time while he was getting ready to leave for Germany down in the living room, while Mary helped the doctor with his packing.

"Was the mother alone downstairs?" I asked.

"Oh, yes," said Mary.

"Was the laboratory unlocked?"

"Yes, I noticed the door was open when I went down to get a duster."

"Go on," I said.

"Then the doctor asked his mother if she wouldn't come up and make up with his wife, as he did not want to go away and leave them estranged. He seemed terribly excited and insistent about it. He was awfully fond of his mother."

"WERE the capsules there then?"

"Yes, he had just given them to her and told her to be sure and take one if she couldn't sleep, as she needed plenty of sleep. Then his mother came in and kissed his wife rather unwillingly and the doctor and I went to tie up his luggage, and pretty soon the doctor went down to close up his laboratory. I came down to the kitchen just before he left and found him by the stove. He was putting something in the fire. There was a terrible fire going, and I told him it was too hot. So afterwards I lowered the fire in the range, and when I took out the ashes I found it must have been some rubber gloves that he had been burning, as I found the wrist and stubs of the fingers of one although all the rest had been burnt up."

I was deep in thought. If it had been the mother-in-law, that would account for the fact that the other pills had been discovered. She had only had time to toss them in the waste basket before some one came in. But Mary's finger prints? And the rubber gloves?

There was nothing I could do at the time of my interview with Mary, but early in 1919 I determined that I would unearth Marcus and get to the bottom of the mystery. I won't stop to recount all the vicissitudes that I went through to locate him. Finally I thought I had the doctor, anyway. The mother had died in 1917.

I TOOK the train for Munich. On the train I studied a photograph of the doctor that Mary had given me. It was a full-length portrait that I had ascertained from several neighbors to be a perfect likeness. He was a straight, well-built man, slender, with a fine sensitive face, a long-pointed nose with sculptured nostrils and a thin-lipped mouth. The brow was high and smooth and straight. He had delicate hands with long, tapering fingers, and small feet. Mary had also given me a careful description of him. He had very fine, smooth skin, she said, and she was sure he was five-feet nine, because she had seen his passport. I would be certain to know him.

When I reached my destination, a nurse opened the door, and told me that Dr. Schwartz was out. Dr. Schwartz was the man I was sure was Marcus. She asked me to come into the waiting room and I gladly accepted the opportunity to have a look around. I was in luck, for the door to his office was open. I looked about the desk carefully, but everything there was thoroughly impersonal, except for a book which was lying open. It had markers in it and had been much thumbed. I looked at the title, "Gushing," it said, "The Pituitary Body."

HE looked at me inquiringly.

"Dr. Schwartz?" I said.

"Yes," he replied.

It was not my man at all. This man was six feet tall, with great rugged, craggy features. His eyes were sunk, and his brow furrowed; he had a thick, heavy nose, and great pendulous lips. His skin was thick and wrinkled and pachydermatous. He had large nobby hands and huge feet. He was terribly stooped and dull-eyed.

But I wanted to be sure; so when I saw that as he talked to me about my purely imaginary ailment, he fingered his paper cutter, I took the liberty to put it in my pocket when his back was turned.

I took out the paper cutter when I got home, and developed the beautiful finger prints with which it was covered.

They were exactly like the prints Dr. Marcus had left all over his laboratory!

Who murdered Mrs. Marcus, and how do you account for the confusion in finger prints?

Solution of Yesterday's Mystery Story: "Bill"

IF you realize that Bill, "the clever old bird" was a fighting cock, it is not difficult to deduce that he ate some of the poisoned cornmeal in the package which Jed's boy had torn open with shot. This package had been substituted for the original one in the encounter at the store, and the holes from the shot had permitted some of the poisoned food to leak out. Bill of course gobbled it up.

Cash Awards for Best Mystery Story Solutions

EVERY day the Sun-Telegraph will print a mystery story on this page. The correct solution, written by the authors, will appear the day following the publication of each story except the one printed on SATURDAY.

Each SATURDAY there will be printed an original, or PRIZE STORY, by the same authors, the solution of which is in a sealed envelope. Prizes will be paid only on stories appearing on that day. Everybody is invited to send in their solutions of the SATURDAY PRIZE STORY. For the best three solutions in point of accuracy, brevity, clarity and completeness, the following cash prizes will be awarded:

FIRST PRIZE..........$10.

Three prizes of $5 each for the next three.

Contestants for the PRIZE STORY AWARD will have from Saturday morning until the following THURSDAY night at 6 o'clock, to send in their solutions. Letters postmarked after that time cannot be accepted, as judges must be able to render their decisions on the prize winners in time to make the following Saturday's editions, when the correct solution of the PRIZE STORY, along with the names of the winners, will be printed with another PRIZE STORY for you folks to tackle.

Address your solution to the Mystery Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

NANCY DEANE By Roy L. Foley

CHAPTER XXVIII.

FOR two days after the Washington revue Nancy was walking on clouds. The style shows at the other towns on Saturday and Sunday nights were repetitions of success. Nancy had made $60. Sixty dollars for a few nights' work. By Sunday night she felt like a seasoned style show performer.

With that $60 Muddy O'Day could buy a new kitchen range, almost. On Monday morning the last $15 she had earned was in the mail.

Even Harriet Crosby seemed to appear more agreeable that Monday morning.

Nancy hummed as she worked:

"I want to be happy,
But I can't be happy,
'Till I make you happy, to-o-o—"

Harriet even joined in the chorus once and Nancy smiled to herself. What a grand old world it was getting to be. With all their faults, people weren't so bad. It was wonderful to be alive.

"Telegram for Miss O'Day!"

The messenger boy came in with such a slam and a bang and declared himself so quickly, that his "sign here, please" caught Nancy with her mouth open, still singing, "happy, to-o-o—."

She tore open the yellow envelope to read.

"Come home. Your father, Montgomery Deane, is here. Very ill. Wants to see you.

"Mother O'Day."

Nancy read the words over and over again before she could get their meaning. Her father!

Why, she had no father other than Darry O'Day. There was no Montgomery Deane except the Montgomery Deane who lived in the Mansion on Fifth avenue.

Nancy stood so still, so white that Harriet rushed to her.

"What is it, Miss O'Day, what is it? Has something terrible happened? Is somebody dead?"

"No, not dead," Nancy answered, "but someone has risen from the dead."

She almost handed the telegram to Harriet, but checked herself.

"I've got to go home," she said. "Tonight."

Just then the buzzer called Harriet to Wescott's office. She grabbed her notebook and hurried into the front office, leaving Nancy there, the telegram in her hand.

"— — Montgomery Deane is here. Very ill. Wants to see you."

Could it be true? Could it really be true? Could this be a hoax of some kind? She wasn't asleep? This wasn't a dream, was it? Nancy jumped up and started walking back and forth across the office. No, she wasn't asleep. Anyone asleep didn't feel things, see things like this.

There was a train for Washington at 8:15. She decided she would take it, not telling anyone the truth of why she was going home so suddenly. She would tell them Mrs. O'Day was sick. That would be excuse enough to get away from the office. She would have to tell Howard Wescott that.

How could she? Already she had received more privileges than most girls would have been granted if they had been employed for years. How could she ask Wescott for another favor, another leave from the office; what would Harriet Crosby and the others think?

Even now she could read these girls' glances. She knew she would have to get down to business, avoiding Howard Wescott in every way that wasn't of a business nature, unless he wanted ugly things to be said about her.

"I simply cannot go on like this," she mused, half aloud.

She cut her own words short, for like a flash she remembered this was the day on which she was to meet Mrs. Montgomery Deane, her own grandmother. And Howard Wescott's mother.

This was the day they were to give her instructions in the checking of lists and the addressing of invitations for their social function.

Fate was playing some funny tricks with her. Her life was getting to be a regular drama—well, wasn't she an actress? Fate knew it if she didn't. And Fate must have smiled at the golden-headed girl in Howard Wescott's office, the girl burning with curiosity to meet the grandmother who did not know she existed who was going to see the father she never knew.

Nancy tried to imagine how her father had happened to turn up at Washington after all these years. What he looked like. How he had ever found the O'Days. She still clutched the telegram with its meager, unbelievable message. Twice she had gone to the telephone and taken the receiver from the hook to ask for long distance, and twice she had told the operator she had changed her mind.

If she did call, it would have to be through the phone of one of Mrs. O'Day's neighbors. Nancy knew that Mud and Darry must be in a state of excitement as it was. That it was an ordeal for them to hear over the telephone. Besides by telephoning through a neighbor, the news of Montgomery Deane's return would be spread from one end of the town to another. The reporters would be there again, asking a thousand questions, seeking pictures.

And what if they should discover who Montgomery Deane really was!

Nancy knew now that it was inevitable, that if her father were alive in Washington, that his own father and mother must hear of it somehow, together with her own story, and that couldn't be concealed forever.

She hurried along Fifth avenue, every muscle tense. She held her bit of square patent leather handbag so hard that her fingers ached. She had opened the purse half a dozen times in as many blocks for the address, which Howard Wescott had scribbled on a piece of paper. It was silly to do this, too, Nancy knew, because she had seen the Deane home before.

In her purse was the note John Blair had written her so recently. every time she opened her purse she seemed to take courage just by looking at the strong handwriting on the envelope. How odd, it was, she thought, that every time she got panicky, she thought of John. He was beginning to represent strength and kindness though she didn't see it clearly.

She half hoped he was somewhere near now to give her some of his strength, to advise her. Somehow she felt that she could confess everything to him, every little secret and fear and repression, and that he would understand.

Try as she would, she could not conjure up a picture of Mrs. Deane, her grandmother. The very word, grandmother, always made her think of old Grandma Bixby, back home who was grandma to everybody in town, whose cookie jar had made children her everlasting friends. Grandma Bixby wore frilly white lace caps and had red cheeks.

Against her own common sense, Nancy tried to make herself believe that the woman she was going to see for the first time this afternoon, would be like Mrs. Bixby.

She started talking to herself, oblivious to people passing on the avenue, and more than one surprised person turned to watch the yellow haired girl hurrying so, saying things to herself and making funny little motions, as though she was engaged in earnest conversation with someone by her side.

At last, through the great trees that bordered the avenue and shaded the lawns of the rich and mellowed homes, quite grand still, in their Victorian way, Nancy caught sight of the white stone Deane home. Immediately she slowed up. Something made her stop, start again, and then go along at a snail's pace toward the house in which two women were waiting for her.

Mrs. Wescott, Nancy knew, would be black eyed, smartly groomed, a middle aged woman. She would look like her son.

The Deane house, with its towers and turrets, and all the little cornices, gables, bay windows, had been the final word in elegance in the nineties. It stood now, solid, dignified, facing the avenue as though it cared nought for the smiles of the younger generation.

There could be no estimating the number of apartment bound persons who had passed, waved a hand in its direction and remarked:

"Bet it must take a young fortune to heat a place like that!"

That, oddly enough, was just what Nancy thought when she turned into the broad walk.

Her father's home!

It must have been this walk that he and his bride the circus lady had trod when they came home after their hasty marriage. It must have been down these steps that they hurried away when old Montgomery Deane disowned his son. Nancy had given little thought to her grandfather—a grandfather was someone she didn't know much about. She had been told that Montgomery Deane was a banker. Every rich banker she had ever known or heard tell of was always a "closely-cropped" man. Their moustaches were always iron gray and clipped short, their hair was always iron gray, too, and some of them wore swallow tailed coats.

They were rather terrorizing men to Nancy because they were the ones who one went to for loans and mortgages. Interest had to be paid to them. In small towns they always lived in the big house far up on Main street.

As Nancy walked up the steps she had no more feeling of belonging to the big house, than she would have had toward a public library.

What would happen if she should ring the bell and say to the maid:

"My name is Nancy Deane. I'm Mrs. Deane's granddaughter, only she doesn't know it. I am Monty Deane's daughter, born after he had deserted my mother. And tell Mrs. Deane her son is dying in Washington. I have a wire in my pocket saying so."

The very thought of such a thing frightened her. It would be a terrible thing to do. Mrs. Deane would probably die of shock.

She was still unused to the thought of having any relations in the world but her Mud and Darry. She wanted to think about these other people. She wanted to see them before they discovered her, and fate had now given her this wonderful opportunity to do so.

When they did know her, if they ever did, would they drive her away too? Would they consider her blood tainted with the blood of a circus woman? The thought brought her back to the deathbed of Julie Abbott. To that horrible moment when she had seen Julie fall in the circus. To the pitiful funeral in the Graceland Cemetery. To John Blair. One thought led to another, swiftly, too swiftly.

Nancy rang the bell.

POISONS, caused by decaying teeth, often seep through the entire body. They rob you of health and vigor and bring on sickness and early old age.

You cannot give your teeth too much care, particularly at The Danger Line—where teeth meet gums.

It is in the tiny V-shaped crevices that the acids form, causing tooth decay and dangerous gum irritations. Squibb's Dental Cream, made with more than 50% of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, effectively neutralizes them. And particles of the Milk of Magnesia remain in your mouth to give you protection afterwards. 40c a generous tube at all druggists.

ON THE ALLEYS

Bill Regan, of Brookline, second base star of the Boston Red Sox, who is in training for the new baseball season. As part of his daily routine he rolls duckpins on the Brookline alleys.

ON HIKE

A daily hike over the South Hills district to get his legs in shape also is part of Regan's self-imposed training program. He has shelved his automobile until the end of the 1929 baseball season.

SET FOR BIG YEAR

This will be Regan's fourth season with the Boston Americans and he expects it to be his biggest one. He has taken on some needed weight and feels better than at any time since he broke into the majors. Hal Rhyne, former Pirate, may play shortstop alongside him, having been recently obtained by the Red Sox from the Athletics.

SATISFIED WITH CONTRACT

Regan has signed his contract and mailed it in to headquarters. It contained a voluntary increase in salary and Bill is more than satisfied with his treatment by the Boston club, which also boosted his pay last season. Bill had a good season in the field last year and several times broke out in home run hitting streaks. His fielding average was .963 and he batted .264. Bill will attend the baseball writers' banquet in the William Penn Hotel next Thursday night and will depart March 1 for the Sox training camp at Bradentown, Fla.

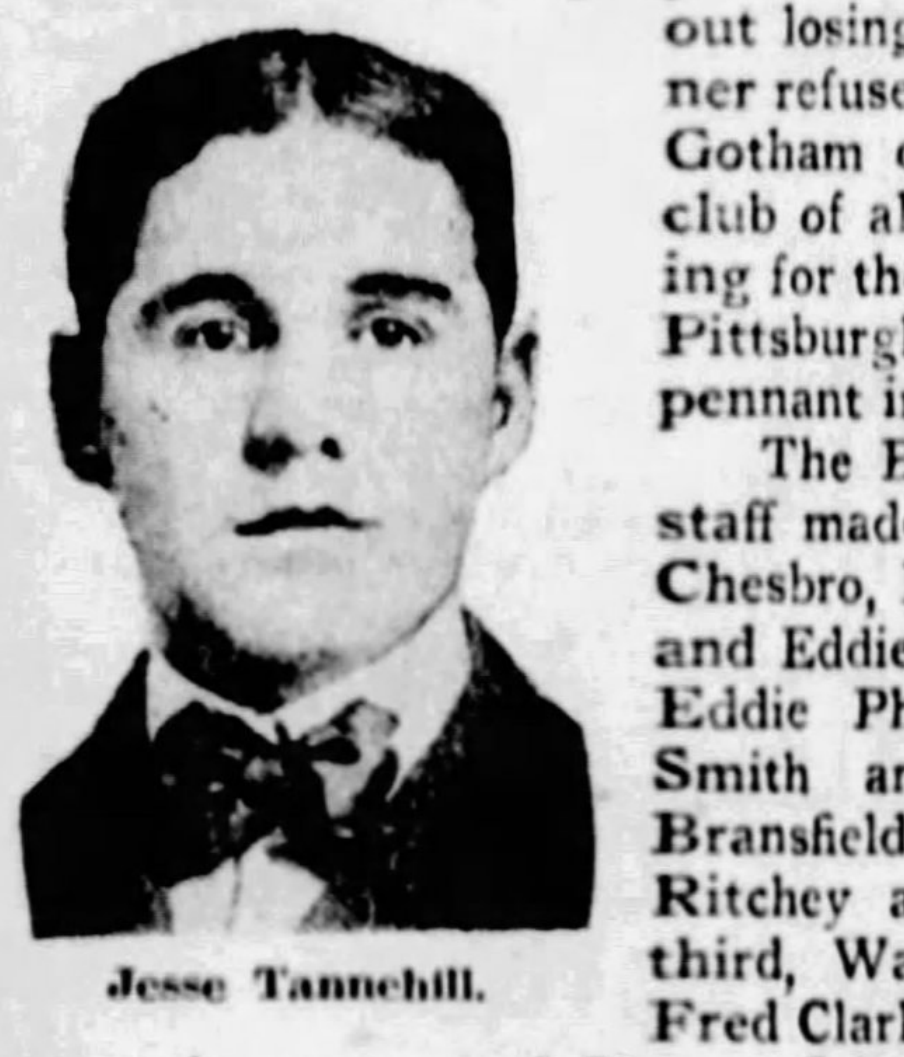
HONUS RATES OLD BUCS BEST EVER

WITH all due respect to the mighty New York Yankees for the record-breaking diamond deeds that they have accomplished in winning six pennants during the last eight seasons and cleaning up in two consecutive world series without losing a single game, Honus Wagner refuses to concede that the powerful Gotham outfit is the greatest baseball club of all time. He claims that ranking for the all-star Pirate team that won Pittsburgh's second National League pennant in 1902.



Jesse Tannehill.

The Bucs that year had a pitching staff made up of Jesse Tannehill, Jack Chesbro, Deacon Phillippe, Sam Leever and Eddie Doheny. The catchers were Eddie Phelps, Chief Zimmer, Harry Smith and Jack O'Connor. Kitty Bransfield was at first base, Claude Ritchey at second, Tommy Leach at third, Wagner himself at shortstop, Fred Clarke in left field, Clarence Beaumont in center and Jimmy Sebring in right. Three pitchers won 20 or more games, Chesbro leading with 27 victories against only six defeats. Tannehill won 20 and lost six, Phillippe won won 20 and lost nine, Doheny won 16 and lost four, and Leever won 16 and lost seven.

THE club ran away with the pennant, finishing 27½ games ahead of the second team, Brooklyn. The Pirates won 103 games and lost 36 for a percentage of .741, while the best that their closest rivals could do was to win 75 and lose 63. No other club ever won as many as 103 victories in a schedule of 140 games, such as was in force at that time. Wagner declares the Pittsburgh team of that year never had an equal.

"I don't think the Yankees are anywhere near the club we had in Pittsburgh in 1902," said the immortal Pirate. "They talk about great combinations around second base, such as Joe Tinker and Johnny Evers, or Jack Barry and Eddie Collins. I wish they could have seen Claude Ritchey work on double plays. He beat anybody else that ever crossed my vision. Clarence Beaumont was the batting champion that year, and he would make many of the present-day hitting stars look bad if he could bat against the golf ball now in use.

"WHY, even at that time, against a comparatively dead ball, Beaumont hit .357. He hit .357, made 200 hits and scored 101 runs in 131 games with a ball that was a chunk of mud compared to the kind used today.

"I don't want people to think that I'm just an old man talking about how good I was or how good my team was, but if you were to put that Pittsburgh team in its prime against the best club that baseball has produced in the last 10 years, it would very seldom lose a game."

Ching Johnson.

CHING JOHNSON, disabled star of the New York Rangers, contributes a new suggestion to the many that have been offered since the cry began to go up for more scoring in hockey. He would prohibit goalkeepers from dropping to the ice to stop shots and also from catching and holding the puck. "I wouldn't widen the cage nor cut the size of the goalies' pads," said Johnson, "but I'd make the net tenders stay on their feet. "Years ago we had more scoring, and I honestly believe it was because the cage guardians could not go through a series of acrobatics in stopping a shot.

"MIGHTY few goals are made on rebounds at present. The goalie needs only to hold on to the disk when he sees a man coming in for the rebound. There isn't a chance in the world to score when the rubber is safely in the goalie's mitt. So, when a fellow sees the

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Regaining the form that made him champion, Edouard Horemans, of Belgium, defeated Welker Cochran, former titleholder, 400 to 290, last night in a brilliant exhibition in the international tournament for the 18.2 balkline title.

Horemans ended the game with a run of 70 in the eleventh inning, after Cochran, in three turns at the table, raised his total only 11 caroms to 290.

BELGIAN RUNS 193

The Belgian master of the masse turned in the highest run of the tournament, 193, as well as clusters of 77 and 70. Once given a chance to group the balls along the cushions or in the center of the table, Horemans was invincible.

He beat a Cochran rally in brilliant but erratic form. The former champion from California counted high runs of 153, 80 and 40, but on each occasion, when the end seemed nowhere in sight, Cochran flubbed the easiest of shots. In his other seven turns at the table, Cochran failed to count more than nine and four times failed to score a single billiard. The score by innings:

MATSUYAMA AT TOP

Horemans' victory left Matsuyama in complete control of first place for the time being. The little Japanese scored his second conquest in the afternoon match, defeating Felix Grange, of France, 400 to 218, in 23 innings.

Horemans will play Grange this afternoon, while Jake Schaefer, who handed the Frenchman his second defeat, meets Eric Hagenlacher of Germany in the evening game.

The score of afternoon match:

Matsuyama 12 1 0 1 84 60 2 4 14 2 0 5 23 0 57 3 0 4 4 6 53 64—400.
Grange 9 9 1 1 0 3 7 1 2 71 2 10 1 21 21 29 0 0 2 3 13 10 1—218.

Labor Sports Union To Hold Conference

A special conference of the Pennsylvania Sub-District of the Labor Sports Union of America has been called for Walton Hall, 220 Stanwix street, at 11 a. m., Sunday, February 11, by Bill Albertson, secretary. All members are requested to attend, as a reorganization will be effected.

GOLDENSON FIVE MEETS RAUHS TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

What looms as one of the most important games of the season is scheduled at Columbus Temple tonight when the Enoch Rauhs and Goldensons clash in a battle to determine which of the two clubs is entitled to sole possession of first place.

The Goldensons at present are leading in the second round of play with four straight victories, while the Rauhs and Lafayettes are right at their heels each with four wins and one defeat. Should the Rauhs stop the South Siders, the Columbus Temple five will move into the top position, leaving the Goldensons and Lafayettes tied for second place.

The game brings together two of the best professional quintets in this section and their respective followers are looking for a contest that will compare favorably with the best ever staged hereabouts.

OUT FOR REVENGE

The Goldensons, fresh from their victory over the famed New York Hakoahs, will take the floor determined to score their first win of the season over the Rauhs. The last time they met the Rauhs at Columbus Temple, the Hill club won out in the closing seconds of play and it is the intention of the South Siders to turn the tables.

KERR SIGNS THREE-YEAR CONTRACT

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 7.—Andy Kerr, diminutive but dynamic, will remain as head football coach at Washington and Jefferson College for another three years.

That he would return has always been considered as practically certain, but nevertheless the negotiations preceding the signing of the new contract extended over several weeks and finally resulted in Kerr giving up all but his football duties at the local institution instead of his assuming added responsibilities in connection with athlete affairs at the school.

There had been some discussion of Kerr being made a member of the faculty and placed in charge of physical education as well as athletics, but Andy was not favorable to this plan, holding to the position that he felt he could be of more value to the school as head football coach alone than in the larger field.

Coincident with the announcement that Kerr, who is one of the most prominent gridiron coaches of the nation, would be here another three years, President S. S. Baker, also stated that William G. Theurer, graduate manager of athletics; Ray Ride, assistant to Head Coach Kerr, and Bill Amos, freshman coach, had also signed three-year contracts.

Wash.-Jeff's 1929 football prospects were dealt a severe blow when it was announced that four of the star players on last season's fine Freshman team had failed to "make the scholastic" grade at the end of the first semester and had been automatically dropped from the rolls. The quartet comprises Geisler and Carson, backs; Geezer, center, and Zemo, end. All were regulars on the Freshman team last fall and figured prominently in a majority of the Vice Presidents' victories.

SCHMELING WON'T MEET O'KELLY, JACOBS SAYS

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—There is no chance that Max Schmeling, sensational German heavyweight, will fight again in this country until after his return from Germany, according to an emphatic statement made last night by Joe Jacobs, his American manager. Jacobs made this statement in the face of equally emphatic declarations from Tack Hardwick and Eddie Mack, vice president and matchmaker of the Boston Garden, respectively.

Hardwick and Mack insist that Schmeling will have to go through with the match for which he is signed with Con O'Kelley, Tom O'Rourke's Irish heavyweight.

Cochrane Banned From Mack's Camp

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, has denied Mickey Cochrane, holdout catcher, permission to go to the spring training camp at Mickey's expense, and Cochrane has retaliated by announcing that he will quit baseball unless Mack meets his terms.

Cochrane previously had announced that he would go to the Fort Myers camp to get into condition while awaiting a possible agreement on terms.

Carney and O'Hara Given Suspensions

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The State Athletic Commission today announced the suspension for 30 days of Luke Carney, manager, of Pittsburgh, for coaching from the corner at Flynn's sporting club, February 1.

John O'Hara, a second, of McKeesport, was suspended for 60 days for "conduct detrimental to the sport and unbecoming a licensed second" at the Majestic A. C., McKeesport, January 31, it was announced.

Howe, Princeton Star, to Have Nose Rebuilt

BALTIMORE, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Charles (Chuck) Howe, Princeton center and all-America team choice, now that his college football career is complete, has given physicians at Johns Hopkins Hospital the task of rebuilding his nose, the victim of many scrimmages.

Howe, who will graduate in June, came here after finishing his mid-year examinations last week, and Dr. James J. Chisholm performed a sub-mucous operation to remove a piece of bone that gave trouble when the football star caught even a slight cold. Later, probably during the Easter recess, Howe expects to have a plastic operation to remodel the nose, now somewhat flat and crooked from the blows of the gridiron contests. His nose was first broken in 1926, when he played on a Princeton team against Harvard. His home is in Beaver Falls, Pa.

PITT AND DUKES TAKE TO ROAD TOMORROW

By JESS CARVER.

Some of the boys are going to have their ears chewed during the three day college basketball week-end which begins tonight. It is even possible and probable that the last of the undefeated teams in the sector will have joined the list of those who have taken one or more on the lug.

Tonight's program inaugurates about as full a week-end as has been experienced since the present campaign got under way. Tri-State quintets are to invade the east and the middle west, carrying the message of "get them points" to the folks along the seaboard and in the corn and rye belt. The exodus will begin tomorrow when both Pitt and Duquesne leave town, the Panthers for a game Saturday at South Bend with Notre Dame and the Dukes for a jaunt to New York and Washington.

The schedule for this evening includes three games in this district. West Virginia Wesleyan continues a short road trip by playing Waynesburg at Waynesburg. The Jackets, Wolfpack or what ever you wish to call'em, haven't won a ball game since they opened the season by beating Carnegie Tech. Hence they'll strive mightily to down the Bobcats.

GENEVA SEEKS REVENGE

Geneva, still dazed from the shock of the Bethany setback Monday, engages Bob Thorn's Grove City Crimsons at Beaver Falls. I am rather inclined to believe that it will go rather hard with Mr. Thorn's gentlemen tonight, for if ever a defeat stung, that Bethany licking stung the Covenanters, especially after their fine work in beating West Virginia two nights previous.

The third contest of the evening will be played at Huntingdon Pa., where Andy Kerr's Presidents of Wash-Jeff tangle with Juniata. Wash-Jeff has played two games and won them both. The game is the first of a three game trip for W. and J. Tomorrow night, the Kerrmen will be in Lewisburg for a battle with Bucknell and on Saturday, at State College to play the Lions.

West Virginia begins a long, hard road trip Saturday night, a sortie that will keep the Mountaineers on the road for an eight-day period. Washington and Lee is to be met at Huntington, W. Va. Saturday, and then next week, V. P. I., Virginia, Temple, Army and Georgetown will be met on successive nights. Something to think over.

BETHANY GAME IMPORTANT

Aside from Pitt's contest with Notre Dame at South Bend, one of the big intersectional struggles of the season, the most important game of the week-end will be the Westminster-Bethany Conference game at New Wilmington tomorrow. A victory for the Bisons (and such a happening will not come unexpected) will put the Bisons right out in front in the league, giving them by far the best chance of eventually winning the pennant. It will mean that the Nussmen can set themselves for return games on their home court with Geneva, Thiel, Waynesburg and Westminster, and with only one more Conference battle to be played away from home, that with the Dukes here on Febuary 19.

DUKES CARD CATHOLIC U.

Portly John Holohan, graduate manager of athletics at Duquesne University, snapped the gum band around another game for his 1929 football schedule yesterday with the signing of Catholic University of Washington, D. C. The Dukes and Eastern Irish will work on a home-and-home agreement, with the locals playing in Washington next November 9 and Catholic coming

SCHMELING LIKE RECENT, NOT OLD DEMPSEY

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

THEY are calling Max Schmeling, the Germany heavyweight sensation, the new Jack Dempsey. Are they right or wrong?

At least one dissenting voice is being raised among the experts and that belongs to Ed Sullivan, one of the New York sports scribes, who makes the point that if Schmeling really resembles Dempsey he resembles the washed-up Manassa Mauler of Philadelphia and Chicago, and not the tiger who slew Jess Willard at Toledo and Luis Firpo in New York.

According to Sullivan, Schmeling admits he copied Dempsey's style from the moving pictures of the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Chicago, Jack's last appearance in the ring.

Dempsey wasn't Dempsey that night, nor was he the night he first lost to Tunney, at Philadelphia. He was slow-footed and a mere weaving and bobbing shell in his last stand, in which only his one big splurge in the seventh round, when he floored Tunney, saved the thing from being a rout. If Schmeling is aping the Demp. of that fight, as he saw him in the pictures, then he is not another Dempsey.

WRITING of Schmeling's most important fight to date, the one last week in which he knocked out Johnny Risko, Sullivan says:

"Schmeling, using the style which he copied from the moving pictures of the Dempsey-Tunney fight held at Chicago, has unwittingly adopted a style which was forced on Dempsey when his legs went back on him. He has copied the fighting style of an old man.

"He has picked up a style which forces him to move at a snail's pace about the ring, a style which would make him a sucker for a puncher, because he moves so slowly that he is an inviting target. It is one thing to get tagged repeatedly by a mauler like Risko, it is another thing to get hit by a fellow like Christner or Von Porat.

"They are already stating that Schmeling looks like a better fighter than Dempsey in his prime. The real Dempsey would have flattened Schmeling in ONE round. If Risko could punch, Risko would have flattened him the other night.

"USING the style he copied from the Dempsey who was on his way to the cleaners, the slow weave which he now uses, Schmeling would be a push-over for Tunney. He wouldn't lay a glove on Loughran. He would be beaten by the hustling Stribling, and he wouldn't belong in the ring with Godfrey.

"Teach the likeable German youngster to tear out of his corner throwing one punch after another the way the real Dempsey tore from his stool, and not even a Tunney or a Loughran or a Stribling could hold him at bay.

MITT AND MAT MIXED SHOW TONIGHT

The first mixed boxing and wrestling show in the Pittsburgh district in years will be staged tonight at McKeesport, when Promoter Jim McGirr will inaugurate the novelty of presenting a mat bout following the boxing windup, as an added attraction.

Happy Atherton, of Indianapolis, and Jackie Rodgers, of the North Side, bantamweights, will box the main event of 10 rounds and there will be three six-round boxing preliminaries. Sig Keppen, veteran lightweight of Beaver Falls, begins a comeback campaign against Teddy Welch, of McKeesport, in the semi-final; Patsy Gallagher, South Side featherweight, opposes Tommy Heilman, of Donora, in the second bout, and Joe Poole, Jack Zivic's protege, of Lawrenceville, tangles with Honey Kilvady, of Donora, in the opener.

The wrestling bout will be between Pete Abate, of Wilmerding, and Joe Washington, of Connellsville, and will be two out of three falls with a time limit of 30 minutes.

K. OF C. SMOKER BOUTS

Nine amateur boxing bouts feature the annual smoker of Pittsburgh Council No. 491, Knights of Columbus, in the Elks' auditorium, downtown, tonight. The boxing card follows: 112 pounds, Buddy Ward, Hazelwood, vs. Pete D'Alessandro, Washington Y. M. C. A.; Val Bonart, St. Josephat's Lyceum, vs. Johnny Warner, Clairton A. C., and Tony Marino, Duke O'Hara Club, vs. M. Butch, Willow Club; 126 pounds, Tod Murphy, Duke O'Hara Club, vs. Bob Fraterolla, Clairton A. C., and John Rooney, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., vs. Bill Slack, Willow Club; 135 pounds, Eddie Hebner, Clairton Club, vs. Dan McCabe, Hazelwood Club, and Sharkey Lesko, Duke O'Hara Club, vs. E. Branner, Flynn's gym, or Markey, Willow Club; 147 pounds, Bill Ortleib, North Side A. C., vs. Cowboy De Luca, Willow Club; 160 pounds, Marsh Jones, Jim Malone Club, or Bob Coleman, St. Josephat's Lyceum, vs. Manny Letch, Willow Club.

The bout for the middleweight championship of England, between Jack Hood and Len Harvey, scheduled for London tonight, has been postponed until February 21.

MONROE TO BOX PICKARD

Frank Monroe, of Fair Haven, and Walter Pickard, of Youngstown, have been rematched for a four-round bout on the Henry Firpo-Dick Evans card at New Castle one week from next Monday night. They recently fought a bruising battle in Youngstown.

HANSEN MEETS DE KUH

Knute Hansen, who recently was knocked out by K. O. Christner, stars his comeback campaign against Arthur De Kuh in the semi-final to the bout between Christner and Paline Uzcudun in Madison Square Garden, New York, February 22.

Bob Collura, of McKeesport, 138-140-pounder, now is under the management of Reed Brown, who also will look after Charley Hooper, a lightweight in the amateur ranks. Hooper shows fine promise and will be nursed in the simon-pure ranks for a while.

With the scheduling of Catholic U. the Dukes have lined up a card which already exceeds in caliber anything a Bluff eleven has ever attempted. West Virginia, Haskell Indians, Loyola of Chicago, and Catholic U. are on the list, and one other major contest is being arranged.

All of which means just so much more lost sleep for M. Elmer Layden.

BUC MANAGER'S IMPROVEMENT SLIGHT

GAMES TONIGHT
Detroit at Canadiens.
New York Rangers at Ottawa.
Chicago at N. Y. Americans.

By CARL W. SHATTO

Manager Odie Cleghorn's fight to regain his health and the Detroit Cougars-Les Canadiens game at Montreal will hold the interest of Pirate icemen tonight as they enjoy a rest from National League competition.

Cleghorn, ill with a severe attack of grippe and tonsilitis for the last nine days, was able to sit up for little more than an hour yesterday, and his improvement is reported as slight today. The local skaters leave tomorrow night to finish their season series with the Maple Leafs in Toronto, and it is very doubtful whether Odie will be able to accompany his men to the battle front.

Benny Leonard, owner of the club, who took over the managerial duties in the Bucs' last two games here, has been called to New York and Secretary Charley Leonard, Benny's brother, probably will act as pilot Saturday night in the event that Cleghorn is unable to make the trip. Charley has been traveling with the club all season and is well qualified to sit in the driver's seat.

Of the three games on tonight's program, the Detroit-Canadiens fray is the headliner from a Pittsburgh point of view. The Pirates gained a half-game on the Cougars Tuesday night by holding Toronto to a tie while Detroit was losing to Chicago, and the locals now are three and one-half games out of this place and a place in the ice world series. Every Detroit defeat makes the Bucs' task much easier, and local ice fans will be pulling for Les Canadiens to triumph.

The Rauhs are the only team to defeat the Lafayettes in the second round of the County League schedule and they are confident they can make it three in a row over the Goldensons.

The Mellon National Bank quintet, champion of the Pittsburgh Bankers' League, will invade Cleveland Saturday to meet the Federal Reserve team, champion of the Forest City, in the first of a two-game series. The two clubs met last winter, splitting even in two contests.

More than 50 employes of the Mellon Bank have chartered an entire car to make the trip to Cleveland Saturday afternoon. The game will be played in the Federal Reserve auditorium. A return game will be played in the University of Pittsburgh Stadium pavilion a week from Saturday.

Al Thomas, manager of the Mellon team, has announced that he will take the following players to Cleveland: Rodgers, McCall, Rowland, Neff, Sulzner, Cousley, Wilson and Brown.

Max Berkowitz, manager of the Morry Club, of Braddock, is asked to call Grant 3815 in regard to a game in Apollo.

Spring Hill wants games at home and abroad with light first-class teams, including Evans City and Butler. Call Cedar 6258-W and ask for Walter.

The Felders meet the Conleys and the Morrys play at Greenfield in the two games scheduled in the P. & O. League tonight. The Conleys won the first-half title by defeating the Morrys on Monday.

State Commission Bans Waxman And Stable

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7—(AP.)—Max Waxman, manager of Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, and his entire stable of boxers, including the titleholder, have been suspended for an indefinite period by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

Dundee had been matched to fight Young Ketchell at Elam, Pa., tonight, but after Dundee's recent hard bout with Al Mello, Waxman asked for a week's delay. Three days of grace were granted him and it was then announced that the bout would be put on February 14.

The commission was informed that it was "impossible for Dundee to meet Ketchell" and the fight was off indefinitely.

Heydler Against 10-Man Team Exhibitions

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—President John A. Heydler does not want National League clubs to play 10-man teams in the spring exhibition season, as has been suggested.

"It will prove nothing," said the National League head, "and will serve only to deprive pitchers of a chance to get some actual batting practice in competition, something they sorely need. Goodness knows the pitchers will have enough trouble at bat, without depriving them of the few chances they will have to hit in the spring

"I have not been discouraged by the failure of the suggestion for a batsman for the pitcher to arouse the enthusiasm I had hoped for, but until it becomes an approved practice, there is nothing to be gained by having a few clubs experiment with it in the South. I hope this will not be done."

President Heydler will let his scheme for the so-called 10-man team wait for another year, and it probably will be brought up again at the next annual meeting.

WALKER GETS $30,000 TITLE BOUT OFFER

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—(INS.)—Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, has been offered $30,000 to defend his title in a 10-round decision bout here during the summer, Promoters Herman Taylor and Robert Gunnis revealed today.

The bout would be staged in the Athletics' baseball park or the Sesqui Stadium. Walker would have his choice of three opponents—Rene De Vos, of Belgium; Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, or K. O. Phil Kaplan, of New York. He was offered $25,000 last summer to defend his title here, but he refused.

De Vos and Kaplan meet here Monday night in a 10-round bout at the arena. Both are very popular among the local fans, and the bout already indicates a sell-out of the 10,000 seats.

SPORT COMMENT

By JAMES J. LONG

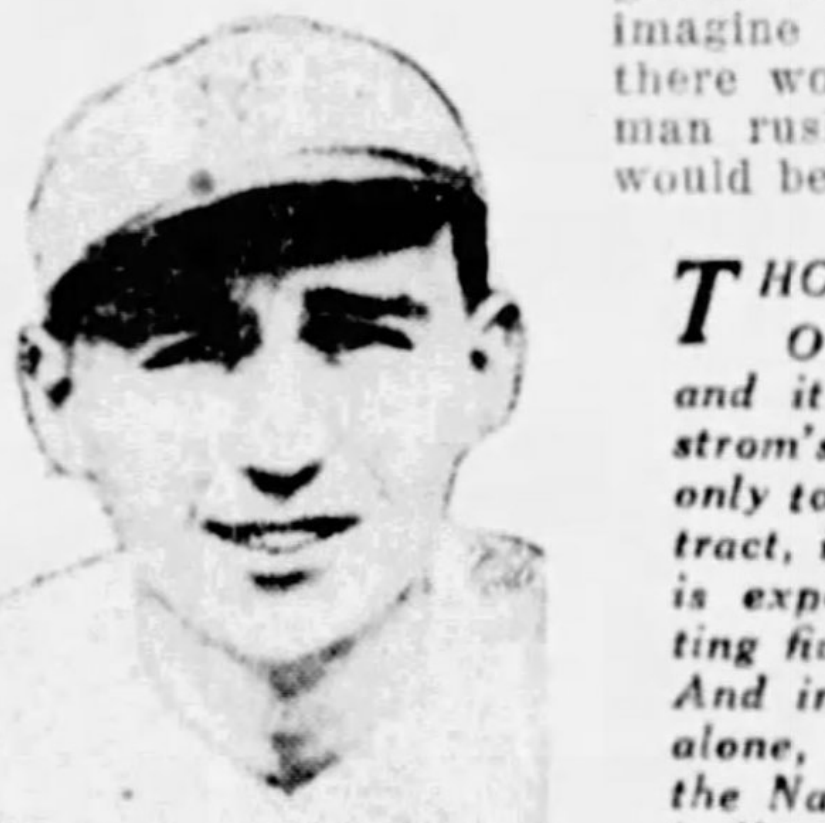
cage guardian grab a shot he just turns around and skates back, waiting for the referee to blow his whistle and order a face-off near the net, causing another unnecessary delay.

"Under the old rules, this meant a penalty. The first time a goalie held the puck he was warned. The second time he was sent off the ice for two minutes, and his team had to get along as best as it could. There was also a penalty for a goalie going to his knees. He had to remain upright at all times except when he might be knocked down.

"IT'S a penalty now for a defense man to hold the disc. We can knock the rubber down and then clear it out with sticks, but we can't wind our fingers around it, holding it even for a second.

"Suppose this also applied to the fellows in the nets. Suppose they had to knock the disc to the ice with an open glove and then get it out of the way with the stick. Just imagine the exciting scrambles and battles there would be around the nets on three-man rushes and how many more goals would be scored."



Freddie Lindstrom.

THOUGH Freddie Lindstrom and Bob O'Farrell are now in the Giant fold, and it has been explained that Lindstrom's failure to sign earlier was due only to a delay in the receipt of his contract, it is said that the New York club is experiencing some difficulty in getting five other unsigned players in line. And in that respect the Giants are not alone, by any means. It developed at the National League's schedule meeting in New York on Tuesday that practically every club in the circuit is having trouble with some of its players, and the same also applies to the American League. The situation bears out December rumors that inasmuch as only about four of the 16 major league clubs made money last year there would be an almost general movement to keep 1929 contracts down to 1928 figures and in some cases to reduce them.

THE unusual number of contract rejections reported to date may be said to have resulted from that movement. Many athletes insist that they are entitled to fat increases in salary whether or not their clubs had a balance on the right side of the ledger or not. With the magnates determined to keep down expenses it looks as if some of the salary disputes will be more prolonged this spring than usual.

Alvin Crowder, who pitched 21 victories for the Browns last season against only five defeats, is one of the latest players to balk at the terms written into his contract. He is said to have been offered an increase, but wants a great deal more, and fixes the figure at $15,000, which is about twice what he received in 1928.

JESS HAINES, Buddy Myer, Joe Dugan, Dazzy Vance, Dave Bancroft, Babe Herman, Lefty O'Doul and others are still insisting on better terms. Even out in the Coast League old Dutch Ruether has spurned an increase of $1,000 offered by the San Francisco club and demands a higher figure.

Max Carey, former Pirate captain, is said to be in the same boat as Dave Bancroft in Brooklyn. He must accept a cut or be released. The $16,500 salary that Carey pulled down in Pittsburgh was sliced to $12,000 by the Dodger owners last year. He had a poor season and is not counted upon for regular duty this year, so the management figured he would not be worth $12,000 merely as a coach and offered him $10,000. What Max will do about it remains to be seen.

Erich Hagenlacher.

BILLIARD experts who looked upon Erich Hagenlacher as a possible dark horse in the championship 18.2 balkline billiard tournament in New York, and figured that he might upset the dope and beat out the favorites, are revising their dope since the German entrant was defeated by Welker Cochran Tuesday night in his first appearance in the tournament. Hagenlacher is not soft picking for any one, as shown by the fact that Cochran had to come from behind three times to beat him out, but the general opinion is that one defeat may prove enough to eliminate him. It looks like a tourney in which the winner will have to go through undefeated, downing all five of his competitors, as there are two or three in there who look as if they would be good for four out of five. If that holds good a clean sweep of five straight will be necessary to beat them, and signs point more strongly than ever to Jake Schaefer as the man having the best chance to accomplish that [illegible] sidered [illegible] emely unlikely that Kinrey Matsuyama, [illegible] al-[illegible] beaten Champion Edouard Horemans [illegible] ill [illegible] to keep up the sensational clip at wh[illegible]

Sangor, 25, Quits Ring After Kayo

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—At the age of 25, Joey Sangor has decided to quit the feature-wrecking quest of a boxing championship. His mother, he told the radio audience last night, after he was able to get off the canvas where Tony Canzoneri had knocked him in the seventh round, was anxious for him to abandon the ring, and, furthermore, he was dissatisfied himself with his 1929 showing.

Fight Results

At Chicago—Tony Canzoneri knocked out Joey Sangor, 7 rounds; Tony Herrera defeated Armando Santiago, 8 rounds; Andy Suttle defeated Georgia Almard, 6 rounds; Spud Murphy defeated Harry Dublinsky, 6 rounds; Billy Taylor defeated Jimmy Evans, 4 rounds; Prince Saunders and Mike Esposito, drew, 6 rounds.

At St. Louis—Henry Lenard won on foul from Benny Bass, 3 rounds; Joey Rivers knocked out (technical) Claude Wilson, 6 rounds.

At Cincinnati—Freddie Miller defeated Joe Paglina, 8 rounds.

PIRATES SIGN OLYMPIC TRAINER

By JAMES J. LONG.

The signing of a new trainer to keep the members of the Pittsburgh Baseball Club physically fit during the coming pennant race was announced today by Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss. The conditioning expert is Mike Chambers, who for a number of years has ranked with the foremost trainers in the collegiate athletic world.

For several years Chambers has been in charge of all the athletic teams at Ohio State University, in Columbus, O., taking care of the members of the football, baseball, track, basketball, cross-country, swimming and all other squads requiring the attention of a trainer. Prior to his Ohio State engagement he was in charge of the athletes at the University of Iowa in Iowa City. Last summer he was selected for the trip to Amsterdam as one of the trainers of the American Olympic team.

CURES INJURIES

Chambers is not only an able conditioner, but an expert in the use of all the modern appliances for the curing of injuries suffered in athletic competition. He was recommended to the Pittsburgh club by L. W. St. Paul graduate manager of athletics at Ohio State University. Bill Hinchman, Pirate scout, who resides in Columbus, also praises him highly. Chambers' title with the Bucs will be that of head trainer. George Asten, present conditioner, will be his assistant.

LEAVE MONDAY

It also was announced today that Dr. William L. Marks, of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will accompany the Pirate advance guard to Paso Robles in the capacity of club physician.

American League Umpires Named

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Eleven of the 12 umpires who officiated in the American League last season have been named to the 1929 staff by President E. S. Barnard. The twelfth position will be filled by George Moriarity, who returns to the American League as an umpire after two years as manager of the Detroit Tigers. He replaces Dan Barry, of Boston.

Thomas H. Connolly, veteran of the junior league umpires, again heads the list, which includes William Dinneen, George Hildebrand, Clarence B. Owens, Richard Nallin, Emmett Ormsby, Harry C. Geisel, William McGowan, Roy Van Graflan, William Guthrie, W. M. Campbell and Moriarity.

The umpires will meet with President Barnard today and tomorrow for a discussion of the interpretation of the rules.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR: NEW ORCHESTRA IN DEBUT TONIGHT

BAD WEATHER PREVENTS LONDON RE-BROADCAST

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

SOME of us who tuned in on KDKA last night with the expectancy of hearing "Big Ben" from London were much disappointed when Stephen Leyshon announced at 7:01 o'clock that "KDKA had expected to rebroadcast the time signals from 5SW, but owing to adverse weather conditions over the Atlantic Ocean decided it was inadvisable to try it."

We have had too much of a good thing, perhaps. It appeared that way from the crowd we were with. Weede Meyer's orchestra played good music and plenty of it; still a few of our crowd kept mumbling about "music from London."

When KDKA failed to come through with the "Big Ben" signals at 7 p. m., one member of the crowd turned around with an "I told you so" look. We were all disappointed, but it seemed to us that a few expected just a little bit too much.

NOT EASY TO PICK UP

It is not an easy thing to pick up 5SW signals strong enough to rebroadcast. This station uses but 10,000 watts on a special occasion like this and it takes no stretch of the imagination to understand why the signals don't carry for 3,300 miles. Of course the Atlantic Ocean is a great aid to signal strength and the converse is true that the Rocky Mountains, with their ore deposits, are no help to WGY signals.

We can recall, and it wasn't very long ago, when it was next to impossible to pick up KDKA in Ligonier, a distance of 60 miles. At the same time KDKA was being heard in nearly every corner of the earth on its short wave broadcasts. The hills and valleys had something to do with it.

The point we wish to emphasize is that we may expect London programs regularly in the near future, but we must reckon with science and development in our interpretation of the meaning "near."

50-PIECE ORCHESTRA

Some exceptionally fine compositions will be played in broadcasts from local stations tonight.

"Sweethearts on Parade" will be sung by Dick Robertson over KDKA at 8:30 p. m.

A 50-piece orchestra will make its bow to the audience in the WCAE concert at 9 p. m. The Prelude to "Lohengrin" and Raff's "Cavatina" are on the program.

WJAS will offer a special arrangement of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Hymn to the Sun" at 10 o'clock. At the same hour WCAE will offer Kreisler's "Old Refrain."

The Carnegie Tech Drama School will present a one-ast play, "Unsensible Lovers," over KQV at 7:30 p. m.

Mme. Ferne Goltre Fillion, soprano, will have a busy evening. She will sing over KDKA at 7:01 and again at KQV at 10 p. m.

SNOW SCENE IN CANADA.

Everything seems to be going smoothly, and Mortimer, the hero, is looking very beautiful in the red-coated uniform when a bull, accidentally present in the lot where the picture is being shot, is suddenly aware and appreciative of Mortimer's red coat.

How tragedy is narrowly averted and how the dispositions of actors and directors are affected thereby, will afford the fun tonight.

PITTSBURGH CO. CUTS MINING COSTS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE Pittsburgh Coal Company made great strides towards the reduction of costs last year. Although the final figures show that, after all charges, 1928 operations resulted in a loss of $493,870, the report is by far the most encouraging in four years. In 1927 a loss of $1,880,596 was reported and it cost the company $2,114,676 to do business in 1926.

There is an excellent chance for the company to show a profit from this year's operations. In the final quarter of 1928 the net figures ceased to be in red ink. A profit after all charges of $487,100 was reported for the three-month period.

A SUBSTANTIAL reduction in the costs of mining and selling each ton of coal is indicated by a comparison of the reports for the last two years. In 1928 11,395,085 tons were mined. Production and operating charges for the year, including maintenance, general administrative and selling expenses were $22,611,475, or $1.98 a ton.

In 1927 with a production of 9,129,232 tons these expenses amounted to $22,444,914, or $2.45 a ton, a reduction of 19 per cent. These figures should not be taken as representative of th company's actual costs, but they are valuable for comparison. The expense items include the cost of handling and selling large tonnages of coal purchased from other operators. In a general way they reflect the economies placed into effect, but they do not show the exact saving per ton.

THE improvement in mine operations made it possible to keep the dock facilities on the lake busy without purchasing so much coal from competing fields. The total of all coal sold in 1928 was 13,562,580 tons compared with 11,762,221 tons in 1927. But last year only 1,817,977 tons were purchased compared with 2,258,712 tons in the previous year.

The concentration of production at fewer mines in addition to a more efficient staff of miners has contributed greatly to the reductions in costs. During the past four years 28 mines have been permanently abandoned and the machinery has been scrapped. In October, 1928, 20 mines produced 1,112,750 tons compared with 1,304,870 tons at 44 mines in October, 1923, the biggest month in the past 10 years. The record for 1928 was accomplished with 21 per cent or 2,357 fewer men.

THE cash outlay for the maintenance of non-operating mines in the latter part of 1924 was at the annual rate of $1,100,000. By the end of 1928 this had been reduced to $25,000 a year. The cost of maintaining the abandoned mines during the past four years would have been greater than th ir book value.

Unless someone invents a new fuel which will make coal deposits worthless, the Pittsburgh Coal Company may be expected to stay in business for the next century. At the end of the year the company had 168,013 acres of unmined coal after eliminating the deposits which cannot be recovered. During the year 1,471 acres were exhausted. At this rate th properties would last 114 years.

THE merger of local lumber dealers, which was under sonsideration recently, has been permanantly abandoned. Several financial interests tried to bring the companies together, but they were unsuccessful in arriving at satisfactory terms.

Rate of discount 4½ per cent.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Prices in the bond market today turned reactionary following the downward trend in stocks on unfavorable overnight developments in the credit situation. All the recent market leaders fell back one to more than two points in the early trading. Volume of sales, however, was running slightly under yesterday's dull session.

Selling was heaviest in the convertibles, American International 5½s, Anaconda Copper 7s, International Telephone 4½s and Porto Rican-American Tobacco 6s registering substantial losses.

Southern Railway covertible 5s were strong on forecasts of improved business conditions in its territory. Other rails, however, were weak, St. Paul adjustment 5s yielding to selling pressure.

Industrials sold off, International Cement 5s dropping 2 points and Cuban Cane Sugar 8s touching its low figure for the year. Utilities as a group were inactive and steady.

Pirelli 7s continued their downward trend in the irregular foreign list.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

More Attractive After She Gained Needed Weight

Is your face drawn and pinched? Your skin flabby? Are your cheeks sunken with great hollows under the eyes? Does your figure show unbecoming angles instead of the softly rounded slimness of youth?

All these conditions rob you of attractiveness and make you look old. But worst of all, these may actually be the symptoms of simple anaemia—that dread ailment so often suffered by women.

So if you need a few pounds of flesh to round out the hollows if you want to get back old-time energy and health, get a box of McCoy's Tablets today. Just a short treatment will make you look and feel like a new person.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your money will be returned.

Patience Often Profitable In Business, Stocks, Work

By B. C. FORBES

PATIENCE often is profitable—profitable in the conduct of one's business, profitable in security market dealings, in striving to win advancement.

The organization of a new $100,000,000 oil investment company by very prominent and influential financial and business leaders, at a time when the oil industry is plagued by overproduction and low prices, is significant.

NEARLY all the most notable careers and fortunes in this country have been the fruition of unusual patience. In the stock market, too, the greatest "killings" rarely have been made overnight by following some sudden impulse, but have marked the culmination of mature study and planning.

Governmental inquisitions chuckled—for a brief moment—when E. H. Harriman, under questioning, admitted that he had purchased Union Pacific stock in anticipation of the declaration of a 10 per cent dividend rate, a declaration which took the financial world completely by surprise and caused the shares to advance spectacularly. Aha, they had laid bare a plot by the railway wizard to enrich himself enormously by using his inside advance "knowledge" of what the directors were going to do.

The very next question, however, elicited from Harriman that he had done his accumulating, in expectation of a generous dividend rate, years and years before the big dividend was actually declared. Harriman proved that he had looked and acted 10 years ahead.

ANDREW CARNEGIE did not buy up large blocks of his own steel company's shares on the eve of selling out to the Morgan-organized U. S. Steel Corporation. Carnegie added greatly to his holdings many years before, during times of acute depression when steel could not be made and sold at a profit. At such times, especially during panics, his partners took fright and insisted on getting out before they were completely ruined. The canny little Scot, when unable to persuade them to hold on, took over their holdings. He, too, was looking years ahead.

Henry Clay Frick did exactly the same thing with his two partners in the first coke company he organized at Connellsville, Pa. The panic of 1873 swept the United States with bankruptcies like a prairie fire. Coke had to be sold at a severe loss on each ton. Frick's partners became panicky and doubtless felt they were smart when they induced the young novice to shoulder the sole responsibility for the infant enterprise. Within a few years Frick's coke profits, he later told me, exceeded a million dollars a year. He had patience.

AMERICA has been dazzled by the sensational rise in the shares of the Radio Corporation of America. One of the very early accumulators of this stock was Bernard N. Baruch. Before the shares crossed $100—they lately sold above $400—he confided to me that he had reasoned out for himself that the radio was to become an important factor in American life, and he also reasoned out that the Radio Corporation of America was likely to become the leading company in the field. Whether Mr. Baruch has sold or held on I do not know. But I do know that he carefully studied the situation and that his foresight meant a fortune.

John J. Raskob was another financier who sized up the possibilities of radio and who has profited greatly.

GOING back farther, it is interesting to recall that U. S. Steel shares sold below $10 in the early days. The late J. P. Morgan did become greatly disturbed over the prospect that the preferred dividend might have to be suspended; but he never lost faith in the ultimate outcome of the ambitious project. All those who purchased steel shares when the outlook was the blackest doubled, trebled or multiplied manyfold their investment.

Almost every industry has undergone periods of acute depression, causing the shares to sink to extremely low levels. At such times there invariably have been long-headed men who were willing to exercise patience and whose patience was richly rewarded. The latest shining illustration is afforded by the copper industry. It was flat on its back not so long ago, today it is booming. The oil industry is certain to come into his own sooner or later. So is rubber.

THIS policy has proved profitable in the past and doubtless will prove profitable in the future for those who can afford to take chances and who do not require to have an immediate return on their funds. Invest in the common stocks of the strongest corporations in basic industries which are temporarily suffering depression. Then exercise patience.

Indiana's Trade Mark Upheld.

The appeal of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to prevent the independent oil men of America from using a certain trade mark in which is incorporated a red crown has been upheld by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. The opinion reversed the decision of the First Assistant United States Commissioner of Patents. The Standard Oil Company of Indiana claimed that the trade mark used by the independent oil men was confusing to the public in that it was similar to their own trade mark for a "Red Crown" gasoline.

Marquette's 1929 Budget.

An expansion program to cost $10,000,000 is included in the Pere Marquette Railway budget for 1929. New steamships, augmented rolling stock for auto traffic, additional locomotives, improvements to existing slip docks, new rails, grade work and yard extensions are planned and provided for in the budget. The major items include two new steamers for Lake Michigan traffic, 10 new switch engines, 1,000 automobile box cars, 40-ton capacity; 400 composite gondolas, 50-ton capacity; 100 all-steel hopper blast cars and five 2-8-2 mikado freight engines.

Johns Manville.

The Johns Manville Corporation earnings for the year 1928 approximated $8 a share on the 750,000 shares of common stock outstanding. This would compare with net income of $4,108,160 for 1927, equivalent to $4.78 a share on the same share basis. Conditions indicate an exceedingly good year in 1929, according to T. F. Merseles, president. Rumors that a merger between Johns Manville and Congoleum-Nairn Corporation was impending have been declared to be without foundation.

A. & P. in Minneapolis.

Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company has made entry to the Minneapolis field and the first of several local stores will be opened shortly. A. & P. to this time has kept out of the Twin Cities, although operating at smaller points in Minnesota for the past several years.

Pacific Gas and Electric.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company will rebuild its 85,000 horsepower steam plant in San Francisco into a 300,000 horsepower plant at an expenditure of $11,000,000. The first unit, to be finished early in 1930, will cost $5,500,000 and will produce 175,000 horsepower.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Lower prices for wheat formed the rule most of the time here today, owing more or less to sympathy with action of the stock market. Besides Liverpool wheat quotations showed unexpected downturns and weather conditions for domestic winter wheat, appeared less threatening, despite cold and absence of snow protection in parts of Kansas and Nebraska. In the state trading, sales to realize profits did much to bring about reactions from price bulges in the corn market.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Raw Sugar was quiet early today. No sales were reported and prices were unchanged at 3.74 for spots, duty paid.

Trading in raw futures was small. Prices moved within 1 to 2 points. The list at midday was net unchanged to 1 point higher. No selling pressure was apparent and what little was offered was taken by trade interests and shorts, with operators at large inclined to limit fresh commitments and await further developments.

RESERVE BOARD TO THROTTLE SPECULATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Notice has been served by the Federal Reserve Board that it intends to take steps to restrain the use of federal reserve credit for speculative purposes.

After a conference of several hours yesterday between George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, of New York; Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and members of the board, a statement was issued which called attention to the growth of speculative credit during the year, the loss by the country of some $500,000,000 in gold and advances in the cost of credit for commercial uses.

The statement declared that the Federal Reserve Board did not assume the right to set itself up as an arbiter of security speculation, but added that it was its business to see that the federal reserve banks function effectively.

DUTY TO CORRECT

"When it finds that conditions are arising," the statement said, "which obstruct Federal Reserve banks in the effective discharge of their function of so managing the credit facilities of the Federal reserve system as to accommodate commerce and business, it is its duty to inquire into them and to take such measures as may be determined suitable and effective in the circumstances to correct them; which, in the immediate situation, means to restrain the use, either directly or indirectly, of Federal reserve credit facilities in aid of the growth of speculative credit."

The board declared that the volume of speculative credit was still growing. In the last year, loans to brokers and dealers by New York Federal Reserve member banks have climbed from $3,816,000,000 to $5,559,000,000 last week, a new high record.

BRITISH RAISE RATE

LONDON, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—The Bank of England raised its discount rate from four and one-half to five and one-half per cent today.

There have been predictions for some time that Bank of England's discount rate would be raised in an effort to stem the flow of gold from England to the United States, and the action was not unexpected.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP.)—Curb market stocks under leadership of Goldman Sachs Trading, which ran up 34 points, staged a rally at midday, reducing many of the 1 to 17 point losses, scored in the first hour scramble of selling. The early reaction followed sharp declines on the "big board" and dumping overboard of curb securities to protect stock exchange margins.

The rise in Goldman Sachs Trading came on the heels of the announcement of its merger with Financial and Industrial Securities Corporation into a $244,000,000 investment company. Today's advance to 222½ compares with the offering price of 104 in December.

Utilities were under selling pressure, American Superpower "A" dropping 15 points to 86 and Electric Bond and Share, which is reported to be considering consolidating some of the holding companies under its supervision, about 10 points. The latter, however, quickly recovered half its loss.

Wide declines occurred in the specialties, Crocker & Wheeler selling down 15 points, Deere & Co. 17, Libby Owens 6 and Stutz, Auburn Motor and General Electric of England 1 to 3 points.

LOCAL MARKET IGNORES REACTION IN NEW YORK

Securities were under moderate pressure on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, but there were no wide open breaks such as occurred in the New York market.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt dropped back on selling induced by the unfavorable interpretations of the Federal Reserve Board's statement on the credit situation, but other issues in the local list maintained a fairly steady tone.

The Screw and Bolt "new" stock, representing a split-up of the present shares on a basis of 3⅝ of the new for one of the present outstanding, opened off a point at 29 and later receded to 26. It is expected official announcement of the company's reorganization plans will be made soon. The plans are said to include the acquisition of the Colona Manufacturing Company and the Graham Nut and Bolt Company, both local concerns. Screw and Bolt has also obtained manufacturing rights for a new wind-suction airplane propeller, said to be 20 per cent more efficient than any blade heretofore developed.

Westinghouse Airbrake, which was one of yesterday's strong spots in the New York market, lost a little of its gain in the general selling today. Westinghouse Electric, which opened off 11 points on the big board, was not handled in the market here.

Miscellaneous manufacturing issues were comparatively narrow. McKinney Manufacturing Company was steady around 16, as was Blaw Knox at 41. The fuel issues showed no important changes.

Prices held well in the unlisted department, although there was mild selling in Witherow Steel "new," which carried the stock about 4 points below the previous session's average.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Stock Prices See-Saw.

Waves of conflicting sentiment surged over the stock market today, carrying the market down, then up, and then down again as the traders floundered around in a maze of wonderment as to just what the Federal Reserve Board meant and wanted and just what the powerful bankers, whose institutions comprise the membership of the system, would do in response to the sharp criticism contained in the board's statement. Following the overnight slump of five to 20 points, the list surged upward in a sharp rally only to meet further selling after prices had recovered from two to 13 points. The late selling was attributed to fears of a raise in the New York Federal Reserve re-discount rate which would bring it more into line with London's 5½ per cent, although there were many in the Street who scouted the idea of a raise at New York.

Money Holds at 6%.

Call money held at 6 per cent all day as against yesterday's rates of 7 per cent on the opening and 6½ for late borrowings. At the start today the market was easy but there was a noticeable firming as the supplies diminished around noon and banks called in $25,000,000. Later, however, funds appeared in good supply again and a decidedly easier tone was again prevalent in the last hour.

Radio Dreams.

Col. Davis, of the Radio Corporation of America, testifying at the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, told the committee that the stock of R. C. A. was selling far above its value, sA a result, he said, the corporation was under pressure to try to earn enough to make payments on the stock. There was no attempt in the frenzied buying of Radio stock, he said, on the part of any group to obtain control of the corporation and thereby form a monopoly in radio industry. Buyers, he said, were acuated instead by dreams of large fortunes. The price of the stock, he said, has been run up abnormally high by false roseate dreams of tremendous profits in an industry which is in the first stage of its development. Col. Davis is general counsel of R. C. A. The stock broke about 40 points today.

Establish Rumanian Credit.

The central banks of 14 countries, including the Federal Reserve Banks of the United States, have arranged to place at the disposal of the National Bank of Rumania credits which, supplementing receipts from the forthcoming $100,000,000 public loan, are calculated as sufficient to maintain the stability of the currency of that country, thus adding Rumania to the long list of European countries that have returned to the gold standard. Consummation of this plan will leave Bulgaria and Greece as the only two which still have their stabilization problem to solve. The Swedish Match Company has signed a contract for operation of the Rumanian Match concession for 30 years and has agreed to purchase from the Rumanian government $30,000,000 of the $100,000,000 international loan. The International Match Company is the American subsidiary of Swedish Match.

KNAPP GIVEN UP FOR N. Y. TRIAL

Federal Judge Nelson McVicar today signed an order which authorized the removal of Charles E. Knapp, one of four Pittsburghers indicted in an alleged government-bond conspiracy, from the county jail to New York, there to stand trial. Knapp will be escorted east tomorrow night, it was announced.

The three other Pittsburghers, Mrs. Irma Knapp, Bennie Diamond and Leo Gallagher, waived the preliminary hearing and posted bond for appearance in the Federal Court of New York before February 11.

Knapp served a prison sentence for his part in the Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company bond swindle.

THE WELL-DRESSED MAN

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

It declares that the well dressed gudgeon should have 12 hats, 20 suits of clothes and eight overcoats.

It ain't that cold.

The Association is wrong two ways from the deuce.

Eight overcoats are not enough if you have brothers-in-law.

And we saw a cop in Toledo arrest a man with only three overcoats.

When we see a black derby on top of a raccoon coat coming down the street we are never afraid because we know that nobody is in them.

It's the same reason why we don't throw away our saftey razor blades because most of our face is on them.

Still, there are some excellent sartorial hints being dished up by the Association of scissor engineers.

A porous-knit Tuxedo isn't bad for June, July and August of the fiscal year.

Every well-dressed man should have a high, silk hat for draft riots and other social emergencies.

Or you can buy a low, silk hat and train it on a trellis. There is no more exciting form of steeple-chasing snobbery than to watch a high hat grow.

After your hat gets so high that your ears look like clam shells on the beach, you can go in for the rest of your wardrobe.

The director's suit is another product of the Association. It's our own fault for buying a suit and then allowing a playful tailor to mark it up with chalk. By the time he is through you aren't sure whether you are a man or a slate.

The director's uniform is a sack coat, with sack trousers and other odds and duds. It is worn with a black derby from which the owner's initials have been removed.

A director is a very important man no matter how much you avoid him. A directors' meeting consists of 12 well-pressed gentlemen seated around an empty table. They exchange courteous grimaces and hope that somebody will start a subject so that they can change it.

The best-tailored director is always elected chairman and rules like a king abdicating a throne.

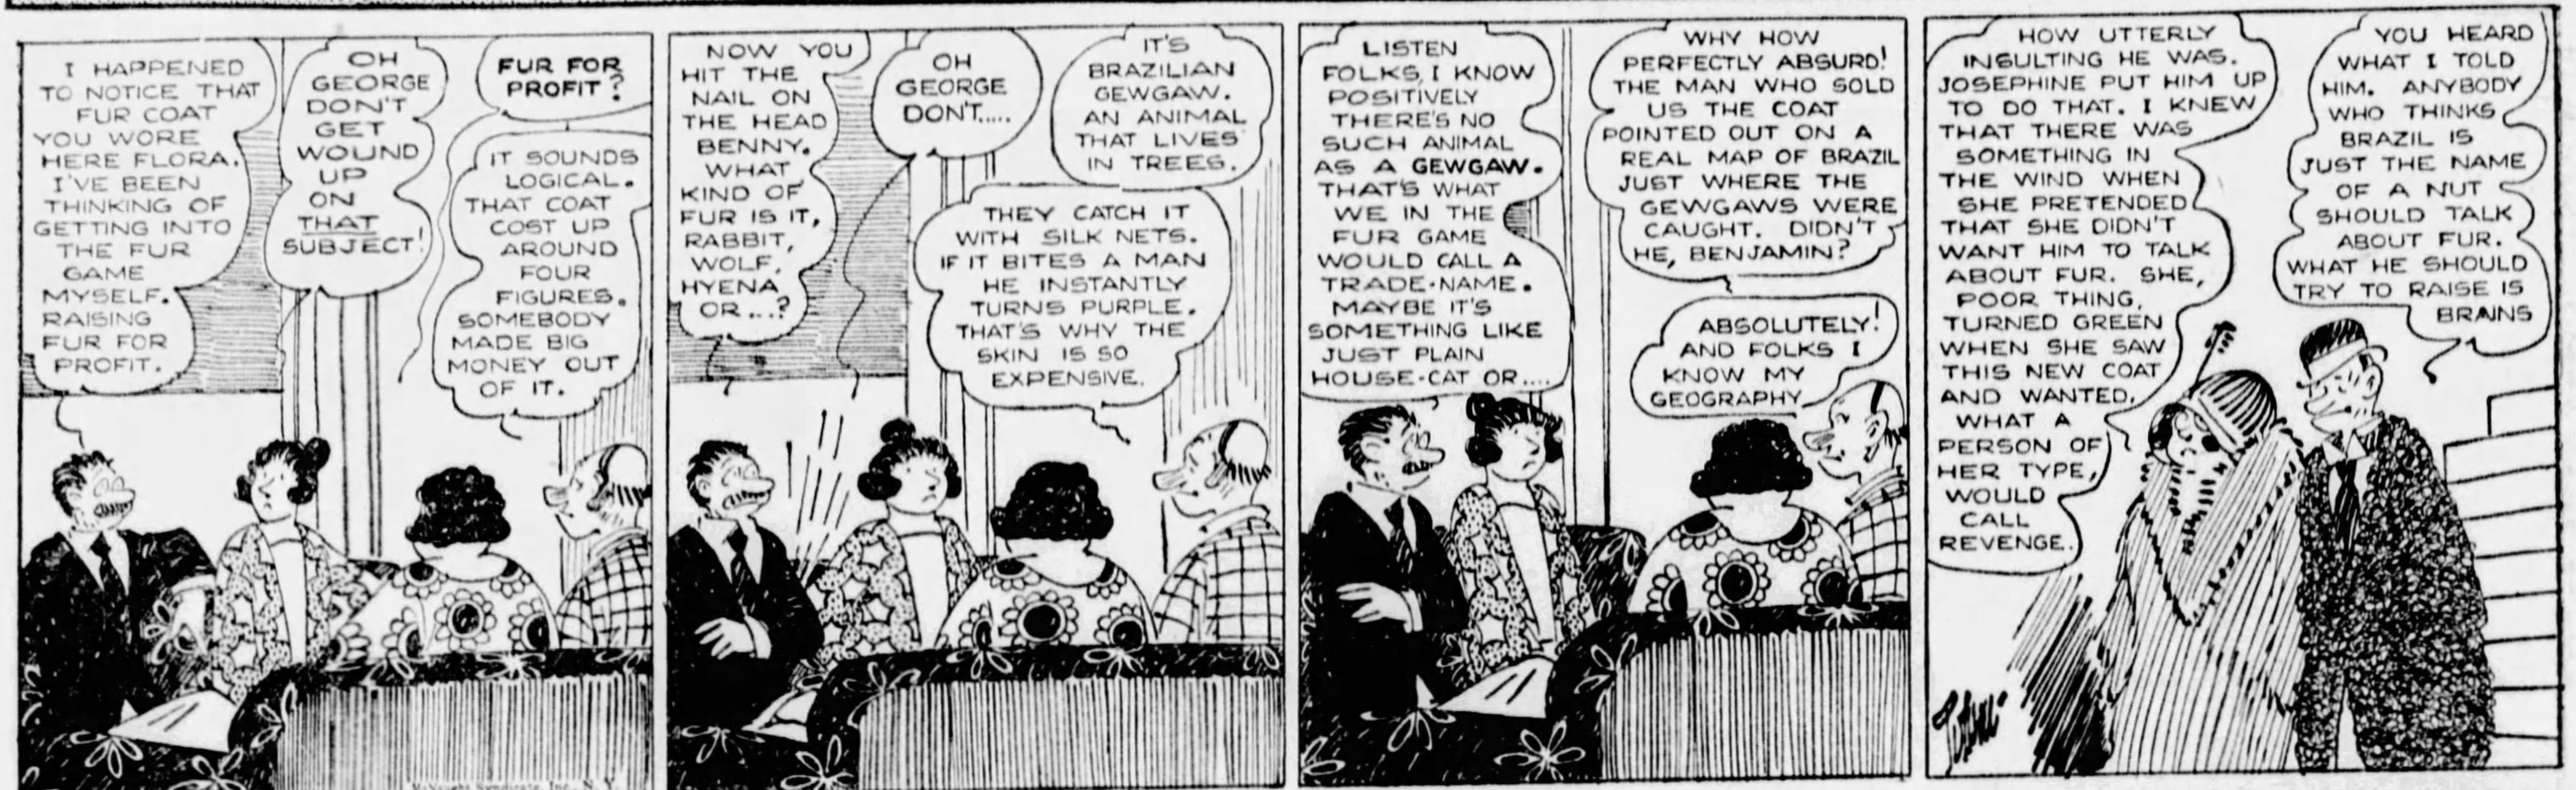
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Fur Experts



I HAPPENED TO NOTICE THAT FUR COAT YOU WORE HERE FLORA. I'VE BEEN THINKING OF GETTING INTO THE FUR GAME MYSELF. RAISING FUR FOR PROFIT.
FUR FOR PROFIT?
IT SOUNDS LOGICAL. THAT COAT COST UP AROUND FOUR FIGURES. SOMEBODY MADE BIG MONEY OUT OF IT.
NOW YOU HIT THE NAIL ON THE HEAD BENNY. WHAT KIND OF FUR IS IT, RABBIT, WOLF, HYENA OR...?
OH GEORGE DON'T....
IT'S BRAZILIAN GEWGAW. AN ANIMAL THAT LIVES IN TREES.
THEY CATCH IT WITH SILK NETS. IF IT BITES A MAN HE INSTANTLY TURNS PURPLE. THAT'S WHY THE SKIN IS SO EXPENSIVE.
LISTEN FOLKS, I KNOW POSITIVELY THERE'S NO SUCH ANIMAL AS A GEWGAW. THAT'S WHAT WE IN THE FUR GAME WOULD CALL A TRADE-NAME. MAYBE IT'S SOMETHING LIKE JUST PLAIN HOUSE-CAT OR....
WHY HOW PERFECTLY ABSURD! THE MAN WHO SOLD US THE COAT POINTED OUT ON A REAL MAP OF BRAZIL JUST WHERE THE GEWGAWS WERE CAUGHT. DIDN'T HE, BENJAMIN?
ABSOLUTELY! AND FOLKS I KNOW MY GEOGRAPHY.
HOW UTTERLY INSULTING HE WAS. JOSEPHINE PUT HIM UP TO DO THAT. I KNEW THAT THERE WAS SOMETHING IN THE WIND WHEN SHE PRETENDED THAT SHE DIDN'T WANT HIM TO TALK ABOUT FUR. SHE, POOR THING, TURNED GREEN WHEN SHE SAW THIS NEW COAT AND WANTED. WHAT A PERSON OF HER TYPE, WOULD CALL REVENGE.
YOU HEARD WHAT I TOLD HIM. ANYBODY WHO THINKS BRAZIL IS JUST THE NAME OF A NUT SHOULD TALK ABOUT FUR. WHAT HE SHOULD TRY TO RAISE IS BRAINS

Frisby Warns Radicals to Keep Hands Off. . .

Telephoto shows dramatic moment in non-stop walking test.

WASHINGTON—Efforts to untie Congressman Frisby's shoe, and thus thwart his attempt to establish a non-stop walking record, were frustrated late yesterday.

Frisby dropped a note which said—

"I was walking along, attending to my own business, when suddenly a stranger tried to stop me. I attempted to brush him aside, but he insisted on explaining an insurance proposition. I kicked at his shins, but he wouldn't take no for an answer. The first thing I knew he was snatching at my shoe laces. I screamed and he disappeared up a side street. I don't know whether he was a radical or just a jealous aviator. Be that as it may, let this be a warning I can assure you."

Good Turn-Courtesy Week Is Promoted by Boy Scouts

Everybody is expected to be a Boy Scout next week. To the extent, at least, of doing a daily "good turn," which is the pledge of the scout. The occasion marks the nineteenth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, which is to be celebrated nationally, the local observance of the occasion being "Good Turn-Courtesy Week," for which extensive arrangements have been made.

It includes calling on everybody to do a good turn daily, daily speeches before various societies, four half-hour programs broadcast by radio, motion pictures of scout activities in the theaters, contests in schools seeking to establish the highest good turn record and other features. Members of the Boy Scouts to the number of 4,500 will distribute tags to motorists calling attention to the purposes of the week and asking for co-operation.

It is a program which everybody should be glad to indorse and help to carry out by doing what one is called upon to do—a good turn and be courteous.

As pointed out recently in this department, "Courtesy Prevents Accidents." Good Turn-Courtesy Week, sponsored by our boys in celebration of the birthday of their organization, will demonstrate that fact if everybody observes the week in the same earnest spirit as the boys.

Arranging for such a week is the best kind of a good turn in itself.

The Desire to Be Praised

A ONE-LEGGED MAN CLIMBS GREAT MOUNTAINS.

Here, at the upper corner at right, you see Mr. Geoffrey Winthrop Young, on the peak of the Weisshorn, one of the most difficult of peaks in the Alps.

A little later the same man, using an artificial leg to take the place of one lost in the war, climbed the Matterhorn by moonlight, a feat most remarkable.

Those who have not done any Alpine climbing, scaling icy cliffs, cutting holes in ice and snow for a foothold, can hardly imagine what it means for a man, crippled by the loss of a leg, to ascend such dangerous peaks.

Much credit must be given to his guides, one probably going ahead, the other behind, the three men united by one rope, so that if one slipped the other two could hold him.

But the one-legged man himself deserves credit for his courage, based, probably, although he may not have realized it, on the desire to be praised.

In children, we foolishly call the natural, useful desire for praise, "showing off." Don't discourage your "show-off" child. What he really "shows off" is the fact that he WANTS TO DO SOMETHING. The praise of others is the regard of the greatest deeds on earth, outside of science, perhaps, in which men often work regardless of praise or credit, content to know that the work has been DONE.

The desire to be praised makes a savage risk his life to kill a lion. He is praised, and they give him as many as he wants of the fattest wives. His deed saves the lives of other women and of children.

The desire to be praised is back of endless achievements, each of which has been useful to the world.

The greatest natural desire is the desire to KEEP ALIVE, called "instinct of self-preservation."

But among men of the best kind, AMBITION, the desire for success and praise, outweighs all else, even the desire to preserve.

Consider the Preachers

And Their Hard Work.

Washington comments on the fact that President Coolidge has "worked hard in 1928, writing 22 public speeches and messages to Congress."

Much concentrated thought went into those speeches and messages. The President is a worker.

But think of the poor clergyman who writes 52 sermons every year, the congregation expecting something new and brilliant every time, and paying him usually barely as much as it costs to keep him alive.

Tales That Are Told

Strange!

THE conductor approached the elderly lady in the train.

"I shall have to ask you to take a ticket for that boy," he said, pointing to the lad who sat next to her.

"I shall not get one," she protested. "He's too old to travel free. He occupies a whole seat, and the train is crowded."

"I don't care."

"Very well," said the conductor, "I'll stop the train and have him put off."

"All right," she replied, "put him off."

The conductor made a last effort. "You ought to know the rules, ma'em," he told her. "How old is the boy?"

The lady shook her head.

"I don't know," she said. "I've never seen him before in my life."

Asked and Answered

THE car had broken down and the pair of legs protruding from underneath seemed to indicate that repairs were in progress.

"Had a breakdown?" inquired a passerby genially.

"No—oh, no, bless you," came a muffled voice from under the car, "only playing hide-and-seek with the bits and pieces."

But the questioner was not easily daunted.

"What horse-power car is it?"

"Forty!"

"And what's the matter?"

"Well, as far as I can gather," came the sharp retort, "39 horses have bolted, and the remaining one is too upset too answer questions.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a little man that liked to brag. He felt as if maybe people thought he didn't amount to much just because he was little, and he had to prove that he was pretty good. He couldn't hit very hard, and still he was always getting into a fight, because he liked to call big guys liars and such things.

One day this little guy was talking at his club.

"You know that big bruiser, Samson, that lives out my way?"

"Sure, I know Samson."

"Well, he intimated maybe I wasn't telling the truth the other day, and the very next time I saw him in the street I knocked him down and bruised him up good."

"What? Why, you couldn't knock Samson down, could you? He's twice as big as you are."

"Yes, but my car is a hundred times as big as he is, and it hits hard."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

MY father, Alex Robinson, died when he was still a young man.

He died after years of bitter hard work and great suffering. But in spite of that labor and suffering he never forgot joy.

He believed in joy, though he had so little of it for himself.

He rejoiced when he saw joy in other lives—which is a very rare thing.

IT IS SO EASY TO WEEP WITH THOSE WHO WEEP, BUT SO EXTREMELY HARD TO LAUGH WITH THOSE WHO LAUGH.

But my father laughed when laughter came to others. And often he said, "DO NOT TAKE HIS SONG FROM ANYONE!" I did not understand that saying when I was a child. But now, I think, I understand it.

Everyone has a song.

Something that makes music in the heart.

It may be something at which you or I would sniff our noses in scorn—some foolish, common pleasure.

It may be something which you or I would brand as superstition.

It may be something which you or I would call "nutty."

But to that particular spirit it brings happiness and puts music into this dreary business of living.

Everyone has a song—

Happiness is necessary.

We are reborn every time we are happy.

We grow when our spirits laugh.

We slough off old dead tissues and strike new roots into life—

Joy is food—

Joy is a new chance—

Everyone MUST have a song in his spirit or he perishes—

Just as everyone must have blood in his veins or he dies—

DO NOT TAKE HIS SONG FROM ANYONE.

Do not, by your cynicism or doubt, rob anyone of his faith — Do not, through your superior culture, spoil the simple pleasure of some commoner soul—

Do not take the song from anyone, for if you do you take the essential rhythm of his life.

THE EARTH'S CENTER

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Of course, almost everyone, when asked, Where is the earth's center of gravity? would reply: At or near the earth's center. This always seemed reasonable to me, until I began to ask why. Because at the theoretical center there is nothing, and 'nothing' could not exert attraction. In other words, if we could make a hollow space in the center of the earth, would not a feather released there be drawn to the wall of the hollow space? If so, the center of the earth's attractive force may be a theoretical periphery of a sphere some hundreds of miles from the center.—Harold W. Walker, New York."

THE situation at the center of the earth is even more curious than you suppose. It is the point where pressure is greatest and weight is zero. Weight is a function of gravity, but there is no gravity at the center of gravity!

One of the most interesting results of Newton's mathematical study of the earth's gravity is the demonstration that while the super-incumbent pressure of the material composing the earth must reach a maximum at the center, at the same time the force of gravity disappears there, because at that point the attraction of the spherical mass around it is balanced in every direction.

So, if you were imprisoned at the earth's center you would be compressed with a force of 45,000,000 pounds per square inch of surface, but you would not weigh anything—if there was any way to weigh you! (Observe in passing the humors of the English language.)

Inside your imaginary hollow sphere at the earth's center there would be no attraction in any direction. The feather would not be drawn to the wall of the hollow, but would listlessly remain at any point where it happened to be placed. This would be the case, no matter how extensive the spherical hollow. If it occupied all the space included within the globe except a superficial shell, the effect would be the same.

I have sometimes thought of writing an "amazing story" of adventures inside a hollow earth. There is plenty of fuel for the imagination in it. Perhaps someone may now get ahead of me and write a better story than I could.

One of the curious consequences of what has been said above about the balance of attraction inside a sphere is seen in the diminution of gravity with increase of depth in the globe. The principle is this: As you go down you leave above your level a shell of earth of thickness equal to your distance from the surface, and the attraction of the whole mass of this shell is subtracted from the force of gravity tending to the center. When you get to the center the entire mass of the globe is above you on all sides, so that it has no longer any effect in urging you toward the center, while on the contrary its attraction away from the center is equal in every direction, or, in other words, effectively null.

Inasmuch, however, as the layers of the earth's shell are not uniform in density, it happens that the force of gravity actually does, at first, increase slightly in going down, so that a body taken from the surface to a moderate depth in miles would be a little heavier than on the surface. But calculation shows that this ceases at a depth probably of about 600 miles, where gravity reaches a maximum. Below that, gravity steadily decreases until it vanishes at the center. Remember that by "gravity" is meant a force tending toward the center. Einstein says gravitation should not be called a force. But no matter; let him talk. We all understand what "force" means, while "space-time curvature" has no sense except perhaps in Alice-land, which you can get into if you are able to go through the looking glass.

Bible Passages

God's Mercy

(Psalm 36)

THE transgression of the wicked saith within my heart, that there is no fear of God before his eyes.

For he flattereth himself in his own eyes, until his iniquity be found to be hateful.

He deviseth mischief upon his bed; he setteth himself in a way that is not good; he abhorreth not evil.

They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures.

For with thee is the fountain of life; in thy light shall we see light.

O continue thy lovingkindness unto them that know thee; and thy righteousness to the upright in heart.

Let not the foot of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked remove me.

There are the workers of iniquity fallen: they are cast down, and shall not be able to rise.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

A Plea

NO doubt dwelt ever in your heart or mine
Through all the glowing, happy days of old;
So near our spirits were, one could divine
The other's thought, although it went untold.
But now the distance and the years would creep
Between us with the lies they weave so well,
To lull the wonder of the world to sleep
To leave love thus bound in their ruthless spell.
I cannot thrust the invaders out alone,
Nor match the evil charm their magic knows;
But you and I together . . . all my own,
We two could vanquish all these cruel foes!
Once more then let us clasp our happy hands
And mock with love and laughter as of old
Winged Time, who threatens with falling sands,
And distance that but turns our dross to gold!

The Cop on the Corner

By Herbert Kaufman

JOHN H. PATTERSON, in the course of an advertisement, once said, "The corner where the policeman stands is always orderly."

Mr. Patterson used to instruct his representatives to sell cash registers on the theory that unguarded tills invite theft. Men, he claimed, are tempted into dishonesty by other folks' carelessness. Therefore, a system which made embezzlement difficult manifstly tended to discourage it.

Proponents of an effective American Navy are arguing their cause in much the same terms. They don't believe that it's safe to leave the biggest till on earth unprotected.

History reminds them how the nations which hitherto neglected to set watchdogs over their wealth, invariably incited cupidity and finally lost independence and possessions.

McCutcheon, in a recent cartoon-editorial, showed that America has spent 10 per cent of its career at war. His statistics demonstrate that we were fighting somebody on an average of every tenth day since we began business.

But fanaticism, which neither heeds facts nor reads figures, wants Uncle Sam to draw his last naval teeth and become a fat, helpless rabbit in a world of vulpine greeds.

Pacifists declare we need only set the example and all other powers will follow suit—junk armaments, cease coveting neighbors' goods, abide by peace treaties, collect defaulted debts with kind words, and substitute the Golden Rule for the doctrine of "grab what you can get."

They do not claim that water is about to run uphill, or the law of gravitation will be suspended—merely that human nature has completely changed since 1914.

But human nature never changes. Expediency and necessity are controlling forces everywhere.

When it's feasible and profitable to seize domains, confiscate markets, or satisfy blood grudges, self-interest, not ethics, dominates the situation, and Old Adam strikes while the advantage is on his side.

We have no militaristic plans, no hostile intents toward any country. America only asks to be let alone and permitted to strive and prosper.

But our industries and producers must have outlet for yields, and that outlet demands universal customers. The more we extend export trade—and we must expand foreign business or shut shop—the more we conflict with European competition and aspiration.

If we are vulnerable and unarmed, commercial rivals can intimidate our merchants and their consumers, monopolize concessions, repudiate indebtedness as the spirit may move them, compel preferential tariffs, make America the dumping ground of surpluses and pauper labor, assert sovereignty over ex-nationals, require the revision of immigration acts and naturalization statutes, invent pretexts for invasion—as Bismarck's false telegram bred the Franco-Prussian War, or, as Napoleon, frankly come a-conquering because we can't stop it.

The surest guarantees of peace and security are fleets comparable to those of the mightiest potential enemy.

"The corner where the policeman stands is always orderly"—and the bigger the cop, the more order.

O. O. McINTYRE

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Poverty has that miasmatic thickness of fog in London's West End and zero in human squalor is reached around the East India Road docks and in the causeways of Limehouse. Faces of the gnarled and listless men are changed by the alchemy of alcohol into flabby blobs—like a kidney.

The ale guzzling women are large bosomed, hard breathing and loud voiced, constantly haranguing under-nourished children who appear whipped by life. In the famous Whitechapel district this morning a Salvationist tried to lift a thin, tired voice above the sidewalk mockery. She finally gave up amid jeers.

Whitechapel is too steeped in the gluttony of materialism to heed the call of the spirit. And London, ever haughty and aloof, appears to the stranger to have scant sympathy for its poor. It seems to follow the Serbian proverb: "He who weeps for the world will soon have no eyes."

Indeed, nothing is so fascinating to the Britisher as pomp and glory of royal purple and in this he merely follows the deep rooted hereditary customs. He is vastly more disturbed because the Queen has not had her afternoon drive or walk than he is by a thousand empty stomachs in Cheapside.

The monarchial appeal is insidious. In America we could class it as a species of high powered press agency. In every stratum the knee bends to the Crown. One is unconsciously awed. This hoope-de-doo is reflected by the press, the church, the business world, theater and cafe—every thing.

So alluring is the gesture the visitor is immediately gripped by it. About the first thing he does is hire a hack for a drive to Buckingham Palace nurturing a secret yen for a peep at royalty. I once rode in a blinding rain to Windsor to see the King who—Hail his Majesty—after all is knock-kneed.

My cicerone to the West End—a Fleet street scribbler—escorted me to a tea room conducted by a Chinese. It is a reputed rendezvous for American drug addicts. The only two patrons there were fairly well-known Broadway actresses. Whether they are addicts I do not know. Nor, being the polite boy I am, did I ask.

The rich and dressy side is reflected by Mayfair. Here one sees the London splendor that is so dazzling. Magnificent mansions and gorgeous gardens, cobbed horses drawing glittering turnouts, silk toppers, braided walking coats, flowered lapels, monocles, lorgnettes and all the swank that London's Boswell M. Arlen—now that the Rudyards have ceased their kiplings and the Haggards ride no more—tell us so much about. There, for instance, is classy Birdcage Walk, where one of the kings, carrying his bird in a golden cage, had his daily promenade. It is Park avenue glorified.

Along Birdcage Walk a young Rollo in an Eton suit was rolling a highly varnished hoop. "Having a good time, sonny?" I inquired brightly. He looked me over and replied coldly: "I am not permitted to speak to strangers." And I was so thoroughly squelched I might have easily walked under a spittoon wearing a silk hat.

It is interesting to watch the army of workers trudging across London bridge at nightfall. There is no laughter or airy badinage—typical of most homegoing crowds. They seem in the sunless valleys of serious thought with a manner stiff and icy. A distinct impression of London among all classes is it rarely unbends. That is why Americans, so free and easy in their camaraderie, are considered just a trifle vulgar. But we have more fun—should anyone telegraph.

* * *

The Englishman's idea of ice water would send many of us galloping off the deep end. I telephoned for some this evening. The pitcher was filled with plain water and accompanied by a plate upon which rested a piece of ice the size of an average plum. He suggested aspirin when I told him to fetch a big bowl of cracked ice. He thought I wanted an ice pack for a headache.

With my usual flare for tilting against windmills, I am planning to tighten up my courage with a few sets of Scotch and soda and order a glass of iced tea right out loud. Then hop on my bicycle and whither away.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

FROM a man of forty-five comes the complaint: "It is well enough for you to write advising those with little schooling to keep on trying for big jobs, but how can it be expected of one who left school at the age of twelve?"

Too many men feel that it is the "little schooling" that is the cause of failure and that there is no chance for them.

It is a handicap, but not insurmountable.

It requires harder work and more years for the man lacking school advantages to get to the top.

But with night schools and ability to do careful reading, a man who is in earnest can accomplish a great deal along any line he may wish.

You may not have been able to go to school while of school age, but that does not bar you from study as you can find time and opportunity.

But there are several hours each day that might be devoted to self-improvement if a man would think out what he lacks and apply himself to get it.

There is such a thing as self-education.
